The Cambridge History of Literary Criticism: Volume 9, Twentieth-Century Historical, Philosophical and Psychological Perspectives Christa Knellwolf, Christopher Norris, Jessica Osborn, 1989 This ninth volume in The Cambridge History of Literary Criticism presents a wide ranging survey of developments in literary criticism and theory during the last century Drawing on the combined expertise of a large team of specialist scholars it offers an authoritative account of the various movements of thought that have made the late twentieth century such a richly productive period in the history of criticism The aim has been to cover developments which have had greatest impact on the academic study of literature along with background chapters that place those movements in a broader intellectual national and socio cultural perspective In comparison with Volumes Seven and Eight also devoted to twentieth century developments there is marked emphasis on the rethinking of historical and philosophical approaches which have emerged especially during the past two decades as among the most challenging areas of debate Cultural Studies 50 Years On Kieran Connell, Matthew Hilton, 2016-09-30 Stuart Hall conceptualized his time at the Centre for Contemporary Cultural Studies as a series of interruptions It was this fluidity that gave rise to Hall's conception of cultural studies as a moving target a fusion of a range of disciplinary approaches that was uniquely influenced by politics in the world beyond the academy The political commitments of those at the Centre were wide ranging and from its embrace of collective ways of research and decision making to its deployment of various strands of European Marxist theory had a critical impact on the Centre's working practices Yet as the diverse work of many of these same scholars has shown the political climate of the present day is almost unrecognizable from that of the mid 1960s to the mid 1980s arguably the most productive period in the Centre's history Cultural Studies 50 Years On explores how the political social and cultural contexts of the early 21st century influenced the object and method of doing cultural studies In bringing together a historical reassessment of the Centre with present day questions regarding the future of the field the aim is not to reduce cultural studies to the work of a single now defunct institution Instead it aims to utilize what is a critical moment in the trajectory of the field in order to take stock of where it has come from and to explore where it might be going

Cultural Studies, 2016-09-12 This volume claims that interdisciplinarity and translation constitute the two main challenges for cultural studies today These conceptual issues inter and trans express themselves within specific historical and cultural contexts Interdisciplinarity is linked with the ongoing process of the institutionalisation of cultural studies in national academies but also increasingly internationally comparatively and to a certain extent even globally of cultural studies of global culture Translation concerns cultural studies both as an object or product and as a subject or producer of translation processes Cultural studies is the result of translation translates and is being translated The essays in this volume therefore relate these various ongoing cultural linguistic and institutional translation processes to political and ethical issues of internationalisation and globalisation The contributions draw their originality and strength from strategically crossing disciplinary and national boundaries They deliberately ignore the question of what may be proper to cultural studies and instead problematise the notions of propriety and belonging As a reading practice cultural studies in these pages is performed through adaptations and combinations of theory and critical practice The volume should be of interest to everyone concerned with cultural studies role in promoting intellectual debate within an increasingly international and globalised public sphere

Tracing Global Democracy Vladimir Biti, 2016-01-15 Focused on the recently hotly debated topic at the crossroads of various human and social sciences this book investigates the emergence of the cosmopolitan idea of literature and its impact on the reconfiguration of the European and non European political spaces The birthplace of this idea is its designers traumatic experience as induced by the disconcerting condition of their abode The thesis is that the eighteenth and nineteenth century s cosmopolitan projects that grow out of such deep frustrations trace the twentieth century s global democracy This hidden origin of cosmopolitan projects dismantles the usual European representation of modernization as universal progress as myopic Rather than being a generous action of prominent subjects such as Voltaire Kant and Goethe or Bakhtin Derrida and Deleuze cosmopolitanism is an enforced reaction of the instances dispossessed by injury that search for the ways of healing it Yet as soon as their remedy establishes itself as the ground for universal reconciliation it risks suppressing other s trauma i e turns from politics into a police Articulating the author s position in the recent debates on the structure of democracy the epilogue suggests an alternative strategy who was pedagogically oriented publicly engaged and committed to the ideal of classless intellectuals working together in reciprocal exchange Woolf emerges as a stimulating theorist of the unconscious of dialogic reading of historicist criticism and of value judgments while her theoretically informed but accessible prose challenges us to reflect on academic writing today Combining a wealth of historical detail with a penetrating analysis of Woolf's essays this 2003 study will alter our views of Woolf of modernism and of intellectual work Penguin Books and political change Dean Blackburn, 2020-11-12 Founded in 1935 by a young publisher disillusioned with the class prejudices of the interwar publishing trade Penguin Books set out to make good books available to all The Penguin Specials a series of current affairs books authored by leading intellectuals and politicians embodied its democratising mission Published over fifty years and often selling in vast quantities these inexpensive paperbacks helped to shape popular ideas about subjects as varied as the welfare state homelessness social class and environmental decay Using the Specials as a lens through which to view Britain's changing political landscape Dean Blackburn tells a story about the ideas that shaped post war Britain Between the late 1930s and the mid 1980s Blackburn argues Britain witnessed the emergence and eclipse of a meritocratic moment at the core of which was the belief that a strong relationship between merit and reward would bring about social stability and economic efficiency Equal opportunity and professional expertise values embodied by the egalitarian aspirations of Penguin's publishing ethos would be the drivers of social and economic progress But as the social and economic crises of the 1970s took root many contemporary thinkers and politicians cast doubt on the assumptions that informed meritocratic logic Britain's meritocratic moment had passed
