The Global Automotive Industry Paul Nieuwenhuis, Peter Wells, 2015-08-10 The automotive industry is still one of the world's largest manufacturing sectors but it suffers from being very technology focused as well as being relatively short term focused There is little emphasis within the industry and its consultancy and analyst supply network on the broader social and economic impacts of automobility and of the sector that provides it The Global Automotive Industry addresses this need and is a first port of call for any academic official or consultant wanting an overview of the state of the industry An international team of specialist researchers both from academia and business review and analyse the key issues that make vehicle manufacturing still the world's premier manufacturing sector closely tied in with the fortunes of both established and newly emerging economies In doing so it covers issues related to manufacturing both established practices as well as new developments issues relating to distribution marketing and retail vehicle technologies and regulatory trends and crucially labour practices and the people who build cars In all this it explains both how the current situation arose and also likely future trajectories both in terms of social and regulatory trends as the technological marketing and labour practice responses to those leading in many cases to the development of new business models Key features Provides a global overview of the automotive industry covering its current state and considering future challenges Contains contributions from international specialists in the automotive sector Presents current research and sets this in an historical and broader industry context Covers threats to the industry including globalization economic and environmental sustainability The Global Automotive Industry is a must have reference for researchers and practitioners in the automotive industry and is an excellent source of information for business schools governments and graduate and undergraduate students in automotive engineering Understanding Global Environmental Politics M.

Taken for Grantedness Richard Ling, 2012-10-26 An examination of how the mobile phone has become part of the fabric of society as did such earlier technologies as the clock and the car Why do we feel insulted or exasperated when our friends and family don't answer their mobile phones If the Internet has allowed us to broaden our social world into a virtual friend net the mobile phone is an instrument of a more intimate social sphere The mobile phone provides a taken for granted link to the people to whom we are closest when we are without it social and domestic disarray may result In just a few years the mobile phone has become central to the functioning of society In this book Rich Ling explores the process by which the mobile phone has become embedded in society comparing it to earlier technologies that changed the character of our social interaction and along the way became taken for granted Ling drawing on research interviews and quantitative material shows how the mobile phone and the clock and the automobile before it can be regarded as a social mediation technology with a critical mass of users a supporting ideology changes in the social ecology and a web of mutual expectations regarding use By examining the similarities and synergies among these three technologies Ling sheds a more general light on how technical systems become embedded in society and how they support social interaction within the closest sphere of friends and family
