Arte y política en el cine de la República (1931-1939) José María Caparrós Lera, 1981 A History of Spanish Film

Sally Faulkner, 2013-04-11 A History of Spanish Film explores Spanish film from the beginnings of the industry to the present day by combining some of the most exciting work taking place in film studies with some of the most urgent questions that have preoccupied twentieth century Spain. It addresses new questions in film studies like prestige film and middlebrow cinema and places these in the context of a country defined by social mobility including the 1920s industrial boom, the 1940s post Civil War depression and the mass movement into the middle classes from the 1960s onwards. Close textual analysis of some 42 films from 1910-2010 provides an especially useful avenue into the study of this cinema for the student. Uniquely offers extensive close readings of 42 films which are especially useful to students and teachers of Spanish cinema. Analyses Spanish silent cinema and films of the Franco era as well as contemporary examples. Interrogates film's relations with other media including literature, pictorial art and television. Explores both auteur and popular cinemas. Establishes prestige and the middlebrow as crucial new terms in Spanish cinema studies. Considers the transnationality of Spanish cinema throughout its century of existence. Contemporary directors covered in this book include Almodóvar, Bolaño, Díaz Yanes and more. El teatro en Murcia durante la II República Fulgencio Martínez Lax, 1997 Cine (ins)urgente Isolina Ballesteros, 2001

Feminist Discourse and Spanish Cinema Susan Martin-Márquez, 1999 This work provides a detailed consideration of women directors working before the Civil War and during Franco's dictatorship and an exploration of the impact of feminism on filmmaking in Spain. Guide to the Cinema of Spain Marvin D'Lugo, 1997-11-25 This guide to Spanish film documents the film industry's interpretation of the isolating effects of the cultural traditionalism of the early twentieth century to the expanding international popularity of such films as Trueba's Belle Époque, Aranda's Amantes and Bigas Luna's Jamón Jamón and such actors as Victoria Abril, Carmen Maura and Antonio Banderas. This is the first volume in a new Greenwood series that discusses historically and critically films, directors and actors in film industries throughout the world. Each volume will include a detailed historical introduction and will provide an in-depth treatment of the most important films and individuals involved in the industry. End of entry bibliographies provide sources for further reading and appendixes provide additional useful information. The Guides will be valuable to scholars, students and film buffs. Spanish cinema is in many ways a microcosm of the tensions and conflicts that have shaped the evolution of the nation over the course of this century. Spanish film as a cultural institution is rarely divorced from the political and social currents that have shaped the larger Spanish culture torn as it was between tendencies of localism and internationalism. It languished in industrial and artistic underdevelopment for many years under Franco; it is now however experiencing international recognition while remaining rooted in the specificity of its own popular cultural styles. El cine en Pamplona durante la II República y la Guerra Civil, 1931-1939 Alberto Cañada Zarranz, 2005 Documenting Spain: Artists, Exhibition Culture, and the Modern Nation, 1929-1939, The news media have given us potent demonstrations of the ambiguity of ostensibly truthful representations of public events. Jordana Mendelson uses this ambiguity as a framework for the study of Spanish visual culture from 1929 to

1939 a decade marked on the one hand by dictatorship civil war and Franco's rise to power and on the other by a surge in the production of documentaries of various types from films and photographs to international exhibitions Mendelson begins with an examination of El Pueblo Español a model Spanish village featured at the 1929 International Exposition in Barcelona She then discusses Buñuel's and Dalí's documentary films relating them not only to French Surrealism but also to issues of rural tradition in the formation of regional and national identities Her highly original book concludes with a discussion of the 1937 Spanish Pavilion where Picasso's famed painting of the Fascist bombing of a Basque town Guernica was exhibited along with monumental photomurals by Josep Renau Based upon years of archival research Mendelson's book opens a new perspective on the cultural politics of a turbulent era in modern Spain It explores the little known yet rich intersection between avant garde artists and government institutions It shows as well the surprising extent to which Spanish modernity was fashioned through dialogue between the seemingly opposed fields of urban and rural fine art and mass culture

Cinema and the Swastika D. Welch, 2007-02-07 This is the first publication to bring together comparative research on the international expansion of Third Reich cinema This volume investigates various attempts to infiltrate economically politically and culturally the film industries of 20 countries and regions either occupied by friendly with or neutral towards Nazi Germany

Engaging the Emotions in Spanish Culture and History Luisa Elena Delgado, Pura Fernández, Jo Labanyi, 2021-04-30 Rather than being properties of the individual self emotions are socially produced and deployed in specific cultural contexts as this collection documents with unusual richness All the essays show emotions to be a form of thought and knowledge and a major component of social life including in the nineteenth century which attempted to relegate them to a feminine intimate sphere The collection ranges across topics such as eighteenth century sensibility nineteenth century concerns with the transmission of emotions early twentieth century cinematic affect and the contemporary mobilization of political emotions including those regarding nonstate national identities The complexities and effects of emotions are explored in a variety of forms political rhetoric literature personal letters medical writing cinema graphic art soap opera journalism popular music digital media with attention paid to broader European and transatlantic implications

Libertad de expresión cinematográfica durante la II República española, 1931-1936 Juan Antonio Martínez-Bretón, 2000 The Rise of Spanish-Language Filmmaking Lisa Jarvinen, 2012-06-05 Silent film was universally understood and could be exported anywhere But when talkies arrived the industry began experimenting with dubbing subtitling and dual track productions in more than one language Where language fractured the European film market for Spanish speaking countries and communities it created new opportunities In The Rise of Spanish Language Filmmaking Lisa Jarvinen focuses specifically on how Hollywood lost ground in the lucrative international Spanish speaking audience between 1929 and 1939 Hollywood studios initially trained cadres of Spanish speaking film professionals created networks among them and demonstrated the viability of a broadly conceived transnational Spanish speaking film market in an attempt to forestall the competition from other national film industries By the late 1930s these efforts led to unintended consequences and helped to foster the growth of remarkably robust film industries in Mexico Spain and Argentina Using studio records Jarvinen examines the lasting effects of the transition to sound on both Hollywood practices and cultural politics in the Spanish speaking world She shows through case studies based on archival research in the United States Spain and Mexico how language as a key marker of cultural identity led to new expectations from audiences and new possibilities for film producers

Visualizing Spanish Modernity Susan Larson, Eva Maria Woods, 2020-08-25 While the simultaneously creative and destructive forces of modernity in Western Europe have been well studied the case of Spain has often been overlooked Visualizing Spanish Modernity concentrates on the time period 1868 1939 which marks not only the beginning of the formation of a modern economy and the consolidation of the liberal state but also the growth of urban centers and spaces made possible by electricity transportation mass production and the emergence of an entertainment industry The authors examine how mass print culture early cinema popular drama photography fashion painting museums and urban planning played a role in the way that Spanish society saw itself and was in turn seen by the rest of the world Assessing how new cultural forms were instrumental in shaping Spaniards into citizens of the modern world the authors consider such subjects as the spectacle of the body notions of race and gender the changing meanings of time space and motion the relationship between technology and everyday life and popular culture
