Extraordinary Results From Ordinary Teacher Learning To Teach As Jesus Taught:

Integrating Faith and Special Education Bennett Nworie, 2016-10-10 There is an inherent connection between the Christian faith and special education For example both focus on the worth of the individual Both also focus on fairness and on caring for or helping the weak Similarly both aim to equip and support others This book helps the readers perceive this integral relationship that exists between the Christian faith and the special education discipline This book utilizes the chapters that stem from real life professional experiences and scholarship of the contributors to model and encourage special education practice from a Christian faith angle It is our view that special education practiced from this faith perspective will transform what is currently accepted as best practice into a new system of special education experience that is wholesome biblically based and characteristic of Shalom as wholeness not just peace Shalom in this sense has strong relevance in both the Christian faith and special education The first three chapters highlight the connection between special education and Christian theology and draw attention to the pivotal role worldview plays in being an effective special educator The bulk of the body of the text looks at different aspects of instructional effectiveness in special education from a Christian faith perspective

Faith-Based Education That Constructs HeeKap Lee, 2010-08-09 Constructivism is everywhere It is a hot issue at this time in the field of philosophy education technology and religion However can constructivism be an alternative approach in faith based education While some conclude that Jesus knew learning was an active knowledge creating process and that he always encouraged his disciples to think deeply and go beyond the surface level others would find that constructivism undercuts faith based education because of its claims to relativity For example constructivists claim that meaning is imposed on the world by us rather than existing in the world independently from us Thus they proclaim that truth is relative to particular times places and people Christians hold that truth does exist absolutely So how can there be a way forward for faith based educators who see the good in the constructivist approach In Faith Based Education that Constructs readers will find a unique approach whereby constructivism may appropriately be applied to a faith based education setting Although disagreement can occur between constructivism and faith based education this book concludes that constructivist thought and Christian faith based education are in the end congruent and harmonious in significant ways Those faith based educators who continue to hold cautionary views of radical constructivist assertions against absolute truths need not disregard all other aspects of constructivism
