Educational Leadership and Planning for Technology Anthony G. Picciano, 2011. Technology in schools has evolved from the predominance of stand alone computers to a blend of computer, media, communications and other forms of technology dominated by the ubiquitous Internet and World Wide Web. In addition K-12 education has evolved into a much more outcomes driven enterprise that depends upon technology and data to perform many of its basic functions. The newly revised fifth edition of Educational Leadership and Planning for Technology provides educators with both the theoretical and the practical considerations for planning and implementing technology in today's schools with an emphasis on the total application of technology including both administrative and instructional uses. Designed for preservice and inservice educators such as administrators, teachers, technology coordinators and media specialists, this fifth edition text builds a strong foundation from which educators may provide informed leadership and become agents for realizing the powerful potential of technology in their schools. I have used the textbook in teaching my course Leadership in Educational Technology in an online format the past four springs. I began the course and found this text to be the best available. I am still of that opinion. Patrick Durow, Creighton University. I have used this text primarily because of its accessible writing and its completeness of coverage. I do not use many texts in my teaching so it is a compliment to any author when I can use their work in my courses. Steven Smith, Northern Kentucky University.

Mastering Theories of Educational Leadership and Management Donnie Adams, 2018-10-08. The field of Educational Leadership and Management originated and grew to maturity in the Western societies of the USA, UK and Australia. However, since the mid 1990s scholars in East Asia have asserted the need to ground leadership theories and practices in the local contexts in which school leaders practice. Mastering Theories of Educational Leadership and Management is one of the first volumes published which seeks to do this. The edited chapters illustrate and elaborate how perspectives on key concepts and theories of educational leadership are being interpreted and enacted in East Asian societies. By doing so the book makes a valuable contribution which will hopefully reduce the gap between theories as explained by Western scholars and practices as enacted in East Asian societies. Professor Dr Philip Hallinger.
