

Anatomy

Tigers are the largest member of the Felidae family. They also set themselves apart with their unique coat, as stripes are rarely found in other felines. Their coat ranges from shades of orange to brown and rarely seen white. All white Bengal tigers are captive due to being bred from one male tiger that was captured in the 1960s.

The color of the white tiger's fur is the result of a genetic mutation called leucism, they are NOT an endangered species.

Tiger's distinct black stripes can also be seen when they are bald, as the stripes are found on their skin as well as their fur.

Education Reform and Education Policy in East Asia Ka-ho Mok, 2006-06-28 This book assesses the impact of globalization on the education systems of key East Asian countries including China, Hong Kong, Japan, and the tiger economies of South Korea, Taiwan, and Singapore, examining how the increasingly interdependent economic system has driven policy change and education reform. It discusses how policy makers have responded to changes required in educational outcomes in order to equip their societies for new global conditions and explores the impact of new approaches and ideologies related to globalization such as marketization, privatization, governance changes, managerialism, economic rationalism, and neo-liberalism, making comparisons across the region. Based upon in-depth research, fieldwork, literature analysis, policy document analysis, and personal reflections of academics serving in the education sector, this volume recounts heated debates about the pros and cons of education restructuring in East Asia. The discussions on national responses and coping strategies in this volume offer highly relevant insights on how globalization has resulted in restructuring and draws lessons from comparative public policy analysis and comparative education studies.
