Edwin Of The Iron Shoes:

Edwin of the Iron Shoes Marcia Muller, 2012-04-15 It's Sharon McCone's first case as staff investigator for All Souls Legal Cooperative. She knows nothing about antiques yet she has an affection for Salem Street with its charming mix of antique and curio shops. Now elderly dealer Joan Albritton has been found dead, stabbed with an antique dagger. Her neighbors are shocked. Recurring vandalism has them frightened. Ferreting out the facts will take Sharon from the chaotic jumble of the junk dealer's establishment to a museum where San Francisco's most elegant socialites gather. Edwin of the Iron Shoes Marcia Muller, 1993 Sharon McCone, tough young San Francisco private investigator, is summoned when an antique shop owner is found murdered and as Sharon encounters further mayhem and death she discovers neither antiques nor people are exactly what they seem. Booze and the Private Eye Rita Elizabeth Rippetoe, 2015-01-24 The hard-bitten PI with a bottle of bourbon in his desk drawer is as an image as old as the genre of hard-boiled detective fiction itself. Alcohol has long been an important element of detective fiction but it is no mere prop. Rather the treatment of alcohol within the works informs and illustrates the detective's moral code and casts light upon the society's attitudes towards drink. This examination of the role of alcohol in hard-boiled detective fiction begins with the genre's birth in an era strongly influenced and affected by prohibition and follows both the genre's development and its relation to our changing understanding of and attitudes towards alcohol and alcoholism. It discusses the works of Dashiell Hammett, Raymond Chandler, Mickey Spillane, Robert B. Parker, Lawrence Sanders, Marcia Muller, Karen Kijewski and Sue Grafton. There are bibliographies of both the primary and critical texts and an index of authors and works. The Urban Condition Ghent Urban Studies Team, 1999 What does the Western city at the end of the twentieth century look like? How did the modern metropolis of congestion and density turn into a posturban or even postsuburban cityscape? What are edge cities and technoburbs? How has the social composition of cities changed in the postwar era? What do gated communities tell us about social fragmentation? Is public space in the contemporary city being privatized and militarized? How can the urban self still be defined? What role does consumer aestheticism have to play in this? These and many more questions are addressed by this uniquely conceived multidisciplinary study. The Urban Condition seeks to interfere in current debates over the future and interpretation of our urban landscapes by reuniting studies of the city as a physical and material phenomenon and as a cultural and mental artefact. The Ghent Urban Studies Team responsible for the writing and editing of this volume is directed by Kristiaan Versluys and Dirk De Meyer at the University of Ghent, Belgium. It is an interdisciplinary research team of young academics that further consists of Kristiaan Borret, Bart Eeckhout, Steven Jacobs and Bart Keunen. The collective expertise of GUST ranges from architectural theory, urban planning and art history to philosophy, literary criticism and cultural theory. Marcia Muller and the Female Private Eye Alexander N. Howe, Christine A. Jackson, 2014-11-01 In 1977 Marcia Muller invaded the all-male domain of detective literature and within a decade was established as the mother of the female hardboiled private eye. She is now the author of four detective series including the critically acclaimed Sharon McCone series of more than two dozen novels This collection critically assesses Marcia Muller's writing and reevaluates current critical views on women's detective fiction in general In the first two of the book's three sections essays explore Muller's engagement with modern and postmodern feminism ethnicity and the socially underprivileged The third section focuses on one of Muller's major themes the trauma of history Drawing from the feminist historicist mythic psychoanalytic and cultural approaches found in all three sections the conclusion offers a panoramic perspective on Muller's accomplishments

Cracking the Hard-Boiled Detective Lewis D. Moore, 2015-01-24 The hard boiled private detective is among the most recognizable characters in popular fiction since the 1920s a tough product of a violent world in which police forces are inadequate and people with money can choose private help when facing threatening circumstances Though a relatively recent arrival the hard boiled detective has undergone steady development and assumed diverse forms This critical study analyzes the character of the hard boiled detective from literary antecedents through the early 21st century It follows change in the novels through three main periods the Early roughly 1927-1955 during which the character was defined by such writers as Carroll John Daly Dashiell Hammett and Raymond Chandler the Transitional evident by 1964 in the works of John D MacDonald and Michael Collins and continuing to around 1977 via Joseph Hansen Bill Pronzini and others and the Modern since the late 1970s during which such writers as Loren D Estleman Liza Cody Sara Paretsky Sue Grafton and many others have expanded the genre and the detective character Themes such as violence love and sexuality friendship space and place and work are examined throughout the text Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

Gender Identity and Gender Relations Redefined Stephanie Bernhard, 2024-07-27 The present study compares the depiction of female as well as male characters and their identities in American detective fiction at different times In detail it analyzes to what extent American hard boiled detective fiction by and about professional women from the 1980s onwards reinvents the formula and the gender perceptions of their male forerunners in the 1920s and 1930s It examines how the female authors alter the norms and ideologies of the male original and adjust the depiction of female as well as male characteristics and roles toward a less stereotyped but more authentic presentation
