humankind's distant past through the lens of the enduring allure of ancient Egypt. Written by an international team of scholars, the volume investigates how territories around the world have engaged with and have been inspired by ancient Egypt and its study and how that engagement has evolved over time. Chapters present a specific territory from different perspectives including institutional and national while examining a range of transnational links as well. The volume thus touches on multiple strands of scholarship embracing not only Egyptology but also social history, the history of science and reception studies. It will appeal to amateurs and professionals with an interest in the histories of Egypt, archaeology and science.

A World History of Nineteenth-Century Archaeology Margarita Díaz-Andreu García, 2007-11-22 Margarita Díaz-Andreu offers an innovative history of archaeology during the nineteenth century encompassing all its fields from the origins of humanity to the medieval period and all areas of the world. The development of archaeology is placed within the framework of contemporary political events with a particular focus upon the ideologies of nationalism and imperialism. Díaz-Andreu examines a wide range of issues including the creation of institutions, the conversion of the study of antiquities into a profession, public memory changes in archaeological thought and practice and the effect on archaeology of racism, religion, the belief in progress, hegemony and resistance.

Receptions of the Ancient Near East in Popular Culture and Beyond Agnes García-Ventura, Lorenzo Verderame, 2020-03-01 This book is an enthusiastic celebration of the ways in which popular culture has consumed aspects of the ancient Near East to construct new realities. The editors have brought together an impressive line up of scholars, archaeologists, philologists, historians and art historians to reflect on how objects, ideas and interpretations of the ancient Near East have been remembered, constructed, reimagined, mythologized or indeed forgotten within our shared cultural memories. The exploration of cultural memories has revealed how they inform the values, structures and daily life of societies over time. This is therefore not a collection of essays about the deep past but rather about the stories we tell ourselves about ourselves.

Saddling the Dogs Deborah Manley, 2009-07-15 In the absence of horses saddle the dogs. This Arab proverb suggesting the uncompromising determination of nomads to keep moving whatever the obstacles epitomizes also the travelling ethos of many early visitors to the exotic East. The journeys examined here are linked by the light they shed on the experience of travel in Egypt, Greece and the Ottoman Balkans and the Near East from the 17th to the early 20th century, not so much what was seen as how one got there and how one got around once arrived, the vicissitudes and travails both expected and strange that characterised the passage. The purpose of the trips examined range from religious pilgrimages to diplomatic, commercial and military journeys to middle class package tours. Each of them is of interest for what it reveals about the realities of travel in Egypt, the eastern Mediterranean and the Near East at different times, the means by which travel was carried out, the dangers and discomforts encountered and the preparations made. The Association for the Study of Travel in Egypt and the Near East (ASTENE) is a registered educational charity promoting the study of the history of travel and travellers in the eastern Mediterranean from Greece and the Ottoman Balkans eastward to
