The Intellectual in Twentieth-Century Southern Literature Tara Powell,2012-01-09 Never in its long history has the South provided an entirely comfortable home for the intellectual In this thought provoking contribution to the field of southern studies Tara Powell considers the evolving ways that major post World War II southern writers have portrayed intellectuals from Flannery O Connor s ironic view of interleckchuls to Gail Godwin s southerners striving to feel at home in the academic world Although Walker Percy like his fellow Catholic writer O Connor explicitly rejected the intellectual label for himself he nonetheless introduced the modern novel of ideas to southern letters Powell shows by placing sympathetic non caricatured intellectuals at the center of his influential works North Carolinians Doris Betts and her student Tim McLaurin made their living teaching literature and creative writing in academia and Betts s fiction often includes dislocated academics while McLaurin s superb memoirs often funny frequently point up the limitations of the mind as opposed to the heart and the spirit Examining works by Ernest Gaines Alice Walker and Randall Kenan Powell traces the evolution of the black American literacy narrative from a stress on the post Emancipation conviction which saw formal education as an essential means of resisting oppression to the growing suspicion in the post civil rights era of literacy acts that may estrange educated blacks from the larger black community Powell concludes with Godwin who embraces university life in her fiction as she explores what it means to be a southern female intellectual in the modern world a world in which all those markers inscribe isolation

The Roots of Southern Writing C. Hugh Holman,2008 At the heart of the southern riddle you will find a union of opposites a condition of instability a paradox Calm grace and raw hatred Polished manners and violence An intense individualism and intense group pressures toward conformity A reverence to the point of idolatry of self determining action and a caste and class structure presupposing an aristocratic hierarchy A passion for political action and a willingness to surrender to the enslavement of demagogues A love of the nation intense enough to make the South's fighting men notorious in our wars and the advocacy of interposition and of the public defiance of national law A region breeding both Thomas Jefferson and John C Calhoun If these contradictions are to be brought in focus if these ambiguities are to be resolved it must be through the reconciliation of opposites And the reconciliation of opposites as Coleridge has told us is the function of the poet So begins the first of these seventeen penetrating essays drawn from long and fruitful reflection of southern life and art by C Hugh Holman Professor Holman maintains that there is a congeries of characteristics identifiably present in much southern writing and he astutely defines them in this collection William Gilmore Simms Ellen Glasgow Thomas Wolfe William Faulkner and Flannery O Connor are treated at length Among the other authors considered in terms of their roles in the making of the southern mind are James Branch Cabell T S Stripling Erskine Caldwell and Robert Penn Warren The essays strike a fine balance between general overview and specific analysis and they are so arranged as to make a unified study which forms a significant chapter in the intellectual history of the South Professor Holman asserts that out of the cauldron of the South's experience the southern writer has fashioned tragic grandeur and given it as a gift to his fellow Americans It is possible that no other southern accomplishment will equal it in enduring importance As urbanization and industrialism conspire to write an Epitaph for Dixie its greatest contribution to mankind may well be the lesson of its history and the drama of its suffering In these superb essays the author makes a convincing argument for that position

Inventing Southern Literature

Michael Kreyling, 2009-11-12 Winner of the 1997 Eudora Welty Prize I take an outward route arguing that the Agrarian project was and must be seen as a willed campaign on the part of one elite to establish and control the South in a period of intense cultural maneuvering The principal organizers of I'll Take My Stand knew full well there were other Souths than the one they touted they deliberately presented a fabricated South as the one and only real thing In Inventing Southern Literature Michael Kreyling casts a penetrating ray upon the traditional canon of southern literature and questions the modes by which it was created He finds that it was indeed an invention rather than a creation In the 1930s the foundations were laid by the Fugitive Agrarian group a band of poet critics that wished not only to design but also to control the southern cultural entity in a conservative political context From their heyday to the present Kreyling investigates the historical conditions under which literary and cultural critics have invented the South and how they have chosen its representations Through his study of these choices Kreyling argues that interested groups have shaped meanings that preserve a South as the South As the Fugitive Agrarians molded the region according to their definition in I'll Take My Stand they professed to have developed a critical method that disavowed any cultural or political intent or content a claim that Kreyling disproves He shows that their torch was taken by Richard Weaver on the Right and Louis D Rubin Jr on the Center Left and that both critics tried to preserve the Fugitive Agrarian credo despite the severe stresses imposed during the era of desegregation As the southern literary paradigm has been attacked and defended certain issues have remained in the forefront Kreyling takes on three reconciling the imperatives of race with the traditional definitions of the South testing the ways white women writers of the South have negotiated space within or outside the paradigm and analyzing the critics use and abuse of William Faulkner the major figure of southern literature as they have relied on his achievement to anchor the total project called Southern Literature

Southern Writers at Century's End Jeffrey J. Folks, James A. Perkins, 2021-12-14 Since the end of World War II the South has experienced a greater awareness of growth and of its accompanying tensions than other regions of the United States The rapid change that climaxed with the war in Vietnam the Cold War civil rights demonstrations and Watergate has forced the traditional South to come to terms with social upheaval As the essays collected in Southern Writers at Century's End point out southern writing since 1975 reflects the confusion and violence that have characterized late twentieth century public culture These essays consider the work of twenty one of the foremost southern writers whose most important fiction has appeared in the last quarter of this century As the region's contemporary writers have begun to gain a wide audience critics have begun to distinguish what Hugh Holman has called the fresh the vital and the new in southern literary culture Southern Writers at Century's End is the first volume to take an extensive look at the current generation of southern writers Authors considered include James Lee Burke Fred Chappell Robert Drake Andre Dubus Clyde Edgerton Richard Ford Kaye Gibbons John Grisham Barry Hannah Mary Hood Josephine Humphreys Randall Kenan Richard Marius Bobbie Ann Mason Cormac McCarthy Tim McLaurin T R Pearson Lee Smith Anne Tyler Alice Walker and James Wilcox

The South African Short Story in English, 1920-2010 Marta Fossati, 2024-09-05 Through detailed close readings alongside investigations into the history of print culture Marta Fossati traces the development of the South African short story in English from the late 1920s to the first decade of the twenty first century She examines a selection of short stories by important Black South African writers Rolfe and Herbert Dhlomo Peter Abrahams Can Themba Alex La Guma Mtutuzeli Matshoba Ahmed Essop and Zo Wicomb with an alertness to the dialogue between ethics and aesthetics performed by these texts This new history of Black short fiction

problematises and interrogates the often polarised readings of Black literature in South Africa that can be torn between notions of literariness protest and journalism Due to material constraints short fiction in South Africa circulated first and foremost through local print media which Fossati analyses in detail to show the cross fertilisation between journalism and the short story While rooted in the South African context the short stories considered also hold a translocal dimension allowing us to explore the ethical and aesthetic practice of intertextuality These are writings that complicate the aesthetics ethics binary generic classifications and the categories of the literary and the political Theoretically eclectic in its approach although largely underpinned by a narratological analysis The South African Short Story in English 1920-2010 When Aesthetics Meets Ethics offers a fresh perspective on the South African short story in English spotlighting several hitherto marginalised figures in South African literary studies

Alderman, Joel Chandler Harris, Charles W. Kent, Charles Alphonso Smith, Lucian Lamar Knight, 1909 Defining Southern Literature John Earl Bassett, 1997 Defining Southern Literature delineates several phases in the story of Southern literature Debate over what makes Southern literature different or even Southern goes back many decades and among the answers has been the debate itself a uniquely pervasive regional self consciousness over what makes Southern culture different Certainly no other American region has been so distinctly marked as the South has Attempts to delineate the special mission nature problems and virtues of Southern writers can be traced back at least to the 1830s when editors called with only slight success for a sectional literature and more supportive Southern readers
