Integration in Psychotherapy Jeremy Holmes, Anthony Bateman, 2002. Psychotherapy is growing and changing rapidly, and much of this development is integrative in nature. Integration in psychotherapy can mean many things: from the sequential or simultaneous use of different established techniques through the adoption of specific hybrid therapies to the flexibility that is found in the practice of mature clinicians who consciously or unconsciously adopt techniques or theories borrowed from other disciplines. This book explores and expounds on these integrative currents as they affect the spectrum of contemporary psychological therapy. In section one, leading practitioners from within traditional models of psychotherapy self-critically look outwards towards the limits and links between their own approaches and those of others. Section two provides a showcase for the cutting-edge new modalities in psychological therapy: Cognitive analytic therapy, Psychodynamic interpersonal therapy, etc., as well as covering traditional approaches which are inherently integrative. Throughout, the editors and authors strive to maintain a balanced approach, considering the strengths and weaknesses of the integrative stance. Bateman and Holmes are experts in this field and have been at the forefront of the integrative agenda; they have assembled a group of distinguished chapter authors to help them in their exploration of these issues.

Geropsychology and Long Term Care Erlene Rosowsky, Joseph M. Casciani, Merla Arnold, 2010-01-23. It is with great pride that the Psychologists in Long Term Care (PLTC) have sponsored The Professional Educational Long Term Care Training Manual and now its second iteration, Geropsychology and Long Term Care: A Practitioner's Guide. Education of psychologists working in long-term care settings is consistent with PLTC's mission to assure the provision of high-quality psychological services for a neglected sector of the population, i.e., residents in nursing homes and assisted living communities. To this end, direct training of generalist psychologists in the nuances of psychological care delivery in long term care settings has been a major priority It is a tribute to the accelerating nature of research in long term care settings that a revision is now necessary After all the Professional Educational Training Manual's initial publication date was only in 2001 However in the intervening years much progress has been made in addressing assessment and intervention strategies tailored to the needs of this frail but quite diverse population It is so gratifying to be able to say that there is now a corpus of scientific knowledge to guide long term care service delivery in long term care settings
