the literature the data in terms of psychological impacts is still quite thin especially for the long term Indeed preterm birth and the precocious hospitalization in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit NICU might be highly distressful for both infants and parents Different sources of stress e g lights and sounds parental separation invasive and painful procedures have been described and their impact on preterm infants socio emotional and socio cognitive development as well as for parental well being and adaptation deserve further investigations The psychological implications of early interventions during and after NICU stay are also noteworthy and accumulation of data in this field is highly needed The quality of parent child interaction from the immediate NICU admission to the first years of life is also a topic that merits investigation as it is one of the most critical source of protection for the developmental trajectories of preterm infants Adolescents with HIV , Connecting Children Kalwant Bhopal,Julia Brannen,Ellen Heptinstall,2000-08-31 Connecting Children focuses on children s understandings of care and their views of different family lives It portrays the lives of children aged 11 12 and shows how families connect children in different ways both in the household but also in their wider kinship networks The children studied reflect upon family life and especially upon situations where their own family lives change dramatically such as when parents divorce or are unable to care for them This book will be of interest to those working in education social work child care counselling social policy and childhood studies Caring for Abused and Neglected Children Jim Wade,2011 The decision whether to reunify a child in care with their birth family is one of most serious considerations of child protection workers This book examines the long term consequences of family reunification and the risk of returning the child without adequate support to the family Public Health Reports ,2002
