Economic Report On Africa 2004 Unlocking Africas Trade Potential:

Economic Report on Africa, 2004 United Nations. Economic Commission for Africa, 2004 The Economic Report on Africa 2004 is the fifth in an annual series that reviews the continent's economic performance and near term prospects In 2003 Africa was the second fastest growing developing region with real GDP growth of 3.8 per cent driven by higher oil prices and production rising commodity prices increased foreign direct investment FDI better macroeconomic management and good weather conditions But the report takes the view that OECD trade policies are a serious constraint to Africa's integration into the global economy African exports have been handicapped by industrial country policies such as tariff escalation tariff peaks and agricultural protectionism Africa's share in world merchandise exports fell from 6.3 per cent in 1980 to 2.5 per cent in 2000 in value terms But the report also argues that strengthening Africa's supply side capacity is essential to more successful integration into the global economy Weak infrastructure poor trade facilitation services and inadequate physical and human capital are impediments to the development of Africa's export sectors Faster overall growth is needed if Africa is to make progress toward achieving the Millennium Development Goal of halving poverty by 2015

Economic Liberalisation and Development in Africa Jomo Kwame Sundaram, 2008 Annotation Sundaram notes that over three decades of economic stagnation contraction and increased poverty have taken a huge toll on Africa's economic social and political fabric and proactive efforts are urgently required in order to build new capacities and capacity African Economic Development Steven Langdon, Archibald R.M. Trade and Industrial Development in Africa Moyo, Theresa,2015-03-02 This book revisits the perennial challenge that scholars economists and politicians have been grappling with since the 1960s Development in this book has been defined in a context that projects it as a multidimensional and complex process which seeks to enhance the human social economic and cultural welfare of the people This book calls for a rethinking of trade and industry for Africa s development It uses data drawn from national development plans and strategies and trade and industry issues have been prioritized at the continental level in key policy documents On the whole Africa s industry and trade performance have been poor in spite of national regional and continental plans The contributors to this volume propose some alternative strategies and policies which are necessary for trade and industry to grow and to contribute to the well being of Africa s people It calls for a developmental trade and industry policy which fundamentally must be people centred African states should invest time energy and resources to develop policies which will take into consideration African realities The different contributors are aware that Africa has experienced strong economic growth in the recent past but this growth has largely been due to a strong demand for Africa s primary commodity exports It has also been a result of increases in productivity and domestic investment and remittances from Africans living in the Diaspora It is important to note that despite this unprecedented growth performance the impact of trade and industry on development has been limited The book argues that a structural transformation of Africa s economies is inevitable if Africa is to achieve the shift from the dominant paradigm of production and export of primary goods The various contributors to this book agree that there is need to rethink policy and strategy in order to achieve industrial development in Africa There is no unique solution or answer that can fit all situations as African countries are not the same While Africa can draw lessons from other regions which have successfully industrialized this book argues that policies and strategies will have to be adapted to country specific situations and circumstances

Sub-Saharan Africa: Effects of Infrastructure Conditions on Export Competitiveness, Third Annual Report, Inv. 332-477 , Nation-states and the challenges of regional integration in West Africa Kwame A. Ninsin,2009 Since the Treaty establishing the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS was signed in 1975 several protocols have been adopted providing the legal and institutional framework for implementing the integration of the West African sub region. All social and political stakeholders agree that regional integration is a major challenge for development in West Africa. Yet the regional integration process has been affected by many delays even failures. Member states have pursued a seemingly contradictory dual objective: build a Nation state within colonial Borders and achieve regional integration to fight against under development. Can national planning priorities be reconciled with the demands and objectives of regional integration processes in West Africa? Since 2005 under the auspices of the Management of Social Transformations MOST Programme initiative the Social and Human Sciences Sector of UNESCO has organized a series of national seminars on West African regional integration in the ECOWAS region. Four seminars have so far been organized in Senegal, Mali, Benin and Ghana. This anthology publishes papers presented at Ghana's national seminar on Nation states and the Challenge of Regional Integration in West Africa, the Case of Ghana, held in Accra from 8 to 9 November 2005. The contributors suggest that Ghana's reluctance to relinquish its sovereignty stemmed from a lack of commitment in the first 20 years of ECOWAS existence and preoccupation with its own security and survival against internal and external threats. The state has currently demonstrated renewed commitment by establishing a Ministry of Regional Cooperation and the New Agenda for Africa's Development NEPAD to coordinate and manage the sub regional integration programme. In spite of positive developments results have been disappointing. The new ministry remains isolated and is constrained by limited resources in finance and manpower. Its approach to integration issues has been elitist and technocratic, concentrating on formal trade and ignoring the importance of the informal trade that has been the traditional means of popular participation in the integration of West African economies. Borderland communities with economic and social ties continue to engage in exchanges across political boundaries in defiance of national and state security concerns. Empowerment of Ghanaians involved in small scale informal cross border trade in majority women would not only increase the levels of social and economic integration but would make the benefits of integration available to large sections of the population. Regional Trade Integration, Economic Growth and Poverty Reduction in Southern Africa Moses Tekere, 2012-12-27. Despite a long history of regional integration and a multiplicity of regional organisations in southern Africa the effect of regional integration on economic growth and poverty reduction remains debatable or elusive. This causes many to doubt whether regional integration is in actual fact an effective poverty reduction strategy. Accordingly the focus of this book is to explore and analyse whether specific Southern African Development Community SADC trade integration policies especially the trade liberalisation regime have produced economic growth and reduced poverty in the region. While it is generally agreed that economic growth is the panacea to poverty reduction there is little evidence as to whether regional integration in Africa is associated with economic growth in the countries concerned and subsequently leads to poverty reduction. The book makes recommendations on how the SADC FTAs can contribute to poverty reduction and socioeconomic development and goes on to suggest policy proposals on how to enhance the contribution of the FTAs to poverty eradication and economic development It also identifies specific activities to be undertaken to enable supply side and productive competitiveness interventions to support the FTAs and contribute to economic development The potential constraints and negative impacts of the FTAs are investigated and highlighted and possible solutions are recommended and motivated The New Public Finance Inge Kaul, Pedro Conceicao, 2006-02-23 Globalisation has meant the closer integration of countries and a greater need for collective action This book which contains 24 essays from contributors from around the world provides one of the first systematic treatments of public finance in this new era It deals with such topics as increasing aid efficiency public private cooperation and competition and taking the outside world into consideration Labour and Social Issues Arising from Problems of Cross-border Mobility of International Drivers in the Road Transport Sector, 2006 Examines labour and social issues arising from problems of cross border mobility of international drivers in the road transport sector with an emphasis on promoting HIV AIDS prevention non discrimination visa issues improving the efficiency and effectiveness of cross border road transport operations and the living and working conditions of international drivers India, China and Globalization P. Mahtaney, 2007-11-12 The momentum of economic progress in India and China will bring about the next major shift in geopolitics This book analyzes the economic experience of both countries in the context of development and globalization and offers insights that could be crucial for development thinking Betrayed S. Kaplan, 2013-11-26 Betrayed takes a new approach to the subject of global poverty one that doesn't blame the West but also doesn't rely on the West for solutions Betrayed puts the poor themselves at center stage and shows how their entrepreneurial energies are shackled by political and social discrimination When these shackles are removed as is happening in places such as China and Vietnam the poor are able to seize opportunities and drive wealth creation Combining the latest research into poverty and state building with the author's personal observations drawn from years running businesses in the developing world Betrayed explains how leaders in the developing world can build more inclusive societies and more equitable governments thereby creating dynamic national economies and giving the poor the opportunity to accumulate the means and skills to control their own destinies This refreshing new approach will appeal to business people who are fed up with reading critiques of global poverty that see capitalism as the problem not the solution people in both the global North and South who want to see attention focused not on Western aid but on what developing countries and their citizens can do to help themselves scholars and practitioners in the development field who are looking for new practicable ideas and general readers who want accessible and engaging accounts of ordinary people struggling to overcome poverty
