For Love Of Norway

Theodor Mügge

For Love Of Norway:

For Love of Norway Pål Espolin Johnson, 1989 When Alt for Norge was first published in Oslo in 1975 a chorus of praise went up from critics in Pål Espolin Johnson's native country. It contained the joy and art of storytelling at its best, one said. This novel about the fishing folk who live on an island off the northern coast of Norway is Johnson's own favorite of his works to date and it is the first to be translated into English by Conrad R. Yksund who perfectly catches its eloquent simplicity. In the tiny village of Mostad, squeezed between the roaring ocean and a saw-toothed mountain, the struggle against the element is eternal. In that small space, births, weddings, and deaths unite families. The men who go down to the fishing boats do not always return. The women work and wish for better times while keeping the home fires burning. The people in these pages are almost too strikingly real to make fiction of. Particularly Magda, who stays at Mostad for thirty-nine years and listens to its heartbeat grow dimmer as war, economic depression, and the effects of time and tide set in. For Love of Norway is a memorable modern Nordic saga, all the more impressive for an objective style that is the literary equivalent of photography.

Among other interesting findings, Lorentzen reveals that the modern-day rise in equality fathering can be traced back to the 19th century. The Maid of Norway. Ross, 1848 Terrorism in Memory Culture: Investigating the Aftermath of July 22 in Norway Alexandre Dessingué, Paula Hamilton, 2025-03-12 This edited collection examines the intersection between the developing fields of terrorism and cultural memory studies through a detailed study of the 2011 terrorist attack in Norway. It examines how the work of remembrance has been established through arts such as theatre and fiction and also architecture, heritage, and education. It traces the politics of the remembrance processes and explores the shifting meanings in public memories that change over the thirteen years since the attack and are constantly being negotiated in response to present circumstances. It also charts general trends in memorialisation, the globalising and digitalising of memory practices, the speed of memorial initiatives, the role of testimony, and the importance of diverse narratives emerging through newer modes of communication.
