Expressions of Place Marc Simpson, Andrea Henderson, Sally Mills, 1992 Expressions of Place Andrea Henderson, Sally Mills, Marc Simpson, 1992 The Grove Encyclopedia of American Art Joan M. Marter, 2011 Arranged in alphabetical order these 5 volumes encompass the history of the cultural development of America with over 2300 entries

Art Books Wolfgang M. Freitag, 2013-10-28 First published in 1997 For this second edition of Art Books A Basic Bibliography of Monographs on Artists the vast number of new books published since 1985 was surveyed and evaluated This has resulted in the selection of 3 395 additional titles These selections reflective of the increase in the monographic literature on artists during the last ten years are evidence of the activities of a larger number of art historians in more countries worldwide of the increasingly diverse and ambitious exhibition programs of museums whose number has also increased dramatically and also of a lively international art market and the attendant gallery activities The selections of the first edition have been reviewed errors have been corrected and important new editions and reprints have been noted The second edition contains 278 names of artists not represented in the first edition The Anatomy of Nature Rebecca Bedell, 2024-05-14 An illuminating account of the interplay between science religion and nature in nineteenth century landscape painting Geology was in vogue in nineteenth century America People crowded lecture halls to hear geologists speak and parlor mineral cabinets signaled social respectability and intellectual engagement This was also the heyday of the Hudson River School and many prominent landscape painters avidly studied geology Thomas Cole Asher Durand Frederic Church John F Kensett William Stanley Haseltine Thomas Moran and other artists read scientific texts participated in geological surveys and carried rock hammers into the field to collect fossils and mineral specimens As they crafted their paintings these artists drew on their geological knowledge to shape new vocabularies of landscape elements resonant with moral spiritual and intellectual ideas Rebecca Bedell contributes to current debates about the relationship among art science and religion by exploring this phenomenon She shows that at a time when many geologists sought to disentangle their science from religion American artists generally sidestepped the era s more materialist science particularly Darwinism They favored a conservative Christianized geology that promoted scientific study as a way to understand God Their art was both shaped by and sought to preserve this threatened version of the science And through their art they advanced consequential social developments including westward expansion scenic tourism the emergence of a therapeutic culture and the creation of a coherent and cohesive national identity This major study of the Hudson River School offers an unprecedented account of the role of geology in nineteenth century landscape painting It yields fresh insights into some of the most influential works of American art and enriches our understanding of the relationship between art and nature and between science and religion in the nineteenth century It will draw a broad audience of art historians Americanists historians of science and readers interested in the American natural landscape Nature and Culture : American Landscape and Painting, 1825-1875, With a New

Preface Barbara Novak Altschul Professor of Art History Barnard College and Columbia University (Emerita), 2007-01-05 In this richly illustrated volume featuring more than fifty black and white illustrations and a beautiful eight page color insert Barbara Novak describes how for fifty extraordinary years American society drew from the idea of Nature its most cherished ideals Between 1825 and 1875 all kinds of Americans artists writers scientists as well as everyday citizens believed that God in Nature could resolve human contradictions and that nature itself confirmed the American destiny Using diaries and letters of the artists as well as quotes from literary texts journals and periodicals Novak illuminates the range of ideas projected onto the American landscape by painters such as Thomas Cole Albert Bierstadt Frederic Edwin Church Asher B Durand Fitz H Lane and Martin J Heade and writers such as Ralph Waldo Emerson Henry David Thoreau and Frederich Wilhelm von Schelling Now with a new preface this spectacular volume captures a vast cultural panorama It beautifully demonstrates how the idea of nature served not only as a vehicle for artistic creation but as its ideal form An impressive achievement Barbara Rose The New York Times Book Review An admirable blend of ambition elan and hard research Not just an art book it bears on some of the deepest fantasies of American culture as a whole Robert Hughes Time Magazine Triptych, 1995 The Smith College Museum of Art Smith College. Museum of Art, John Davis, Jaroslav Leshko, 2000 Smith College art professors Davis and Leshko showcase 100 paintings and sculptures from their institution's vaunted collection encompassing Americans from Gilbert Stuart to Louise Nevelson and Europeans from Corot to Henry Moore In the introduction how and why Smith became steward of such a fine body of work is ascribed to the school's high minded mission and its generous alumni donors The rest of the book is divided into two sections one American and the other European Each individual full color reproduction is accompanied by an informative one page essay and a brief reading list During several years of renovations at Smith the items featured in this book are traveling to diverse sites which should increase the book's appeal 118 colour 1 b w illustrations Picturing New York Andrea Henderson, Vincent Katz, 2008 Celebrating the unique duality of New York City from its small neighbourhoods and intimate streets to its expansive open spaces and cloud catching skyscrapers this is a must have volume for contemporary art lovers anywhere Painting the Inhabited Landscape Margaretta M. Lovell, 2023-03-27 The impulse in much nineteenth century American painting and culture was to describe nature as a wilderness on which the young nation might freely inscribe its future the United States as a virgin land that is unploughed unfenced and unpainted Insofar as it exhibited evidence of a past its traces pointed to a geologic or cosmic past not a human one The work of the New England artist Fitz H Lane however was decidedly different In this important study Margaretta Markle Lovell singles out the more modestly scaled explicitly inhabited landscapes of Fitz H Lane and investigates the patrons who supported his career with an eye to understanding how New Englanders thought about their land their economy their history and their links with widely disparate global communities Lane's works depict nature as productive and allied in partnership with humans to create a sustainable balanced political economy What emerges from this close look at Lane s New England is a picture not of a virgin wilderness but of a land deeply resonant with its former uses and a human history that incorporates rather than excludes Native Americans as shapers of land and as agents in that history

Calling attention to unexplored dimensions of nineteenth century painting Painting the Inhabited Landscape is a major intervention in the scholarship on American art of the period examining how that body of work commented on American culture and informs our understanding of canon formation

Money in the Air Gail Feigenbaum, Sandra van Ginhoven, Edward Sterrett, 2024-06-25 This volume explores the crucial role of art dealers in creating a transatlantic art market in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries There was money in the air ever so much money wrote Henry James in 1907 reflecting on the American appetite for art acquisitions Indeed collectors such as Henry Clay Frick and Andrew W Mellon are credited with bringing noteworthy European art to the United States with their collections forming the backbone of major American museums today But what of the dealers who possessed the expertise in art and recognized the potential of developing a new market model on both sides of the Atlantic Money in the Air investigates the often overlooked role of these dealers in creating an international art world Contributors examine the histories of wellknown international firms like Duveen Brothers M Knoedler Co and Goupil Cie and their relationships with American clients as well as accounts of other remarkable dealers active in the transatlantic art market Drawing on dealer archives scholars reveal compelling findings including previously unknown partnerships and systems of cooperation This volume offers new perspectives on the development of art collections that formed the core of American art museums such as the National Gallery of Art the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Frick Collection
