Teaching Diverse Populations Etta R. Hollins, Joyce Elaine King, Warren C. Hayman, 1994-01-01 This book presents current knowledge about teaching culturally diverse populations traditionally underserved in the nation s public schools It approaches the challenge of improving public school education for these students in a variety of ways including relating of cultural and experiential knowledge to classroom instruction examining the behaviors of teachers who are effective with culturally diverse populations analyzing effective school models reviewing models of effective instruction and exploring ethnic identity as a variable in the formula for school success The discussions reveal significant insights about the implications and shortcomings of existing knowledge and its application and offer directions for future research

Narrowing the Achievement Gap Susan J. Paik, Herbert J. Walberg, 2007-06-04 The subject of minority children s learning has long been the concern of civic leaders parents scholars and educators The federal legislation No Child Left Behind emphasizes the concern even more It specifically requires assessing the academic achievement of minority students particularly in economically disadvantaged areas and holding schools accountable for their progress Schools that fail to attain Adequate Yearly Progress face the real possibility of being forced to close if they continually fail to perform Unlike the past these are increasingly high stakes consequences for educators parents students and the schools that serve them This book is timely and relevant because it addresses these issues and recommends solutions for Latino Black and Asian students This book also has implications for the problems the nation faces in helping all students to learn well particularly those that lag in academic achievement In considering the broad problems and in recommending solutions the book provides breadth concision and unique organization As the introductory chapter makes clear the book simultaneously considers not only the three most visible minority groups in the U S but draws upon the perspectives of anthropology education ethnic studies psychology and sociology From these several perspectives this book is organized within three broad sections 1 culturally diverse families and schooling 2 issues of immigration and schooling experiences and 3 socio cultural perspectives on teaching learning and development Within each section the authors marshal research literature regarding each ethnic minority group

Advancing Research on Teachers' Professional Vision: Implementing novel Technologies, Methods and Theories Christian Kosel,Tina Seidel ,Christian Hartmann,Ann-Sophie Grub,2024-07-25 A classroom full of students can be overwhelming for teachers It is critical that teachers are able to filter and meaningfully interpret the relevant information in this complex scenario Much of this filtering and interpretation occurs through selective visual perception Over the last decade a rapidly growing number of studies in empirical educational research used eye tracking to investigate teachers selective visual perceptual processes in the classroom Theoretically visual attention and perception are often conceptualized as knowledge based noticing coupled with knowledge based reasoning about what is visually perceived Recent eye tracking studies have shown that experienced teachers in particular show improved selective attention of classroom events through faster detection of relevant information and improved monitoring of learning relevant situations Researchers agree that a critical driver of selective attention processes is the professional knowledge declarative procedural and metacognitive of experienced teachers which controls selective perceptual processes in a top down process The findings are significant and provide important insights for research on teacher professionalization
