Under Construction: Logics of Urbanism in the Gulf Region Steffen Wippel, Katrin Bromber, Birgit Krawietz, 2016-02-17 Interdisciplinary in approach this volume explores and deciphers the symbolic value and iconicity of the built environment in the Arab Gulf Region its aesthetics language and performative characteristics Bringing together a range of studies by artists curators and scholars it demonstrates how Dubai appeared at least until the financial crisis to be leading the construction race and has already completed a large number of its landmark architecture and strategic facilities In contrast cities like the Qatari capital Doha still appear to be heavily under construction and in countries like the Sultanate of Oman ultra luxury tourism projects were started only recently While the construction of artificial islands theme parks and prestige sport facilities has attracted considerable attention much less is known about the region's widespread implementation of innovative infrastructure such as global container ports free zones inter island causeways and metro lines This volume argues that these endeavours are not simply part of a strategy to prepare for the post oil era for future economic survival and prosperity in the Lower Gulf region but that they are also aiming to strengthen identitarian patterns and specific national brands In doing so they exhibit similar yet remarkably diverse modes of engaging with certain global trends and present questionably distinct ideas for putting themselves on the global map Each country aims to grab attention with regard to the world wide flow of goods and capital and thus provide its own citizens with a socially acceptable trajectory for the future By doing that the countries in the Gulf are articulating a new semiotic and paradigm of urban development For the first time this volume maps these trends in their relation to architecture and infrastructure in particular by treating them as semiotics in their own right It suggests that recent developments in this region of the world not only represent

The New Institutional Economics and Third World Development John Harriss, Janet Hunter, Colin M. The Origins and Use of the Potter's Wheel in Ancient Egypt Sarah Doherty, 2015-02-06 Despite many years work on the technology of pottery production it is perhaps surprising that the origins of the potter's wheel in Egypt have yet to be determined This volume seeks to rectify this situation by determining when the potter's wheel was introduced into Egypt     The Economics of Middle East Peace Stanley Fischer, Dani Rodrik, Elias H. Tuma, 1993 This landmark collection of essays addresses the question Given peace in the Middle East then what Focusing on the countries most immediately affected by the Arab Israeli conflict economists representing Egypt Israel Jordan Lebanon and the Occupied Territories offer differing perspectives on potential opportunities and difficulties and on the actions that would be required to redirect rejuvenate and sustain the economies of the region The book opens with case studies of Egypt Syria Lebanon Israel Jordan and the West Bank and Gaza Strip It then examines overall regional issues such as the economic consequences of peace and the economic reforms needed to maximize peace dividends Essays in the last part focus on the transition to peace and the future economic development of the Palestinian Israeli Jordanian and other regional economies Topics addressed include the relation of defense spending to the economy the implications of a peace for trade across borders the benefits of economic cooperation between Israelis and Palestinians and the role of foreign aid in economic reconstruction in the Middle East Stanley Fischer is Professor of Economics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Dani Rodrik is Associate Professor of Public Policy at the Kennedy School Harvard University Elias Tuma is Professor of Economics at the University of California Davis     The Political Economy of Transitions to Peace Galia Press-Barnathan, 2009-07-05 Much attention has focused on the ongoing role of economics in the prevention of armed conflict and the deterioration of relations In The Political Economy of Transitions to Peace Galia Press Barnathan focuses on the importance of economics in initiating and sustaining peaceful relations after conflict Press Barnathan provides in depth case studies of several key relationships in the post World War II era Israel and Egypt Israel and Jordan Japan the Philippines and Indonesia Japan and South Korea Germany and France and Germany and Poland She creates an analytical framework through which to view each of these cases based on three factors the domestic balance between winners and losers from transition to peace the economic disparity between former enemies and the impact of third parties on stimulating new cooperative economic initiatives Her approach provides both a regional and cross regional comparative analysis of the degree of success in maintaining and advancing peace of the challenges faced by many nations in negotiating peace after conflict and of the unique role of economic factors in this highly political process Press Barnathan employs both liberal and realist theory to examine the motivations of these states and the societies they represent She also weighs their power relations to see how these factor into economic interdependence and the peace process She reveals the predominant role of the state and big business in the initial transition phase cold peace but also identifies an equally vital need for a subsequent broader societal coalition in the second normalizing phase warm peace Both levels of engagement Press Barnathan argues are essential to a durable peace Finally she points to the complex role that third parties can play in these transitions and the limited long term impact of direct economic side payments to the parties
