Father Adolescent Relationships:

Father-adolescent Relationships Shmuel Shulman, W. Andrew Collins, 1993 This volume offers both compelling discussion and innovative research on father adolescent relationships Following research on the impact of interactions with father in early and middle childhood this volume addresses questions of why changes in the nature and influences of relationships might occur during adolescence Fathers and Adolescents Shmuel Shulman, Inge Seiffge-Krenke, 2015-12-22 The understanding and study of fathers has traditionally assumed that fathers compared to mothers are less involved with their children Originally published in 1997 Fathers and Adolescents presents a different approach that focuses on the distinctive role of fathers in the lives of their adolescents especially in their role in adolescents attainment of developmental tasks Drawing on a variety of disciplines the authors examine the relationships of fathers to their adolescents in the context of a changing society They find that fathers interact in ways that are different from those of mothers but that are important for both normal and disturbed adolescent development Psychopathological aggressive and incestuous behaviour is considered as well as the role of the father in more ideal circumstances Drawing on the authors wealth of clinical experience this title will still be an important resource for all professionals working with adolescents as well as those in research Asian American Parenting and Parent-Adolescent Relationships Stephen T. Russell, Lisa J. Crockett, Ruth K. Chao, 2010-06-25 The relationships between children and their parents are the building blocks for family relationships throughout life The nature of the parent child relationship begins with parenting the practices and strategies that parents engage in as they raise their children Parenting during childhood sets the stage for parent adolescent relationships These relationships make a critical difference during the teenage years we know that when parent adolescent relationships are healthy and strong adolescents are more likely to have high aspirations and achievement and to make healthier choices when it comes to risk taking Most of the research in this field has been based in the United States and has been conducted through studies of European American families Yet a growing body of research suggests important ethnic differences in styles of parenting and the qualities characterizing the parent adolescent relationship In this area of research most existing studies have examined ethnic and cultural group differences using widely accepted measures and concepts of parenting Comparative studies assume that dimensions of parenting such as parental warmth or control have the same meaning across cultures however given that conceptualizations of adolescent parent relationships have been developed and tested on samples comprised largely of European Americans we cannot rule out the possibility that the way we understand parenting has been shaped by the predominantly Western and U S focused research in this field Father Involvement in Adolescent Development Ercan Kocayörük, 2015-12-18 Most recent developments in family relationship involve attempts to refine and expand conceptualization of father involvement that provide opportunities to the fathers to influence their children's lives by a variety of relationship and interaction The aim of this book is to encourage fathers to think about means of achieving effective communication and a positive relationship with their children With this in mind an experimental study was designed to determine the effect of Father Involvement Training FIT on father adolescent relationships in aspect of family functioning Father Involvement Training aimed to help fathers acquire substantial knowledge and behaviors to improve their relationships with their children and to support their children the social skills necessary for successful peer group interaction Over the course of the training 14 separate skills were introduced Each session was comprised of a brief discussion of homework assignments introduction of the session theme and a related scenario a discussion of skills strategies included in the scenario and a discussion of similarities and differences in the participating fathers experiences with their children

Darrell J. Burnett, 2013-11-12 First published in 1992 This book is based on experiences of the author from working with multifamily groups for parents and adolescents in and out patient clinics and juvenile court programs over a four year period It covers a program that eventually evolved into 15 sessions covering three main topic areas 1 perceiving each other social perception 2 communicating effectively and 3 recognizing behavior as a function of its consequence Improving Parent - Adolescent Relationships Darrell J. Burnett, 1992 First Published in 1992 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Adolescent Relations with Mothers, Fathers and Friends James Youniss, Jacqueline Smollar, 1985 This book is a companion piece and extension of an earlier analysis of parent and friend relations their structure and functions in children s social and personal development James Youniss Parents and Peers in Social Development A Sullivan Piaget Perspective University of Chicago Press 1980 The present book focuses on adolescents in these same relations It presents two kinds of material first adolescents own descriptions of interactions they have had in these relations and second theory regarding what these relations are and how they contribute to development As before relations are treated in the ideal typical sense as descriptions are synthesized across subjects to yield average characteristics that define structure

Romantic Relationships and Sexuality in Adolescence and Young Adulthood Daphne van de Bongardt, Rongqin Yu, Maja Dekovic, Wim Meeus, 2018-04-19

Romantic relationship formation and the engagement in sexual behaviors are normative and salient developmental tasks for adolescents and young adults. These developmental tasks are increasingly viewed from an ecological perspective thus as strongly embedded in different social contexts including the proximal social domains of parents, peers, and partners. This volume brings together seven recent empirical studies on adolescents and young adults' romantic relationships and sexuality in the context of relationships with parents, peers, and partners. In this editorial introduction, we describe two important recent changes in the theoretical perspectives on emerging romantic relationships and sexual activity: from risky behaviors to normative tasks and from individual to contextualized processes. We then discuss recent advances in empirical research on romantic relationships and sexuality of adolescents and young adults. After that, we review the seven studies in this volume and discuss the contributions of these studies to the existing literature. Finally, we discuss directions for future research regarding how to further incorporate the interrelational perspective in empirical research on these topics and how to bridge the gap between the research fields on romantic relationships and sexuality. This book was originally published as a special issue of the European Journal of Developmental Psychology.

International bibliography of research in marriage and the family Joan Aldous, 1967 Parenting Across Cultures Helaine Selin, 2013-11-19 There is a strong connection between culture and parenting. What is acceptable in one culture is frowned upon in another. This applies to behavior after birth, encouragement in early childhood, and regulation and freedom during adolescence. There are differences in affection and distance, harshness and repression, and acceptance and criticism. Some parents insist on obedience; others are concerned with individual development. This clearly differs from parent to parent, but there is just as clearly a connection to culture. This book includes chapters on China, Colombia, Jordan, Kenya, the Philippines, Thailand, Korea, Vietnam, Brazil, Native Americans, and Australians, Argentina, Chile, Mexico, Ecuador, Cuba, Pakistan, Nigeria, Morocco, and several other countries. Besides this, the authors address depression, academic achievement, behavior, adolescent identity, abusive parenting, grandparents as parents, fatherhood, parental agreement and disagreement, emotional availability, and stepparents.

Psychology A2 Mike Cardwell, Cara Flanagan, 2003-09 The unique approach of this book is that it provides comprehensive coverage of only the most popular areas of the AQA A2 specification: relationships, pro and anti social behaviour, biological rhythms, cognitive development, social and personality development, evolutionary explanations of human behaviour, psychopathology, treating mental disorders, plus issues, debates, and approaches. This core textbook offers students the opportunity to improve their grades and have their very own expert to take home the friendly examiner.
