Ben Shahn: An Artist s Life Howard Greenfeld,2019-08-10 Ben Shahn was born in Lithuania in 1898 and emigrated to New York with his family in 1906 Trained as a lithographer Shahn created social realist paintings of controversial subjects such as Sacco and Vanzetti He worked as an assistant to Diego Rivera on Rivera s Rockefeller Center mural and later created his own public murals in Washington New York and New Jersey In 1935

Walker Evans invited him to join the New Deal's Farm Security Administration. As a photographer Shahn documented the Depression in the American South with Evans and Dorothea Lange. During the war years he worked for the Office of War Information OWI producing propaganda posters before returning to painting. Toward the end of his life he worked as a commercial artist, taught and wrote about art including The Biography of a Painting 1956 and The Shape of Content 1960. Howard Greenfeld's biography is the first complete life of the artist and is illustrated with 90 of his photographs, pictures and paintings. Howard Greenfeld's approach scrupulously balances the personal and the political to provide a rounded portrait that gives a convincing sense of a determined individual making his mark as an immigrant in the turbulent America of depression and war, social upheaval and reaction. David Cohen, The New York Times.

Encyclopedia of Jewish American Artists

Samantha Baskind, 2007. Encyclopedia of Jewish American Artists presents over 80 19th and 20th century Jewish American artists ranging from the critically neglected Theresa Bernstein, Ruth Gikow and Jennings Tofel to the well-known Eva Hesse, Roy Lichtenstein and Larry Rivers. The subject matter of some of these artists may surprise readers: Adolph Gottlieb designed and supervised the fabrication of a 35-foot wide, four-story high stained glass facade for a synagogue; Louise Nevelson sculpted a Holocaust memorial; and Philip Pearlstein painted a version of Moses with the Tablets of the Law early in his career. Covering painters, sculptors, printmakers and photographers as well as artists who engage in newer forms of visual expression such as video, conceptual and performance art, the book is in part intended to stimulate further scholarship on these artists. When appropriate, entries reveal the influence of the Jewish American encounter on the artists' work along with other factors such as gender and the immigrant experience. In many cases, the artists' own words are employed to flesh out perspectives on their art as well as on their Jewish identity. To that end, the volume contains excerpts from recent interviews conducted by the author with some of the artists, including Judy Chicago, Audrey Flack, Jack Levine and Sol LeWitt. Illustrations accompanying each artist's entry, some in color, aid this invaluable look at Jewish American art.

Branded Nation James B. Twitchell, 2004-09-08. Branding says James Twitchell is nothing more than commercial storytelling: brands are the stories that are associated with products. For example, the special taste of Evian says Twitchell is in the brand, not the water. Branding has become so successful, so ubiquitous that even institutions that we thought were above branding, antithetical to branding, have succumbed. Such cultural institutions as religion, higher education and the art world have learned to love Madison Avenue or lose market share. Of course, most ministers, university presidents and museum directors will insist that branding has nothing to do with them, but as Twitchell brilliantly demonstrates in this witty, insightful examination of three of our most important cultural institutions, wherever supply exceeds demand, branding follows. The rise of the megachurch epitomizes branding in religion. From its inception, the megachurch was designed not to compete with other churches but to bring in the unchurched, especially men, worshippers who might otherwise be home watching television or strolling through the mall on a Sunday morning. The megachurches have been phenomenally popular, none more so than

Willow Creek Community Church just south of Chicago one of the oldest megachurches which Twitchell analyzes in Branded Nation Colleges and universities have embraced branding as they have grown more alike Especially among the top schools in the country the student bodies the faculties often even the campuses themselves are practically interchangeable What distinguishes each school is the story it tells about itself Now every institution of higher learning has its image organizers its brand managers usually in the admissions or development offices whose job it is to make their institution seem different from all the rest Even museums with their multimillion dollar Monets have seen the advantages of branding The blockbuster exhibitions often put familiar paintings in a new context that is they provide a new narrative branding the art Museums keep expanding their stores placing them not just near the entrance on the ground floor but throughout the museum in the galleries themselves Some museums such as the Guggenheim even franchise themselves turning the institution itself into a brand In short high culture is beginning to look more and more like the rest of our culture In perhaps his most subversive observation Twitchell doesn't condemn the branding of cultural institutions On the contrary he believes that branding may be invigorating our high culture bringing it to new audiences making it a more integral part of our lives Not since Bobos in Paradise has there been such a trenchant provocative analysis of our world The New Republic Herbert David Croly, 2003

New York, 2007 Picasso in the Metropolitan Museum of Art Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), Pablo Picasso, Magdalena Dabrowski, Christel Hollevoet, 2010 This publication presents a comprehensive catalogue of the works by Pablo Picasso in the Metropolitan Museum Comprising 34 paintings 59 drawings 12 sculptures and ceramics and more than 400 prints the collection reflects the full breadth of the artist's multi-sided genius as it asserted itself over the course of his long career
