Competing for Capital Kenneth P. Thomas, 2000-10-19 As corporations search for new production sites governments compete furiously using location subsidies and tax incentives to lure them Yet underwriting big business can have its costs reduction in economic efficiency shifting of tax burdens worsening of economic inequalities or environmental degradation

Competing for Capital is one of the first books to analyze competition for investment in order to suggest ways of controlling the effects of capital mobility Comparing the European Union's strict regulation of state aid to business with the virtually unregulated investment competition in the United States and Canada Kenneth P Thomas documents Europe's relative success in controlling and decreasing subsidies to business even while they rise in the United States Thomas provides an extensive history of the powers granted to the EU's governing European Commission for controlling subsidies and draws on data to show that those efforts are paying off In reviewing trends in North America he offers the first comprehensive estimate of U S subsidies to business at all levels to show that the United States is a much higher subsidizer than it portrays itself as being Thomas then suggests what we might learn from the European experience to control the effects of capital mobility not only within or between states but also globally within NAFTA and the World Trade Organization as well He concludes with policy recommendations to help promote international cooperation and cross fertilization of ways to control competition for investment

Weaponizing EU State Aid Law to Impact the Future of EU Investment Policy in the Global Context Pamela Finckenberg-Broman, 2022-09-28 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of how EU state aid law is shaping the future of EU investment policy in a global context It examines in detail how EU state aid policy and practice interact with the EU investment regime on the internal market and affect the external trade relations of the Member States and the EU alike The debate this book engages in concerns competence i e which body delineates the scope of state aid law and policy now and in the future when and where it intersects and collides with another distinct legal field investment protection Pursuing a doctrinal approach to the topic in the light of EU law and international law the book analyses the interaction of the EU's trade state aid and investment policy This is done by posing the following research question How is EU state aid law shaping the future of EU investment policy in a global context Further the book puts forward three corresponding arguments First this influence can be seen in the EU's incorporation of clauses promoting fair competition and state aid policy in international trade agreements Second EU state aid law and policy contributed to recent internal developments which led the Member States to terminate their bilateral agreements with each other intra EU

BITs by the end of 2019 Third the EU has been working to replace the BITs between its Member States and third countries extra EU BITs with its own trade agreements which are aligned with EU legislation This combined analysis of EU law and international law yields a number of interesting conclusions The book addresses a highly topical and rapidly evolving area of EU law and international investment law It is also the first book to provide a comprehensive approach to the interplay of state aid rules and EU investment policy internally and externally i e within the EU and on a global scale As such it closes an important gap in the extant literature on international and EU law

The European Automobile Industry William A. Maloney, Andrew McLaughlin, 2005-07-08 This book presents an analysis of some of the changes that have transformed the automobile industry in the last thirty years illustrating some of the most significant consequences of globalization Focusing on the response of Europe s policy makers it analyzes government industry relations at both national and transnational levels demonstrating how national policy instruments have been eroded by regional political and economic integration There has been a significant and irreversible shift in the locus of decision making power from nation states to the regional level in the automobile sect

Vehicle of Influence Roland Francis Stephen, 2009-12-21 This study examines a crucial period in European integration ending in the early 1990s when significant progress was made towards the dream of a unified European market It shows how European automakers were part of these changes and how their influence within the institutions of the European Union EU yielded a wide range of policy compromises governing a single European car market The book begins by reviewing the history of the EU and the logic of regional free trade and goes on to develop a political explanation for the kinds of changes that actually occurred The author argues that European automakers enjoyed a privileged place in the political arena albeit one much transformed by the new institutions of the EU Therefore these firms often significantly influenced regional policy outcomes The argument is applied to policymaking in the important areas of environmental regulation trade subsidies and anti trust regulation This work lies at the intersection of business economics and political science and is of interest to both experts and non specialists with an interest in the tremendous economic and political changes brought about by the creation of a united Europe and more generally by the worldwide process of regional economic integration Academics professionals businessmen and leaders in government all have something to learn from the way in which firms and governments combined to build the largest car market in the world Roland Stephen is Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Science North Carolina State University

The Concept of State Aid Under EU Law Juan Jorge Piernas López, 2015-08-06 How has the evolution and transformation of the Common Market affected the legal concept of State aid How has State aid adapted to the development of the European Union These questions and more are answered in Juan Jorge Piernas López s examination of the historical political constitutional and economical events that have affected the development of State aid in the EU Examining three key interwoven arguments this book provides a richer understanding of current formulas which depict the concept of aid through the prism of policy and enforcement considerations First the book demonstrates that the concept of aid is a living instrument that has been applied in accordance with the main policy priorities of the European Commission Second contrary to what has been affirmed in other literature the evolution of this concept has been influenced by the broader advancement of the case law of the Court of Justice in different periods of the integration process Third the author contends that the study of the evolution of the concept of aid in light of policy and case law provides a holistic outlook valuable to the decision making process of difficult cases In this regard the book provides criteria to interpret and discuss cases including Slooman, Neptun, Philip Morris and Azores beyond the analysis traditionally adopted in this field

State Aid and the European Economic Constitution Francesco de Cecco, 2012-12-14 Recent years have seen the rise of EU State aid law as a crucial component of the European economic constitution To date however the literature has neglected the contribution of this area of EU law to the internal market This book seeks to fill this gap in our understanding of the economic constitution by exploring the significance of State aid law in addressing questions that go to the core of the internal market project It does so by examining the case law relating to three different activities that Member States engage in market participation market regulation and funding for Services of General Economic Interest Each of these areas offers insights into fundamental questions surrounding the economic constitution such as the separation between the State and the market the scope for Member States to engage in regulatory competition and the tension between market and nonmarket concerns

Bargaining with Multinationals H. Loewendahl, 2001-07-19 In Bargaining with Multinationals Loewendahl scrutinises the relationship between multinational companies regional development and governments using an international political economy framework of bargaining between government and multinationals He critically analyses the role of foreign investment in economic development and examines how governments can link inward investment to regional economic development Based on extensive use of data interviews and case studies of Siemens and Nissan s UK investment the book shows why MNCs have invested in the UK in the past how they bargained with the government and what the impact was on the national and regional economies In particular through linking the strategy of multinationals to the location advantages of the UK it is argued that labour flexibility and incentives were crucial to investment decisions Loewendahl recommends a framework to integrate endogenous and exogenous approaches to developments and proposes a greater role for the region and the EU to control incentives and monitor multinationals exemption in June 2014 The book highlights the main aspects of this sector reform which include the Commission's change of attitude towards so called positive aid i.e. those able to promote economic growth and the intention to focus on matters of greater systematic extent These objectives also imply a third aspect increasing the intensity of the control powers conferred on the Commission with regard to that aid that prove to be harmful to competition and the internal market The book also examines the greater responsibility given to States for self assessment of their economic policy measures and explores the resulting impact on and challenges posed to the administrations of the Member States The book's second part is devoted to the application State aid rules in the area of services of general economic interest with a special focus on aid in the field of social health and infrastructure

EU State Aid Law Pier Luigi Parcu, Giorgio Monti, Marco Botta, 2020-02-28. The recent State Aid Modernization has decentralized the enforcement of State aid law. In particular, under the General Block Exemption Regulation, a number of aid schemes do not require the preventive check by the European Commission, while national courts play a growing role in private enforcement of State aid law. This insightful book analyzes the enforcement of State aid law in the aftermath of the State Aid Modernization, identifying a number of emerging trends at the national and EU level. Renewable Energy Sources

Lise Bosman, 2013-01-06. In recent years, African countries have taken great strides in their response to the demand for reliable contractual and institutional forms of doing business and for high quality dispute resolution mechanisms. Modern international arbitration has taken root with certain countries actively embracing modern harmonized arbitral practice and others in the process of change and development. This unprecedented volume assembles for the first time a country-by-country analysis, both practical and insightful, of how arbitration is conducted in 46 African countries, providing essential information about legislative provisions, treaty adherence, and arbitral procedure. Contributors include current and former judges, distinguished practitioners, academics, and institution builders, all of whom are active in promoting the use of arbitration as a viable means of dispute resolution in Africa. Five sections, representing the main regions of the continent, each with a substantive introductory chapter covering the major trends within that region, offer country overviews addressing issues such as the following: adherence to the key arbitration conventions; the modernity of a State's arbitration legislation and its compatibility with the UNCITRAL Model Law; particular features of arbitral practice in that jurisdiction; access to and where available, statistics from local and regional arbitral institutions; significant arbitration-related national case law and enforcement of foreign arbitral awards. A sixth section focuses on Africa-based investor-State arbitration, providing an empirical analysis of the experience and record of African States with investment treaties and investor-State arbitration. Useful tables of intra-African bilateral investment treaties, a list of ICSID proceedings involving African States, and other

tabular features round out the volume The book will be welcomed by arbitration practitioners and legal academics everywhere as the essential guiding light in what is rapidly becoming a crucially important area of international arbitration practice
