Description :

One of the most accessible features of the book is the incorporation of vignettes of real-life action research enquiries, and in some cases, drawing on the field notes and journals kept by the teachers themselves. There is much to welcome in this book. There is an engaging honesty of tone, an abiding sense of authenticity in the author's voice, this is writing which comes out of long professional experience of teaching pupils with learning difficulties and challenging behaviour, and equal experience of facilitating action research enquiries in her practice as a teacher educator. European Journal of Special Needs Education In its detailed elaboration of action research as a basis for teacher professional development this book locates inclusive practice in a discursive process that continually interprets its meaning while at the same time inevitably changes educational cultures. The book begins by linking government policy with social justice and inclusion issues and argues that inclusion is currently promoted via a democratic political process, which needs to be complemented at a professional level through the demonstration of democratic and inclusive procedures in the investigatory process itself. It argues for: "action research as a means of implementing and evaluating inclusive practice in classrooms and schools" action research as an interpretive and discursive process" inclusion related to individual educational contexts" inclusion as responsive to change and improvement at any level. The book will appeal to postgraduate students, teachers and educational professionals who need a basis for developing inclusive practice.

Towards Inclusive Schools? Catherine Clark,Alan Dyson,Alan Millward,2018-09-03 First published in 1995 Notions of inclusive schools and schooling for diversity are rapidly gaining currency across the developed world as alternatives to traditional approaches to special needs education This book explores the advances in our understanding of how schools can change and develop in order to include a wider range of students By bringing together some of the foremost international writers and researchers in the field it makes available to policy makers practitioners and researchers the experiences from Australia Europe New Zealand the UK and the USA Teacher Education for Inclusion Chris Forlin,2010-06-10 How teachers might best be prepared to work in schools with an increasingly diverse pupil population is of concern to educational academics professionals and governments around the world Changes that have taken place in legislation and practice often fail to taken into account how practitioners can ensure that all children and young people are able to achieve The focus of this international text is on innovative practices for preparing teachers to work in inclusive classrooms and schools Drawing on both pre and in service training methods the expert contributors to this book follow three major themes social and political challenges regarding teacher education providing an historical perspective on the training of teachers tensions in preparing teachers for inclusion cultural issues the relationship between educational funding and practices and collaborative measures to support a whole school approach innovative approaches in pre service teacher preparation discussing a range of innovative models and approaches used in pre service teacher education courses engaging professional development for inservice teachers reviewing a range of approaches employed to engage working teachers and help them establish curricula and pedagogy that meets the needs of all students in their classes Each chapter will include a list of proposed learning outcomes a theoretical or conceptual framework to help readers develop the proposed innovation an overview of recent research discussion of the research data available and a discussion of the international implications and challenges summarising in suggestions for a positive way forward Teacher Education for Inclusion Changing Paradigms and Innovative Approaches is essential reading for practising teacher educators school leaders university lecturers in education and post graduate students Preparing Teachers for Inclusive Education in China Wang Yan, 2023-09-29 Focusing on the competence of teachers that underpins inclusive education seeking equal access to education for special needs children this title examines teacher competence cultivation based on examples in China and excellent international experience To give a clear picture of the context of inclusive education in China the author first clarifies the relevant concepts and reviews the evolving policies and practices embodied in the Learning in Regular Classrooms LRC program The study then constructs an analytical model of four key indicators that help evaluate the competence of teachers in inclusive education Based on analysis of the influencing factors of teacher competence the book elucidates how these factors work to determine teacher competence Drawing on international experience especially pre service teacher cultivation in the US and in service training in China it introduces three major cultivation models and feasible suggestions and strategies to improve the competence of teachers in inclusion This book will benefit researchers professionals and policymakers interested in inclusive education special education and teacher education

Inclusion and Diversity in Education: Inclusive pedagogy in curricula and classrooms Peter Hick, Gary Thomas, 2009 This 4 volume set brings together seminal articles and key writings on the theme of inclusion and diversity in education The collection takes disability and special educational need as a starting point from which to develop a broader focus on a range of themes relating to learners who may be marginalised from educational opportunities This includes for example members of minority ethnic communities students excluded from schools or who are looked after in public care and other dimensions of exclusion arising from social class gender or sexuality The starting point for understanding inclusive education lies in social justice perspectives and this forms the basis for the first volume Volumes two and three focus on research aimed at developing more inclusive practices both at the levels of schools and school systems and at the levels of inclusive pedagogy enacted in the classroom and through the curriculum Volume four reflects the range of voices in research on inclusive education drawing on traditionally marginalised voices and those of learners in particular Three cross cutting themes are represented across all four volumes a chronological approach showing how key concepts and perspectives have developed in each area of the literature identified groups of learners developing more nuanced readings of how processes of exclusion and inclusion intersect dimensions such as disability class and race and contexts for learning such as urban education and global or comparative perspectives

Ethics and Research in Inclusive Education Melanie Nind,Jonathan Rix,Kieron Sheehy,Katy Simmons,2014-01-02 The recent move towards inclusive education has radically influenced the way educational research is conducted Students need to become aware of the critical legal and ethical responsibilities that arise from investigation in this new and expanding area Written from the standpoint of inclusive education rather than special education this carefully edited collection of readings from a wide variety of sources will develop the student s ability to identify and respond to ethical dilemmas that occur within their particular research methodologies and settings respond appropriately to the myriad of complex legal issues that are pertinent to their own work The contributions to this book draw upon examples of inclusive practices from around the world Students taking postgraduate courses or diplomas in Inclusive education will find this an invaluable read

Educating for Social Justice and Inclusion in an African Context Nithi Muthukrishna,2008 The proposed book moves away from a special education course reflecting a broad consideration of social justice and inclusion that encompasses a variety of concerns about the lived experience of domination oppression and injustice and seeks to understand the complex intersections of a number of often overlapping categories of social identity and conflict including cultural ethnic and racialised identities gender sexual orientation class and disability

Disability & the Politics of Education Susan Lynn Gabel,Scot Danforth,2008 Disability and the Politics of Education An International Reader is a rich resource that deals comprehensively with the many aspects of the complex topic of disability studies in education For nearly two decades global attention has been given to education as a human right through global initiatives such as Education for All EFA and the Salamanca Statement Yet according to UNESCO reaching the goals of EFA remains one of the most daunting challenges facing the global community Today millions of the world s disabled children cannot obtain a basic childhood education particularly in countries with limited resources Even in the wealthiest countries many disabled children and youth are educationally segregated from the nondisabled particularly if they are labeled with significant cognitive impairment International agencies such as the United Nations and the World Bank have generated funds for educational development but unfortunately these funds are administered with the assumption that west is best thereby urging developing countries to mimic educational policies in the United States and the United Kingdom in order to prove their aid worthiness This McDonaldization of education reproduces the labeling resource allocation and social dynamics long criticized in disability studies The authors in this volume explore these subjects and other complexities of disability and the politics of education In doing so they demonstrate the importance and usefulness of international perspectives and comparative approaches
