Egg And I:

Banana Girl Jada Tan Rufo, 2015-06-23 It's not easy being an Asian American in China where residents of big cities believe that Asians including those born and raised in English speaking countries are not qualified to teach English. In a country of 1.3 billion people where studying English is as popular as having the latest electronic gadget, this can be a huge problem. Author Jada Tan Rufo descended from a Chinese immigrant who took a Filipino name when he came to the United States; she takes up the challenge to teach in the country of her ancestors. Her detailed memoir Banana Girl takes readers on a journey throughout China, describing the lows such as working for a corrupt and inept boss to the highs of the time she spends with her eager young students and the chance to travel inside the beautiful country. The vast nation incorporates 55 recognized minorities in addition to the Han majority, each with its own language and identity. During her free time, Jada explores China's wonders, walking along the Great Wall, visiting the Olympic Stadium in Beijing, and riding camels in Inner Mongolia. It is her work with her students, however, that will define Jada's experience. Although she may be a cultural banana, falling into the Asian American way of thinking of herself as looking yellow on the outside and white on the inside, Jada leaves an indelible impression on the students and fellow teachers whose lives intersected with hers. In Banana Girl, she freely shares the frustration, joy, and laughter experienced during her time in China. Food in the Movies, 2d ed. Steve

Zimmerman, 2010-07-28 Although food has been part of motion pictures since the silent era, for the most part it has been treated with about as much respect as movie extras; it's always been there on the screen but seldom noticed. For the most part, filmmakers have settled on three basic ways to treat food as a prop in which the food is usually obscured from sight or ignored by the actors as a transition device to compress time and help advance the plot, as a symbol or metaphor, or in some other meaningful way to make a dramatic point or to reveal an aspect of an actor's character, mood, or thought process. This hugely expanded and revised edition details 400 food scenes in addition to the 400 films reviewed for the first edition and an introduction tracing the technical, artistic, and cultural forces that contributed to the emergence of food films as a new genre, originated by such films as Tampopo, Babette's Feast, and more recently by films like Mostly Martha, No Reservations, and Ratatouille. A filmography is included as an appendix. Zoologist, 1855 The Zoologist, 1854 Island Fever Charles Pflueger, 2011-04-19 Island Fever chronicles a lifetime of adventure from a casual South Florida of the early 1930s to a Bahamian Island retirement almost eighty years later, with exciting and amusing stops along the way. Charlie Pflueger describes his life journey, including his stint in the US Air Force in the Far East and North Africa during the Korean War. After his tour of duty, he assumed station manager duties for Pan American Airways in the Caribbean and South America, moved on to hotel management in the Bahamian Out Islands, and had other assorted misadventures, professional and otherwise. His has been an incredible life. Sometimes it was fun, sometimes it was disappointing, but all in all, it was an amazing ride.
