Fatal Addiction:

The Artist-Philosopher in the Age of Addiction George Smith, 2025-03-17 George Smith argues that modern humanity suffers from a late stage pre fatal addiction to scientific technological thinking Like most pre fatal addictions this one will most likely result in one of three ways misery extinction or human transformation The question remains wherein lies the third way According to Smith mankind s chronic and as yet undiagnosed sickness originates in early Western metaphysics and has long been thoroughly globalized It explains unstoppable extractionism and its relentlessly increasing by product carbon dioxide It also explains today s ever increasing rate of species extinction and the increasingly likely collapse of the biosphere Citing climate change tolerance and denial as symptomatic of pre fatal addiction Smith turns his analysis to Heidegger s question concerning technology and shows that even Heidegger had become hooked on scientific technological thinking Surrendering to his disease Heidegger steps back into meditative thought This in turn opens Heidegger to an East West mode of scientific poetic consciousness the thinking of artist philosophers such as Laozi Hlderlin and Rachel Carson For Heidegger this way of thinking lays the path to mankind s transformative emancipation from an otherwise inescapable catastrophe The book will be of interest to scholars of the arts and culture histories of consciousness and climate studies

Dickens, Family, Authorship Lynn Cain,2017-05-15 Drawing on a wide range of Dickens s writings including all of his novels and a selection of his letters journalism and shorter fiction Dickens Family Authorship provides a provocative account of the evolution of an author from whose psychological honesty and imaginative generosity emerged precocious fictional portents of Freudian and post Freudian theory The decade 1843 1853 was pivotal in Dickens s career A phase of feverish activity on both personal and professional fronts it included the irrevocable souring of his relations with his parents the peripatetic residence in continental Europe and a massive proliferation of writing and editing activities including the aborted autobiography. It was a period of astounding creativity which consolidated Dickens's authorial and financial stature. It was also one tainted by loss: the deaths of his father, sister and daughter, and the alarming desertion of his early facility for composition. Lynn Cain's substantial study of the four novels produced during this turbulent decade—Martin Chuzzlewit, Dombey and Son, David Copperfield and Bleak House—traces the evolution of Dickens's creative imagination to discover in the modulating fictional representation of family relationships a paradigm for his authorial development. Closely argued readings demonstrate a reorientation from a patriarchal to a maternal dynamic which signals a radical shift in Dickens's creative technique. Interweaving critical analysis of the four novels with biography and the linguistic and psychoanalytic writings of modern theorists, especially Kristeva and Lacan, Lynn Cain explores the connection between Dickens's susceptibility to depression during this period and his increasingly self-conscious exploitation of his own mental states in his fiction.
