Sociology of Education Stephen J. Ball, 2000 Covering the key points of dispute and areas of controversy within the field this outstanding collection includes papers from the leading writers and presents a sophisticated and versatile toolbox of ideas for theory building and research Education, Autonomy and Democratic Citizenship David

Bridges, 2002-11-01 Across the globe educators are being required to respond to a changing political environment New nations emerge out of the collapse of old empires new democracies struggle out of old structures of oppression Driven on by the fierce competitiveness of the tiger economies of the east old social welfare 1 based democracies are transformed into new market led enterprise societies The essays in this international collection are a response from twenty two educators to these changes and to the reassessment that they provoke of some of the fundamental principles which shape educational thought and practice They focus in particular on four key clusters of issues to do with the role of education in cultivating national identity Authors from political settings as culturally distant as Lithuania and Taiwan consider what role if any nationalistic education might play in the context of a democratic liberal education market principles Contributors offer different perspectives on the internationally pervasive application of the principles of the market economy to education and the consequent commodification of learning personal autonomy Different dimensions of the contested notion of autonomy are examined along with the related discourses of edification and empowerment democratic citizenship From post Soviet Russia to the new South Africa in schools and in the context of professional training educators examine what education for democratic citizenship might mean in practice and tease out some of the conflicts of principle which are raised in its implementation The contributors are distinguished scholars drawn from every continent They write consciously for an international readership and there is constant cross reference to developments in different parts of the world All are practitioners in education sharing an interest in the philosophical issues underlying social change The philosophical discussion is clearly rooted in and referred back to the world of educational practice and its political context Regional Strategy Meetings on Choice in Education ,1989 Further Education in the Market-place Barry Charles Ardley,1992 Education Policy and Social Class Stephen J. Ball,2006 This book brings together in one place Stephen Ball s key writings Drawing on over 20 years work Professor Ball has selected his most seminal work from education policy and sociology to his work on education and social class Class Strategies and the Education Market Stephen J. Ball,2003-08-29 Class Strategies and the Education Market examines the ways in which the middle classes maintain and improve their social advantages in and through education Drawing on an extensive series of interviews with parents and children this book identifies key moments of decision making in the construction of the educational trajectories of middle class children Stephen J Ball organises his analysis around the key concepts of social closure social capital values and principles and risk while bringing a broad range of up to date sociological theory to bear upon his subject From this thorough analysis valuable and thought provoking insights emerge into the assiduous care and considerable effort and expenditure which goes into ensuring the educational success of the middle class child The middle classes are a sociological enigma presenting the social researcher with considerable analytic and theoretical difficulties Class Strategies and the Education Market provides a set of working tools for class analysis and the examination of class practices Above all it offers new ways of thinking about class theory and the relationships between classes in late modern society Anglican Church School Education Howard J.
