Embodying The Social:

Embodying the Social Esther Saraga, 2005-08-17 This book opens the series with a consideration of the social construction of social difference Taking the body as the point of departure it deals with the processes through which social problems and social inequalities are constructed In particular it examines the shifting ways in which our ideas about issues such as disability race and ethnicity and sexuality influence the development of social policies Embodying Inequality Nancy Krieger, 2016-12-05 To advance the epidemiological analysis of social inequalities in health and of the ways in which population distributions of disease disability and death reflect embodied expressions of social inequality this volume draws on articles published in the International Journal of Health Services between 1990 and 2000 Framed by ecosocial theory it employs ecosocial constructs of embodiment pathways of embodiment cumulative interplay of exposure susceptibility and resistance across the lifecourse and accountability and agency to address the question and who and what drives current and changing patterns of social inequalities in health An Essay on Personality as a Philosophical Principle Wilfrid John Richmond, 1900 Citizenship and Social Policy Nikos Kourachanis, 2020-11-21 This book highlights the parallel transformations of the concepts of citizenship and the welfare state and their dependence on the dominant political ideology from the post war period to the present Kourachanis presents the welfare state as an integral part of the capitalist state and consequently suggests that any structural changes to the capitalist state will have major impacts on the texture and content of the restructuring of the welfare state The research compares different formulations of citizenship and the welfare state reflecting on social citizenship and the post war or Keynesian welfare state as well as welfare provision under neoliberalism The research will be vital reading for academics researchers and students of social and public policy political and humanitarian studies as well as policy makers and members of labour unions and activists Global Leadership for Social Justice Christa Boske, Sarah Diem, 2012-06-28 Global Leadership for Social Justice Critical Practice in Social Work Robert Adams, Lena Dominelli, Malcolm Payne, 2009-04-16 What do social workers need to know in order to practise skilfully and effectively Edited by three Social Work s leading scholars the second edition of this highly respected textbook helps bridge the gap between social work theory and the challenges of day to day practice Versatile and thoughtful the book s simultaneous accessibility and depth make it essential reading suited for both social work students at undergraduate and post qualifying level Practitioners too will learn and benefit from the insights collected together in this valuable addition to their bookshelf Social Mediations Donna LeCourt, 2024-07-15 Rhetoric and composition scholar Donna LeCourt combines theoretical inquiry qualitative research and rhetorical analysis to examine what it means to write for the public in an age when the distinctions between public and private have eroded Public spaces are increasingly privatized and individual subjectivities have been reconstructed according to market terms Part critique and part road map Social Mediations begins with a critical reading of digital public pedagogies then turns to developing a new theory that can guide a more effective writing pedagogy LeCourt offers a theory based in embodied relationality that uses information economies to develop public spheres She highlights how information commodities generate value through circulation orchestrate relationships among people and support unequal power structures By demonstrating how we can use information capital for social change rather than market expansion writers and readers are encouraged to seek out encounters with cultural and political impact

Social Stratification and Mobility in Central Veracruz Hugo G. Nutini, 2009-10-16 Since the Revolution of 1910 Mexican society has undergone a profound transformation characterized by the disempowerment of the landed aristocracy and the rise of a new ruling class of plutocrats and politicians the development of a middle class of white collar professionals and the upward mobility of formerly disenfranchised Indians who have become urban working class Mestizos Indeed Mexico's class system today increasingly resembles that of Western industrialized nations proving that while further democratic reforms are needed the Revolution initiated an ongoing process of change that has created a more egalitarian society in Mexico with greater opportunities for social advancement This authoritative ethnography examines the transformation of social classes in the C rdoba Orizaba region during the latter half of the twentieth century to create a model of provincial social stratification in Mexico Hugo Nutini focuses on the increased social mobility that has affected all classes of society especially the rural Indians who have taken advantage of education job opportunities and contact with the wider world to achieve Mestizo status He also traces the transfer of power that followed the demise of the hacienda system as well as the growing importance of the middle class This description and analysis of the provincial social stratification system complements the work Nutini has done on the national class system centered in Mexico City to offer a comprehensive picture of social stratification and mobility in Mexico today

Dynamic Embodiment for Social Theory Brenda Farnell,2012-02-27 This book presents a series of ontological investigations into an adequate theory of embodiment for the social sciences Informed by a new realist philosophy of causal powers it seeks to articulate a concept of dynamic embodiment one that positions human body movement and not just the body at the heart of theories of social action It draws together several lines of thinking in contemporary social science about the human body and its movements adequate meta theoretical explanations of agency and causality in human action relations between moving and talking skill and the formation of knowledge metaphor perception and the senses movement literacy the constitution of space and place and narrative performance This is an ontological inquiry that is richly grounded in and supported by anthropological ethnographic evidence Using the work of Rom Harr Roy Bhaskar Charles Varela and Drid

Williams this book applies causal powers theory to a revised ontology of personhood and discusses why the adequate location of human agency is crucial for the social sciences The breakthrough lies in fact that new realism affords us an account of embodied human agency as a generative causal power that is grounded in our corporeal materiality thereby connecting natural physical and cultural worlds Dynamic Embodiment for Social Theory is compelling reading for students and academics of the social sciences especially anthropologists and sociologists of the body and those interested in new developments in critical realism

Preface to Social Economics John Clark,2017-07-12 Economics both describes the way economic forces work and studies the efficiency or inefficiency that results These two aspects of economics have probably never been wholly separated and it is debatable how far it is possible or desirable to separate them The question will ultimately be answered by evaluating these different theoretical methods in terms of the results they deliver The theory of economic efficiency uniquely incorporates problem of ideals of good conduct and welfare in short of morals and ethics Preface to Social Economics presents thumbnail sketches describing the growth of our awareness of social problems over the past century Beginning in the nineteenth century the sciences both natural and social made us aware of many factors governing our behavior With the discovery of controllable external social causes the responsibility for problems and change shifted from the individual to the group Studies of industrial accidents are an example When it was learned that the number of injuries per hour increases with the length of the working day and with the absence of mechanical safeguards it led to a demand for shorter hours safety laws and compulsory accident insurance Similarly as we begin to understand the connection between the rate of interest with booms in building unemployment ceases to be a matter of individual responsibility and becomes a problem for business and society This classic book initially published in 1936 illuminates a growing knowledge of controllable causes of social evils John Maurice Clark was a long time professor of economics at Columbia University The editors of this volume Moses Abramovitz and Eli Ginzberg were both students of Clark and prepared this volume under his direct supervision

The Social Logic of Space Bill Hillier, Julianne Hanson, 1989-01-27 The book presents a new theory of space how and why it is a vital component of how societies work The theory is developed on the basis of a new way of describing and analysing the kinds of spatial patterns produced by buildings and towns The methods are explained so that anyone interested in how towns or buildings are structured and how they work can make use of them The book also presents a new theory of societies and spatial systems and what it is about different types of society that leads them to adopt fundamentally different spatial forms From this general theory the outline of a pathology of modern urbanism in today's social context is developed
