Rajasekhar, 2009-03-04 Stem cells appear to be fundamental cellular units associated with the origin of multicellular organisms and have evolved to function in safeguarding the cellular homeostasis in organ tissues The characteristics of stem cells that distinguish them from other cells have been the fascinating subjects of stem cell research The important properties of stem cells such as maintenance of quiescence self renewal capacity and differentiation potential have propelled this exciting field and presently form a common theme of research in developmental biology and medicine The derivation of pluripotent embryonic stem cells the prospective identification of multipotent adult stem cells and more recently the induced pluripotent stem cells popularly called iPS are important milestones in the arena of stem cell biology Complex networks of transcription factors different signaling molecules and the interaction of genetic and epigenetic events constantly modulate stem cell behavior to evoke programming and reprogramming processes in normal tissue homeostasis during development In any given cellular scenario the regulatory networks can pose considerable complexity and yet exert an orderly control of stem cell differentiation during normal development An aberration in these finely tuned processes during development usually results in a spectrum of diseases such as cancers and neurological disorders

This underscores the imminent need for a more complete understanding of molecular mechanisms underlying the regulatory circuitries required for stem cell maintenance Over the past 35 years a diverse group of bench and physician scientists have prospectively enhanced our knowledge of stem cell biology These studies are unveiling many unrecognized or previously unknown fundamentals of developmental biology Regulation of Adult

Perspectives in Genetic and Epigenetic Regulatory Mechanisms in Dental and Craniofacial Biology Weimin Lin,Dian Jing,Yunshu Wu,Long Guo,2023-12-29 Genetic factors have been proved to be involved in almost all dental and craniomaxillofacial diseases Typical dental and craniomaxillofacial hereditary diseases refer to hereditary diseases which occurs in the oral and maxillofacial area as well as systemic or other system hereditary diseases accompanied by oral abnormality The former includes enamel hypoplasia dentin hypoplasia and cleft lip and palate which mainly occur in the oral cavity While the latter commonly includes cranial clavicle hypoplasia congenital ectodermal hypoplasia osteogenesis imperfecta and osteosclerosis In addition common diseases that appear locally in the oral cavity including caries periodontitis oral mucosal diseases and head and neck tumors are also considered to be related to genetic variations With the increase of large scale genome wide association analysis study GWAS during the last decade common loci for many genetic diseases have been identified To date most evidence comes from GWAS of dental caries and periodontal disease which have tested associations between millions of single nucleotide polymorphisms SNPs and typical binary phenotypes However genetic loci for other rare oral diseases remain to be studied due to their large variety and low incidence Multi omics sequencing technology provides a more powerful tool for identifying the pathogenic genes of dental and craniomaxillofacial hereditary diseases at genomic transcriptomic and proteomic level In addition with the development of single cell multi omics technology specific cell populations involved in the pathogenesis of dental and craniomaxillofacial hereditary disease can be more accurately identified at single cell resolution
