Educational Psychology A Classroom Perspective:

Educational Psychology Ernest T. Goetz, Patricia A. Alexander, Michael J. Ash, 1992 Reflecting current views on cognition this book examines educational psychology from the perspective of actual classroom practice focusing on the need to view the classroom teacher as an educational problem solver Educational Psychology Prentice Hall PTR, 1995-07-01

Educational Psychology Thomas L. Good, Jere E. Brophy, 1977 An Interpersonal Approach to Classroom Management Heather A. Davis, Jessica J. Summers, Lauren M. Miller, 2012-08-07 Presenting the psychology behind the best managed classrooms The authors engage you from the start by contrasting how differently teachers respond to common situations They expertly bridge the gap between educational psychology and classroom management from the perspectives of student engagement peer and student teacher relationships and teacher self regulation Both current and prospective teachers will find helpful tools for engaging difficult students managing challenging relationships and handling conflict Key topics include Student behavioral relational and cognitive engagement in the learning process Classroom structures that contribute to student engagement The contribution of peer relationships to positive and negative behavior management Strategies that help children learn to manage their own behavior Connecting with students who are culturally and linguistically diverse Educational Psychology R. R. McCown, Marcy Perkins Driscoll, Peter G. Roop, Donald H. Saklofske, Vicki L. Schwan, Ivan W. Kelly, Leonard P. Haines, 1999 Appropriate for undergraduate or graduate level courses in educational psychology offered in departments of educational psychology or psychology This text takes a learning centered constructivist approach to the teaching learning process encouraging students to reflect on their own experiences and the experiences of others and to build their own metaphors and theories of teaching It places the theories research and practice of educational psychology within a Canadian context The connections between ed psych theory and practice are made throughout the text via case studies the voices of real teachers and examples derived directly from the practice of real classroom teachers Educational Psychology Thomas Fetsco, John McClure, 2005 I applaud the vision the authors had in synthesizing this information in a way that makes the reader more confident in their application of these theories and principles to their own classrooms The authors have wonderfully succeeded in their attempt to integrate this material in a manner quite different from other texts I've read or reviewed Jim Persinger Emporia State University Any textbook that overemphasizes theory neglects the real world any textbook that overemphasizes practice neglects the underlying foundation of theory This book strikes a careful balance between theory and practice by explicitly linking the two Gregory Cutler Bay de Noc Community College By far this is the best educational psychology text I have read because it integrates and applies major learning theories to many of the daily issues future teachers will face Krista Robertson Rhode Island College I see this textbook as well written informative clearly and logically organized and a very useful component for a course in Educational Psychology I like it Raymond E Webster East Carolina University The authors have done an excellent job in producing an easy to follow format and style Paula Holmes Miller Crichton College The authors writing style and presentation level are clear and easy to read along with tables figures concept maps and other visual aids Yuliang Liu Ph D Southern Illinois University The text is well written and some very difficult topics such as Attribution Theory and Constructivism to name just two are easy to understand when compared to similar books I think this is some of the clearest writing I have read in a long time Michael P Verdi California State University San Bernadino I really enjoyed reading this text and I found its comprehensive nature to be a strength Linda W Morse Mississippi State University The authors writing style is clear simple and direct It speaks directly to the reader the examples are concrete and related to education John Isch Martin Luther College

Case Studies in Educational Psychology Patricia P. Willems, Alyssa R. Gonzalez-DeHass, 2017-12-06 This case study book serves as a valuable tool for professors and instructors of educational psychology It contains 18 cases that represent current areas of interest in Educational Psychology embedded within current challenges that teachers face in today s elementary grade classrooms The cases are organized into six major parts Human Development Individual Differences and Diversity Learning Theories Motivation Classroom Management Instructional Approaches and Assessment and Evaluation Each case describes a detailed teaching scenario written from either the student or the teachers perspective To engage students in critical thinking perspective taking analysis problem solving and decision making the cases have been intentionally written without a conclusion Because the cases are open ended it allows the professor or instructor more flexibility and autonomy in how they use the cases Each case is followed by thought provoking questions highlighting the significant issues in the case from which to analyze the case and apply various theoretical viewpoints While the cases do not replace actual classroom experience they present a way to immerse students in the classroom s culture by providing them with real life teaching examples

Educational Psychology Gary D. Borich, Martin L. Tombari, 1997 The Nature and Nurture of Learners Meryl Englander, 2010-04-21 Prospective and in service teachers are the intended readers of this book Teaching involves much more than dispensing knowledge Teaching is a process of arranging activities that will enable individuals to learn and behave appropriately The appropriateness of the activities depends on the degree they interact with the status of the targeted individuals Just as physicians need to know about the nature of the human body and carpenters need to know about the nature of wood teachers need to know about the nature of people that is related to learning and behavior Thereby the focus of this text is the relevant personal characteristics the intellect motivation and sense of self each of which influence learning and behavior Research findings and models within educational psychology are used to define the relevant human personal characteristics In order to arrange meaningful activities teachers strive to achieve selected objectives The text identifies four broad objectives within which specific lesson objectives can be identified The objectives themselves and more particularly the proposed activities must be oriented around the personal characteristics of the targeted learners Age grade level ethnic background and gender are insufficient indicators of learner qualifications Relevant information for learning are within individual learners as exhibited through behavior Observations are the key indicators of learner readiness to learn The text recommends that students begin now to develop skills for identifying the status of learners and classroom conditions through interviews noting various classroom behaviors and analyzing the findings by developing portfolios Small group discussions are encouraged so that students can share skills in analyzing real problems and thereby develop habits and skills for working with colleagues

Psychology in the Classroom Phillida Salmon,1995 Phillida Salmon offers an alternative vision to the consumerist images of education which have prevailed in political thinking Using the approach of personal construct psychology she shows how meaning is centrally important This has profound implications for understanding how people learn and why they often fail to learn In tracing the logic of this approach in education the author considers the position of teachers and the possibilities and constraints of their own learning For pupils school learning is often unofficial and unintended In this the culture of school institutions plays a major part Differential pupil destinies are carried by special categorization The meaning of such labels is examined in this study BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

Educational Psychology Richard D. Parsons,Stephanie Lewis Hinson,Deborah Sardo-Brown,2001 While covering the basic concepts of psychological theory as it applies to education child development human learning and behavior classroom management and assessment this text is written from the point of view that teaching is both an art and a science It is the first text to offer a practitioner researcher model of teaching in which both pre service and in service teachers learn to integrate observational skills and hypothesis testing into their classroom teaching as a way of constantly checking research and theory against demonstrated results Based on the practice of Action Research it challenges students to become critical thinkers both as immediate consumers of teacher training courses and later as classroom teachers
