World City Network Peter J. Taylor,Ben Derudder,2015-08-17 With the advent of multinational corporations the traditional urban service function has gone global In order to provide services to globalizing corporate clients the offices of major financial and business service firms across the world have generated networks of work It is the myriad of flows between office towers in different metropolitan centres that has produced a world city network Taylor and Derudder s unique and illuminating book provides both an update and a substantial revision of the first edition that was published in 2004 It provides a comprehensive and systematic description and analysis of the world city network as the skeleton upon which contemporary globalization has been built Through an analysis of the intra company flows of 175 leading global service firms across 526 cities in 2012 this book assesses cities in terms of their overall network connectivity the regional configurations they form and their changing position in the period 2000 12 Results are used to reflect on cities and city state relations in the context of the global ecological and economic crisis Written by two of the foremost authorities on the subject this book provides a much needed mapping of the connecting relationships between world cities and will be a valuable resource for students of urban studies geography sociology and planning

Research in Education, 1972 The Future of the City Centre Bob Giddings, Robert J Rogerson, 2022-12-30 The Future of the City Centre Global Perspectives debates future directions It looks beyond the post industrial post commercial and post retail city centres to examine differing visions of the future form and function of the urban core This theme and the related sub topics will assist the development of future city models and help to contextualise urban change The in depth research covers not only urban form and the re use of the built heritage but also the provision for cultural events and different forms of entertainment that will offer vitality together with visitors and responsible tourism City authorities are starting to realise that structural changes are happening in city centres as their influence is declining and therefore new forms of governance will be needed The book is based on an international research network hosting four symposia over 24 months They took place in four cities in four different continents to encompass a world view of developed and developing countries This book offers theoretical and practical perspectives from leading thinkers academics and practitioners drawing on thematic issues explored across four international cities Newcastle UK Newcastle Australia Pretoria Tshwane South Africa and Jo o Pessoa Brazil It draws on a wider set of global examples to reveal the shared issues and pressures being brought to bear on city centres and the diversity of responses being undertaken to ensure their long term future The book includes illustrations from cities around the world and it is directed at academics students and professionals in architecture planning urban design the built environment geography economics sociology and cultural studies

Bulletin North Carolina State University. Dept. of Engineering Research, 1928 American Women at the Crossroads: Directions for the Future United States. Women's Bureau, 1971 A History of the Office and Office Work Rob Harris, 2025-04-08 This book brings together the office and office working as an economic construct as a business function as a building type and as a mode of work It explores social and economic relations and it traces the evolution of work and the environment and equipment needed to support it over the last 400 years In so doing it helps to fill a void in popular understanding of the office The role of the office has been examined over the past three years in ways that it has never been examined before Whilst the existential crisis arising from COVID 19 has settled somewhat there remain big questions over the future of office workers and office real estate This book is a timely well researched and fascinating contribution to the debate Rob Harris explores how the nature of work has changed and continues to change placing the events surrounding COVID 19 into a longer term perspective and asking what is the future of the office Will it go through a radical reinvention How will office work evolve in the future Whither office buildings The book emphasises the continuum of change and that today s events are simply the latest stage of change rather than something entirely novel This book will be of interest to anyone with a stake in the built environment whether as an investor occupier owner manager or advisor It is equally accessible to those with a non technical background including students on courses such as economic history

economics geography real estate and urban planning
