Education Theory And Practice Caribbean Perspectives:

Education Theory and Practice Tony Bastick, 2000 Dialects, Englishes, Creoles, and Education Shondel J. Nero, 2012-11-12 This volume brings together a multiplicity of voices both theoretical and practical on the complex politics challenges and strategies of educating students in North America and worldwide who are speakers of diverse or nonstandard varieties of English creoles and hybrid varieties of English such as African American Vernacular English Caribbean Creole English Tex Mex West African Pidgin English and Indian English among others The number of such students is increasing as a result of the spread of English internal and global migration and increased educational access Dialects Englishes Creoles and Education offers a sociohistorical perspective on language spread and variation analysis of related issues such as language attitudes identities and prescribed versus actual language use and practical suggestions for pedagogy Pedagogical features Key points at the beginning of each chapter help focus the reader and provide a framework for reading writing reflection and discussion chapter end questions for discussion and reflective writing engage and challenge the ideas presented and encourage a range of approaches in dealing with language diversity Collectively the chapters in this volume invite educators researchers and students across the fields of TESOL applied linguistics sociolinguistics English literacy and language education to begin to consider and adopt context specific policies and practices that will improve the language development and academic performance of linguistically diverse students Departmental Reports University of the West Indies (Mona, Jamaica), 2000 Modeling Mentoring Across Race/Ethnicity and Gender Caroline Sotello Viernes Turner, Juan Carlos González, 2023-07-03 While mentorship has been shown to be critical in helping graduate students persist and complete their studies and enter upon and succeed in their academic careers the under representation of faculty of color and women in higher education greatly reduces the opportunities for graduate students from these selfsame groups to find mentors of their race ethnicity or gender Recognizing that mentoring across gender race and ethnicity inserts levels of complexity to this important process this book both fills a major gap in the literature and provides an in depth look at successful mentorships between senior white and under represented scholars and emerging women scholars and scholars of color Following a comprehensive review of the literature this book presents chapters written by scholars who share in depth descriptions of their cross gender and or cross race ethnicity mentoring relationships Each article is co authored by mentors who are established senior scholars and their former protégés with whom they have continuing collegial relationships Their descriptions provide rich insights into the importance of these relationships and for developing the academic pipeline for women scholars and scholars of color Drawing on a comparative analysis of the literature and of the narrative chapters the editors conclude by identifying the key characteristics and pathways for developing successful mentoring relationships across race ethnicity or gender and by offering recommendations for institutional policy and individual mentoring practice For administrators and faculty concerned about diversity in graduate programs and academic departments they offer clear models of how to nurture the productive scholars and teachers needed for tomorrow's demographic of students for underrepresented students they offer compelling narratives about the rewards and challenges of good mentorship to inform their expectations and the relationships they will develop as protégés
