Education For Capability

Malcolm Tight, Jeroen Huisman

Education For Capability:

Capability and Quality in Higher Education John Stephenson, Mantz Yorke, 2013-10-31 The new focus in learning is on developing the individual's capability. This work looks at this in the context of improving skills, lifelong learning and welfare to work. It debates the issues within the setting of institutional strategies, work-based learning, skills development and assessment.

Education, Welfare and the Capabilities Approach Hans-Uwe Otto, Holger Ziegler, 2010-02-18
Capabilities Approach. The authors assess the potentials and pitfalls of the Capabilities Approach to issues of education and welfare. Renowned philosophers, sociologists, psychologists, economists and educational scientists explore the conceptual and practical implications of this approach for delivering socially just policies. The volume analyses the potentials and pitfalls of the Capabilities Approach (CA) which was initially developed by the Indian economist Amartya Sen and the American philosopher Martha Nussbaum. CA is considered as a philosophical approach to social justice, a scientific approach to research, welfare, production and eventually as a potentially new, practically adoptable fundament for educational and social service delivery. CA is one of the currently most influential attempts to reconcile the competing demands which are associated with the fundamental conceptions of equality, recognition and liberty and advocates an egalitarian political conception of social justice which is concerned with the cultivation, maximization and just distribution of the real freedom of individuals. Renowned philosophers, sociologists, psychologists, economists and educational scientists investigate the complex relation of education and welfare against the background of major economic, political and cultural transformations within and across European societies.

Amartya Sen's Capability Approach and Social Justice in Education Melanie Walker, Elaine Unterhalter, 2007-07-09 This compelling book introduces Nobel laureate Amartya Sen's capability approach and explores its significance for theory, policy and practice in education. The book looks particularly at questions concerning the education of children, gender equality and higher education. Contributors hail from the UK, USA, Australia, Italy and Mexico.

Geography Education's Potential and the Capability Approach Richard Bustin, 2019-08-10 This book explores the pivotal role that geography as a school subject plays in helping every young person achieve their educational potential. Expressed as GeoCapabilities, this concept draws on the capabilities approach developed by Amartya Sen and Martha Nussbaum applied to curriculum thinking in schools. While traditional subjects have often been deemed irrelevant and outdated in an overcrowded secondary school curriculum, subjects like geography have often been lost or combined with others to fulfil a broad skills agenda. More recent talk of a knowledge-led curriculum can often lead to the recitation of facts at the expense of developing deeper understanding. This book argues the concept of powerful geographical knowledge based on the work of Michael Young and David Lambert invests the subject of geography with its educational potential. This forms the basis of GeoCapabilities. GeoCapabilities focuses on both what is being taught and why and as such provides a framework of curriculum thinking which will be of interest and value to geography teachers, school leaders with curriculum development.

responsibilities and all those interested in the capability approach and the moral imperative of education     Justice and Equality in Education Lorella Terzi, 2008-03-14 Lorella Terzi offers a philosophical conception of justice and equality in education examining the demands of disability and special educational needs     Theory and Method in Higher Education Research Malcolm Tight, Jeroen Huisman, 2015-09-29 Theory and Method in Higher Education contains contributions to international debates regarding the application and development of theory and methodology in researching higher education     New Frontiers of the Capability Approach Flavio Comim, Shailaja Fennell, P. B. Anand, 2018-10-25 For over three decades the capability approach proposed and developed by Amartya Sen and Martha Nussbaum has had a distinct impact on development theories and approaches because it goes beyond an economic conception of development and engages with the normative aspects of development This book explores the new frontiers of the capability approach and its links to human development in three main areas First it delves into the philosophical foundations of the approach re-examining its links to concepts of common good collective agency and epistemic diversity Secondly it addresses its operational frontier aiming to give inclusive explanations of some of the most advanced methods available for capability researchers Thirdly it offers a wide range of the applications of this approach as carried out by a mix of renowned capability scholars and researchers from different disciplines This broad interdisciplinary range includes the areas of human and sustainable development inequalities labour markets education special needs cities urban planning housing social capital and happiness studies among others     Financial Education and Capability Julie Birkenmaier, Jami Curley, Margaret Sherraden, 2013-02-21 This book introduces the concept of financial capability and assembles the latest evidence from ground breaking innovations with financially vulnerable families and links it to education policy and practice It is a key resource for those interested in improving financial education and financial products and services for low income families

Professional Education, Capabilities and the Public Good Melanie Walker, Monica McLean, 2013-10-01 This book innovatively explores how universities might be engines of reform and be directed towards social change Using rich case studies drawn from South African research the book comprehensively provides a myriad of new perspectives on what constitutes a set of appropriate public good professional capabilities that will translate successfully into contributions to human development It challenges universities to produce professionals who have the knowledge skills and values to improve the lives of people living in poverty in urban and rural settings It covers issues such as Conceptualising Public Good Professionalism Global Issues and Professional Education South African Debates about Higher Education Institutional conditions and professional education arrangements Social Constraints on educating ethically aware public professionals By drawing on an approach that focuses on differing public good professional capabilities in five professions this book produces a crucial new framework for the preparation of professionals relevant to the global study of higher education policy It expands higher education's contribution to global social justice beyond a concern with human capital administering a challenge to higher education internationally to address human development in the 21st century This book will be of great interest to all scholars of higher education involved in higher education studies comparative education and development studies It will also prove valuable to policy makers higher education leaders and lecturers and graduate professionals in diverse organizations

Capital, capabilities and culture: a human development approach to student and school transformation Cliona Hannon, 2020-01-15 This book applies the capability approach as an evaluative lens through which to explore the range of capabilities that emerged over a three year period through the Trinity Access 21 College for Every Student TA21 CFES higher education access project in four schools Qualitative analysis is presented from a longitudinal study of four schools over a three year period drawing on data from four student focus groups involving 21 student participants and 14 individual student interviews An additional sixteen school personnel contributed in interviews There are three main findings first specific student capabilities emerge because of their engagement in the TA21 CFES core practices of Leadership Mentoring and Pathways to College These are autonomy practical reason college knowledge identity social relations and networks and hope Second students encounter a range of inhibiting social conversion factors in developing capabilities and persisting with higher education aspirations These are the negative pull of peer relations pressure related to the Junior Certificate limited subject choice and conflicting family expectations Third it is the combination of their own emerging capability set along with a network of trusted relationships with others that enables them to overcome potentially corrosive disadvantage and translate their experiences into fertile functionings It is proposed that these findings have national and international relevance for widening participation interventions The research makes a methodological contribution as it is the first use of qualitative longitudinal research QLR in Ireland within a lived project aimed at working class students over a three year period It contributes empirically as it provides new knowledge about the impact of interventions aimed at developing students capability set and how these might help them to develop navigational capital and post secondary educational aspirations It also makes a conceptual contribution to how we frame the design and evaluation of impact of widening participation initiatives as it takes a capability approach to considering how students develop higher education aspirations over time towards what they consider a life of value It is useful to researchers practitioners and policy makers who are interested in taking an evidence based approach to developing higher education access programmes

Higher Education in Ethiopia Tebeje Molla, 2018-01-18 This book focuses on higher education in Ethiopia analysing persisting inequalities and policy responses against the backdrop of the extensive expansion and reform that the system has experienced in recent years Drawing on empirical data generated through interviews policy reviews and focus group discussions it explicates factors of structural inequality ranging from neoliberal policy orientations to repressive gender culture and geo political peripherality In a departure from conventional studies that consider policy a response to social problems the book takes a critical perspective to show the constitutive role of policy and explains how the representation of the problem of social inequality undermines equity policy outcomes in Ethiopian higher education Not only does the book problematise the framing of the problem of inequality in the system it also outlines strategies for designing transformative equity instruments In explaining structural factors of inequality and equity provisions the book productively combines sociological concepts with historical accounts and political economy insights Given the increased economic optimism associated with higher education in sub Saharan Africa and the neoliberal ideals underpinning much of the restructuring of the system in the region this is a timely and important contribution that sheds light on the social justice implications and consequences of such changes It offers fresh accounts of largely neglected qualitative cases of inequality making it a valuable read for students and researchers in the areas of Ethiopian education policy studies international and comparative education and international development

Higher Education Pedagogies Walker, Melanie, 2005-11-01 What does higher education learning and teaching enable students to do and to become Which human capabilities are valued in higher education and how do we identify them How might the human capability approach lead to improved student learning as well as to accomplished and ethical university teaching This book sets out to generate new ways of reflecting ethically about the purposes and values of contemporary higher education in relation to agency learning public values and democratic life and the pedagogies which support these It offers an alternative to human capital theory and emphasises the intrinsic as well as the economic value of higher learning Based upon the human capability approach developed by economist Amartya Sen and philosopher Martha Nussbaum the book shows the importance of justice as a value in higher education It places freedom human flourishing and students educational development at its centre Furthermore it takes up the value Sen attributes to education in the capability approach and demonstrates its relevance for higher education Higher Education Pedagogies offers illustrative narratives of capability learning and pedagogy drawing on student and lecturer voices to demonstrate how this multi dimensional approach can be developed and applied in higher education It suggests an ethical approach to higher education practice and to teaching and learning policy development and evaluation As such the book is essential reading for students and scholars of higher education as well as university lecturers managers and policy makers concerned with teaching and learning

A New Education for a New Economy: From Human Capital to Human Flourishing Tal Gilead, 2024-06-03 Providing an in depth novel analysis of education s role in today s economy by scrutinizing its theoretical underpinnings this volume critiques the suitability of the current dominant economic framework for education and for shaping educational policymaking worldwide Critically examining the history and philosophy that underpin our present societal understanding of the link between economics and education the book argues for an urgent redefining of education s role in the economy based on intellectual foundations that significantly differ from our current dominant conceptions Across seven chapters the book posits that the adoption of a new philosophical framework the reshaping of economic and educational aims and the adjustment of our educational system are each necessary to better promote human flourishing
