Character and Conflict in Jane Austen's Novels Bernard J. Paris,2017-07-05 In Character and Conflict in Jane Austen s Novels Bernard J Paris offers an analysis of the protagonists in four of Jane Austen s most popular novels His analysis reveals them to be brilliant mimetic creations who often break free of the formal and thematic limitations placed upon them by Austen Paris traces the powerful tensions between form theme and mimesis in Mansfield Park Emma Pride and Prejudice and Persuasion Paris uses Northrop Frye's theory of comic forms to analyse and describe the formal structure of the novels and Karen Horney's psychological theories to explore the personalities and inner conflicts of the main characters The concluding chapter turns from the characters to their creator employing the Horneyan categories of self-effacing detached and expansive personality types to interpret Jane Austen's own personality Readers of Jane Austen will find much that is new and challenging in this study It is one of the few books to recognise and pay tribute to Jane Austen's genius in characterisation Anyone who reads this book will come away with a new understanding of Austen's heroines as imagined human beings and also with a deeper feeling for the troubled humanity of the author herself

The Mind of the Holocaust Perpetrator in Fiction and Nonfiction Erin McGlothlin, 2021-05-04 Examines textual representations of the consciousness of men responsible for committing Holocaust crimes The Mind of the Holocaust Perpetrator in Fiction and Nonfiction examines texts that portray the inner experience of Holocaust perpetrators and thus transform them from archetypes of evil into complex psychological and moral subjects Employing relevant methodological tools of narrative theory Erin McGlothlin analyzes these unsettling depictions which manifest a certain tension regarding the ethics of representation and identification Such works she asserts endeavor to make transparent the mindset of their violent subjects yet at the same time they also invariably contrive to obfuscate in part its disquieting character The Mind of the Holocaust Perpetrator in Fiction and Nonfiction contains two parts The first focuses on portraits of real life perpetrators in nonfictional interviews and analyses from the 1960s and 1970s These works provide a nuanced perspective on the mentality of the people who implemented the Holocaust via the interventional role of the interviewer or interpreter in the perpetrators' performances of self disclosure In part two McGlothlin investigates more recent fictional texts that imagine the perspective of their invented perpetrator narrators Such works draw readers directly into the perpetrator's experience and at the same time impede their access to the perpetrator's consciousness by retarding their affective connection Demonstrating that recent fiction featuring perpetrators as narrators employs strategies derived from earlier nonfictional portrayals McGlothlin establishes not only a historical connection between these two groups of texts whereby nonfictional engagement with real life perpetrators gradually gives way to fictional exploration but also a structural and aesthetic one The book bespeaks new modes of engagement with ethically fraught questions raised by our increasing willingness to consider the events of the Holocaust from the perspective of the perpetrator Students, scholars and readers of Holocaust studies and literary criticism will appreciate this closer look at a historically taboo topic
