Extinction A Story Of Our Future:

Extinction Margot Weiss,1996-08-01 Human Extinction Émile P. Torres,2023-06-15 This volume traces the origins and evolution of the idea of human extinction from the ancient Presocratics through contemporary work on existential risks Many leading intellectuals agree that the risk of human extinction this century may be higher than at any point in our 300 000 year history as a species This book provides insight on the key questions that inform this discussion including when humans began to worry about their own extinction and how the debate has changed over time It establishes a new theoretical foundation for thinking about the ethics of our extinction arguing that extinction would be very bad under most circumstances although the outcome might be on balance good Throughout the book graphs tables and images further illustrate how human choices and attitudes about extinction have evolved in Western history In its thorough examination of humanity s past this book also provides a starting point for understanding our future Although accessible enough to be read by undergraduates Human Extinction contains new and thought provoking research that will benefit even established academic philosophers and historians Catastrophes! Donald R. Prothero,2011-04-01 Devastating natural disasters have profoundly shaped human history leaving us with a respect for the mighty power of the earth and a humbling view of our future Paleontologist and geologist Donald R Prothero tells the harrowing human stories behind these catastrophic events Prothero describes in gripping detail some of the most important natural disasters in history the New Madrid Missouri earthquakes of 1811 1812 that caused church bells to ring in Boston the 2004 Indian Ocean tsunami that killed more than 230 000 people the massive volcanic eruptions of Krakatau Mount Tambora Mount Vesuvius Mount St Helens and Nevado del Ruiz His clear and straightforward explanations of the forces that caused these disasters accompany gut wrenching accounts of terrifying human experiences and a staggering loss of human life Floods that wash out whole regions earthquakes that level a single country hurricanes that destroy everything in their path all are here to remind us of how little control we have over the natural world Dramatic photographs and eyewitness accounts recall the devastation wrought by these events and the people both heroes and fools that are caught up in the earth s relentless forces Eerie fascinating and often moving these tales of geologic history and human fortitude and folly will stay with you long after you put the book down When the Asteroid Hits Allen A. Debus,2024-10-04 The incomprehensible notion of a very large chunk of ice or rock from outer space smashing into the Earth has only become mainstream within the past two centuries Though early writers imagined the utterly fantastic consequences of comet collisions and speculated on the devastation they might wreak it was not until the 1980s when scientists finally resolved that dinosaurs were extinguished by an asteroid 66 million years ago This startling announcement captivated the media and tilted the science fiction world but in reality history may have been punctuated repeatedly by such events This book collects and analyzes ideas of asteroid comet and planetary impacts with Earth spanning two centuries from the first realization of extinctions in fossil records to the new millennium reflected in scores of sci fi stories films and televised science documentaries The author examines social and geopolitical fears tied to the prospect of a cosmic borne catastrophe Science fiction and speculation are artfully melded Dystopias and Utopias on Earth and Beyond Douglas A. Vakoch,2021-04-29 Caught as we are in a grave climate crisis that seems more irreversible with every passing year our literary portrayals of the future often feature the dystopian collapse of the world as we know it Science fiction explores how we got here while pointing toward a more hopeful path forward From an ecofeminist perspective a core cause of our current ecological catastrophe is the patriarchal domination of nature playing out in parallel with the oppression of women As an alternative to dystopian futures that seem increasingly inevitable ecofeminist science fiction helps us conjure utopias that promote environmental sustainability based on more egalitarian human relationships Dystopias and Utopias on Earth and Beyond Feminist Ecocriticism of Science Fiction explores the fictional worlds of such canonical novelists as Margaret Atwood Octavia Butler Ursula K Le Guin Doris Lessing and Joan Slonczewski as well as those of lesser known science fiction writers as they collectively probe humanity s greatest existential threats Contributors from five continents provide compelling analyses of far future dystopias on Earth that are all too easy to imagine becoming reality if humankind s current trajectory continues as well as provocative insights into science fiction utopias set on idyllic planets orbiting distant stars which offer liberatory alternatives that might someday be actualized in the real world By examining the links between the destruction of the environment and the domination of women Dystopias and Utopias on Earth and Beyond provides the tools to counteract those intertwined oppressions helping create a foundation for a truly habitable world The Book of the End Pasquale De Marco,2025-08-14 The Book of the End is a journey to the end of all things From the end of our own lives to the end of the universe itself this book explores the scientific theories the religious beliefs and the philosophical musings on the end What does it mean to die What will it be like to experience the end of the world And what can we do to prepare for the inevitable These are the questions that this book will explore Pasquale De Marco offers a unique perspective on the end drawing on a wide range of sources to provide a comprehensive and thought provoking examination of this complex topic With insights from science religion philosophy and literature Pasquale De Marco offers a unique perspective on the end that will challenge your assumptions and leave you with a new understanding of this profound mystery This book is not a morbid meditation on death and destruction It is a celebration of life and a reminder that even in the face of the inevitable there is hope Pasquale De Marco offers a message of hope and comfort reminding us that the end is not something to be feared but something to be embraced The Book of the End is an essential read for anyone who has ever wondered about the meaning of life and death It is a book that will stay with you long after you finish reading it and a book that you will return to again and again If you like this book write a review The Humans Who Went Extinct ,2009-09-24 Just 28 000 years ago the blink of an eye in geological time the last of Neanderthals died out in their last outpost in caves near Gibraltar Thanks to cartoons and folk accounts we have a distorted view of these other humans for that is what they were We think of them as crude and clumsy and not very bright easily driven to extinction by the lithe smart modern humans that came out of Africa some 100 000 years ago But was it really as simple as that Clive Finlayson reminds us that the Neanderthals were another kind of human and their culture was not so very different from that of our own ancestors In this book he presents a wider view of the events that led to the migration of the moderns into Europe what might have happened during the contact of the two populations and what finally drove the Neanderthals to extinction It is a view that considers climate ecology and migrations of populations as well as culture and interaction His conclusion is that the destiny of the Neanderthals and the Moderns was sealed by ecological factors and contingencies It was a matter of luck that we survived and spread while the Neanderthals dwindled and perished Had the climate not changed in our favour some 50 million years ago things would have been very different There is much current research interest in Neanderthals much of it driven by attempts to map some of their DNA But it s not just a question of studying the DNA The rise and fall of populations is profoundly moulded by the larger scale forces of climate and ecology And it is only by taking this wider view that we can fully understand the course of events that led to our survival and their demise The fact that Neanderthals survived until virtually yesterday makes our relationship with them and their tragedy even more poignant They almost made it after all

Fiction and the Sixth Mass Extinction

Jonathan Elmore,2020-04-01 Fiction and the Sixth Mass Extinction is one of the first works to focus specifically on fiction s engagements with human driven extinction Drawing together a diverse group of scholars and approaches this volume pairs established voices in the field with emerging scholars and traditionally recognized climate fiction cli fi with texts and media typically not associated with Anthropocene fictions The result is a volume that both engages with and furthers existing work on Anthropocene fiction as well as laying groundwork for the budding subfield of extinction fiction This volume takes up the collective insistence on the centrality of story to extinction studies In various and disparate ways each chapter engages with the stories we tell about extinction about the extinction of animal and plant life and about the extinction of human life itself Answering the call to action of extinction studies these chapters explore what kinds of humanity caused this event and what kinds may live through it what cultural assumptions and values led to this event and which ones could lead out of it what relationships between human life and this planet allowed the sixth mass extinction and what alternative relationships could be possible

The Book of Becoming Ronald Alan Meakin,2015-12-11 Why is there something rather than nothing From the ancient text found on The Emerald Tablet the motion implicit in achieving higher levels of consciousness is explored through questions surrounding whether evolution proceeds through natural selection or by controlled design and whether the nature of evolution itself is changing Along our journey we ask whether Gaia theory can be extended beyond an earthly arena whether science and religion are really incompatible and how do paranormal experiences such as clairvoyance actually arise Considerations of free will choice the nature of time and virtue will lead us to identify the obstacles to be found in the way of our survival and whether or not we are capable of developing the means to prevent the extinction of the human race

Corridors to Extinction and the Australian Megafauna Steve Webb, 2013-02-27 Extinctions have always occurred and always will so what is so surprising about the megafauna extinctions They were caused by humans and were the first of many extinctions that eventually led to the extinction of the Moa Steller's Sea Cow the Dodo Great Auk and countless other species great and small all attributed to human agency Therefore the megafauna were humans first great impact on the planet There is now an increasing realization that the blitzkrieg view of these extinctions may have been wrong A growing body of evidence and long term field work is beginning to show that at least Australia's megafauna did not succumb to human agency not because humans probably did not hunt the odd animal but because the an infinitely more logical reason lies in the climatic conditions of the Quaternary Ice Ages and the affect they had on continental geography environment climate and most importantly the biogeography of the megafauna This book presents the evidence of this theory demonstrating the biogeographic approach to Australia's megafauna extinction Written clearly to benefit a diverse level of readers from those with a passing interest to professionals in the field Examines future climate change and its effects on the planet by looking at examples buried in the past Presents new evidence from extensive field research The Sixth Extinction Terry Glavin, 2025-08-22 The Sixth Extinction is a haunting account of the age in which we live Ecologists are calling it the Sixth Great Extinction and the world isn't losing just its ecological legacy also vanishing is a vast human legacy of languages and our ways of living seeing and knowing Terry Glavin confirms that we are in the midst of a nearly unprecedented catastrophic vanishing of animals plants and human cultures He argues that the language of environmentalism is inadequate in describing the unraveling of the vast system in which all these extinctions are actually related And he writes that we're no longer gaining knowledge with every generation We're losing it In the face of what he describes as a dark and gathering sameness upon the Earth Glavin embarks on a global journey to meet the very things we're losing a distinct species every ten minutes a unique vegetable variety every six hours an entire language every two weeks and on the way encounters some of the world's wonderful rare things a human sized salmon in Russia a mysterious Sino Tibetan song language a Malayan tiger the last of its kind and a strange tomato that tastes just like black cherry ice cream And he finds hope in the most unlikely places a macaw roost in Costa Rica a small village in Ireland a relic community of Norse whalers in the North Atlantic the vault beneath the Royal Botanical Garden at Kew and the throne room of the Angh of Longwa in the eastern Himalayas A fresh narrative take on the usual doom and gloom environmentalism The Sixth Extinction draws upon zoology biology ecology anthropology and mythology to share the joys hidden within the long human struggle to conserve the world's living things Here we find hope in what's left the absolute and stunning beauty in the Earth's last cultures and creatures Dinosaurs in Fantastic Fiction Allen A. Debus, 2006 This literary survey examines how paleoliterature originated developed and matured from its inception to the present day It follows trends on the crafting of classic dinosaurs investigating the figurative and metaphoric meaning of fictional dinosaurs and related prehistoria An appendix provides brief summaries of deserving dinosaur texts organized alphabetically by author Provided by publisher Another End of the World is Possible Pablo Servigne,Raphaël Stevens,Gauthier Chapelle,2020-11-18 The critical situation in which our planet finds itself is no longer in doubt Some things are already collapsing while others are beginning to do so increasing the possibility of a global catastrophe that would mean the end of the world as we know it As individuals we are faced with a daily deluge of bad news about the worsening situation preparing ourselves to live with years of deep uncertainty about the future of the planet and the species that inhabit it including our own How can we cope How can we project ourselves beyond the present think bigger and find ways not just to survive the collapse but to live it In this book the sequel to How Everything Can Collapse the authors show that a change of course necessarily requires an inner journey and a radical rethinking of our vision of the world Together these might enable us to remain standing during the coming storm to develop a new awareness of ourselves and of the world and to imagine new ways of living in it Perhaps then it will be possible to regenerate life from the ruins creating new alliances in differing directions with ourselves and our inner nature between humans with other living beings and with the earth on which we dwell Book of This Place Deborah J. Haynes,2009-09-01 The title of this engaging work emphasizes that the author lives works and creates art in this place a particular site in the foothills of the Colorado Rocky Mountains The subtitle indicates that place is the arena for investigating engagement with the land and nature art and creativity and spiritual life By exploring the significance of place in our fragmented world and by using her artistic practice as an example the author hopes to offer readers new definitions of the interrelationship of religion and art Haynes is the first to examine the intersection of these three themes which may be variously defined First the land and nature provide the literal site for the book and the language of ecology is woven throughout In the face of contemporary global crises Haynes believes that we have a moral imperative to address how we live and work in the physical environment Second visual art creativity and the creative process are discussed using historical and contemporary examples Haynes is a philosopher of art and an artist whose primary creative work involves carving marble and drawing Using her stone sculptures to frame the book s chapters she takes readers on a meandering journey into the history philosophy and practice of art Third the religious and spiritual life is highlighted with examples from both her practice of yoga and Buddhist meditation as well as from her work with hospice patients
