Figley, 1985 Innovations in Mental Health Services to Disaster Victims Mary H. Lystad, 1985 Emergency Psychiatry Ellen L. Bassuk, 2012-12-06 This eagerly awaited volume occupies an important place in the series Critical Issues in Psychiatry Most mental health professionals are quite at home with ordinary day to day crises of clinical practice but relatively unprepared for the true psychiatric emergency Such emergencies are too infrequent for most of us to experience a real sense of competence On the other hand emergency room psychiatrists as well as residents and other trainees have long wished for a truly comprehensive textbook that would cover the spectrum of emergency psychiatry This book is just such a definitive and comprehensive volume for the specialist while at the same time a clear succinct and comprehensive reference for the clinician of emergency care The authors consistently present a systematic model emphasizing the interconnection between the process of emergency intervention and the specific features of clinical crisis They are true to the principle that one's system of care should be built on priorities It is immediately apparent that these are highly experienced clinicians as well as teachers It is difficult to imagine a clinical situation that is not addressed by this book It includes chapters on triage assessment and treatment planning emergencies associated with all the various psychopathologies age groups from childhood to old age the emergency management of violent and suicidal patients as well as rape and disaster victims emergencies secondary to substance abuse and prescribed medications psychotherapeutic and psychopharmacologic intervention as well as the relevant legal social and community issues in emergency care

Behavior and Attitudes Under Crisis Conditions, 1984 Mental Health and Disasters Yuval Neria, Sandro Galea, Fran H. Norris, 2009-07-20 Since the attacks of September 11 2001 disaster preparedness and response has developed into a discrete subspecialty in medicine and the paramount health care initiative of the US Government The mental health component of disaster response is a serious subject of study as trauma is associated with a substantial and long lasting psychologic burden both on an individual and community level The psychopathologies associated with disaster are also quite broad varying from several different types of post traumatic stress and anxiety disorders to acute variations of grief associated depression This book is the definitive reference on mental health and disasters focused on the assessment and treatment of the full spectrum of psychopathologies associated with many different types of individual disasters The logistics for utilizing pre existing community based mental health services as well as the development of new programs are covered in depth Case studies and perspectives for improving care incorporating lessons from Hurricane Katrina and 9 11 are included in detail
