Ezra Pound Reads Selected Cantos high Selwynmauberleycantico Del Solemoeurs Contemporaines:

Selected Cantos of Ezra Pound Ezra Pound, 1970 This selection from the Cantos was made by Ezra Pound himself in 1965. It is intended to indicate main elements in the long poem, his personal epic with which he was engaged for more than fifty years. His choice includes of course a number of the Cantos most admired by critics and anthologists such as Canto XIII Kung Confucius walked by the dynastic temple, Canto XLV With usura hath no man a house of good stone and the passage from The Pisan Cantos LXXXI beginning What thou lovest well remains the rest is dross and so the book is an ideal introduction for newcomers to the great work. But it has too particular interest for the already initiated reader and the specialist in its revelation through Pound's own selection of main elements of the relative importance which he himself placed on various motifs as they figure in the architecture of the whole poem. Ezra Pound Reading His Poetry Ezra Pound, 1958

Guide to Ezra Pound's Selected Cantos George Kearns, 1980 A Guide to the Cantos of Ezra Pound William Cookson, 2001 In this essential guide to one of the most difficult yet rewarding poems of the twentieth century William Cookson, who began corresponding with Pound as a schoolboy in 1957, draws on a deep and intimate knowledge of Pound's life and work. This edition incorporates much new information and has been substantially revised and expanded. William Cookson gives lucid critical overviews to the various sections of the poem, clarifying its purpose and structure and explaining the views on literature, history and economics that inform Pound's poetry. His detailed commentary on each canto addresses the major stumbling blocks for readers by translating foreign phrases, identifying quotations and explaining allusions.
