Edward Steichen The Early Years:

Edward Steichen, the Early Years, 1900-1927 Edward Steichen, 1981 Edward Steichen Edward Steichen, 2008-04-29

Part of the acclaimed Photofile series this title brings together the work of Edward Steichen one of the world's greatest photographers. It contains reproductions of his work together with a critical introduction and a full bibliography. Edward Steichen, Edward Steichen Beaumont Newhall, Mary Steichen, 1981 Encyclopedia of Twentieth-Century Photography, 3-Volume Set Lynne Warren, 2005-11-15 The Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century Photography explores the vast international scope of twentieth century photography and explains that history with a wide ranging interdisciplinary manner. This unique approach covers the aesthetic history of photography as an evolving art and documentary form while also recognizing it as a developing technology and cultural force. This Encyclopedia presents the important developments, movements, photographers, photographic institutions and theoretical aspects of the field along with information about equipment, techniques and practical applications of photography. To bring this history alive for the reader the set is illustrated in black and white throughout and each volume contains a color plate section. A useful glossary of terms is also included.

The Family of Man Revisited Gerd Hurm, Anke Reitz, Shamoon Zamir, 2020-08-09 The Family of Man is the most widely seen exhibition in the history of photography. The book of the exhibition still in print is also the most commercially successful photobook ever published. First shown at the Museum of Modern Art in New York in 1955 the exhibition travelled throughout the United States and to forty six countries and was seen by over nine million people. Edward Steichen conceived, curated and designed the exhibition. He explained its subject as the everydayness of life and the essential oneness of mankind throughout the world. The exhibition was a statement against war and the conflicts and divisions that threatened a common future for humanity after 1945. The popular international response was overwhelmingly enthusiastic. Many critics however have dismissed the exhibition as a form of sentimental humanism unable to address the challenges of history, politics and cultural difference. This book revises the critical debate about The Family of Man, challenging in particular the legacy of Roland Barthes's influential account of the exhibition. The expert contributors explore new contexts for understanding Steichen's work and they undertake radically new analyses of the formal dynamics of the exhibition. Also presented are documents about the exhibition never before available in English: Commentaries by critical theorist Max Horkheimer and novelist Wolfgang Koeppen; letters from photographer August Sander and a poetic sequence on the images by Polish poet Witold Wirpsza; enable and encourage new critical reflections. A detailed survey of audience responses in Munich from 1955 allows a rare glimpse of what visitors thought about the exhibition. Today when armed conflict, environmental catastrophe and economic inequality continue to threaten our future it seems timely to revisit The Family of Man. Ecstatic Worlds Janine Marchessault, 2023-10-31 When media translate the world to the world, twentieth century utopian projects including Edward Steichen's Family of Man, Jacques Cousteau's underwater films and Buckminster Fuller's geoscope. Postwar artists and architects have used photography film and other media to imagine and record the world as a wonder of collaborative entanglement to translate the world for the world In this book Janine Marchessault examines a series of utopian media events that opened up and expanded the cosmos creating ecstatic collective experiences for spectators and participants Marchessault shows that Edward Steichen's 1955 Family of Man photography exhibition for example and Jacques Cousteau's 1956 underwater film Le monde du silence The Silent World both gave viewers a sense of the earth as a shared ecology The Festival of Britain 1951 in particular its Telekinema a combination of 3D film and television and its Live Architecture exhibition along with Expo 67's cinema experiments and media city created an awareness of multiple worlds Toronto's alternative microcinema CineCycle Agnès Varda's 2000 film Les glaneurs et la glaneuse and Buckminster Fuller's World Game geoscope representing ecologies of images and resources encouraged planetary thinking The transspecies communication platform the Dolphin Embassy devised by the Ant Farm architecture collaborative extends this planetary perspective toward other species and Finnish artist Erkki Kurenniemi's Death of the Planet projects a postanthropocentric future Drawing on sources that range from the Scottish town planner Patrick Geddes to the French phenomenologist Maurice Merleau-Ponty Marchessault argues that each of these media experiments represents an engagement with connectivity and collectivity through media that will help us imagine a new form of global humanism
