and production Since 1948 Survey has published the best international scholarship in English and many of its essays have become classics of Shakespeare criticism Each volume is devoted to a theme or play or group of plays each also contains a section of reviews of the previous year's textual and critical studies and of major British performances The books are illustrated with a variety of Shakespearean images and production photographs The current editor of Survey is Peter Holland The first eighteen volumes were edited by Allardyce Nicoll numbers 19-33 by Kenneth Muir and numbers 34-52 by Stanley Wells The virtues of accessible scholarship and a keen interest in performance from Shakespeare's time to our own have characterised the journal from the start For the first time numbers 1-50 are being reissued in paperback available separately and as a set

Writing the History of the British Stage Richard Schoch, 2016-09-12 This is the first book on British theatre historiography It traces the practice of theatre history from its origins in the Restoration to its emergence as an academic discipline in the early twentieth century In this compelling revisionist study Richard Schoch reclaims the deep history of British theatre history valorizing the usually overlooked scholarship undertaken by antiquarians booksellers bibliographers journalists and theatrical insiders none of whom considered themselves to be professional historians Drawing together deep archival research close readings of historical texts from the seventeenth eighteenth and nineteenth centuries and an awareness of contemporary debates about disciplinary practice Schoch overturns received interpretations of British theatre historiography and shows that the practice and the diverse practitioners of theatre history were far more complicated and far more sophisticated than we had realised His book is a landmark contribution to how theatre historians today can understand their own history Fuseli's Milton Gallery Luisa Cale,2006-12-21 Fuseli's Milton Gallery challenges the antipictorial theories and canons of Romantic period culture Between 1791 and 1799 Swiss painter Henry Fuseli turned Milton's Paradise Lost into a series of 40 pictures Fuseli's project and other literary galleries developed within an expanding market for illustrated books and a culture of anthologization used to reading British and other classics in terms of the visualization of key moments in the text Thus transformed into repositories of virtual pictures literary texts became ideal sources of subjects for painters Illustrating British literature was a way of inventing a national grand style to fit the needs of a consumer society Cale calls into question the separation of reading and viewing as autonomous aesthetic practices To turn readers into spectators meant to place readers and reading within the dizzying world of associations offered by an emerging culture of exhibitions Attending to the energized reading effects developed by Fuseli's Gallery we rediscover a new side of the Romantic imagination which is not the solitary mentalist experience preferred by Wordsworth and Coleridge nor divorced from the senses let alone a refuge from the crowded public spaces of the Revolutionary period Rather Fuseli's embodied aesthetic exemplifies the associationist psychology espoused by the radical circle convening around the publisher Joseph Johnson including Joseph Priestley and Mary Wollstonecraft This book analyses exhibitions as important sites of Romantic sociability and one of many interrelated mediums for the literature debates and controversies of the Revolutionary period
