Marsden,2013-01-11 A study of the school textbook grounded in historical and comparative perspectives The approach is broadly chronological revealing changes in the theory and practice of textbook production and use The book focuses largely on three associated subjects geography history and social studies Fostering Change in Institutions, Environments, and People David C. Berliner,Haggai Kupermintz,2014-04-08 This volume is comprised of contributions from leading scholars in education and psychology In part one of the book the authors provide insight into the psychology of change examining What factors work as catalysts for change in environments institutions and people What factors hinder change When change is deemed beneficial In the second part of this volume the authors turn their attention to the issue of peace education They examine the types of problems that societies and scholars should identify and try to solve in hopes of building more peaceful environments The final chapter is a biography honoring Professor Gavriel Gabi Salomon a significant contributor to the vast literature on change This book is appropriate reading for professors students and academics who are dedicated to fostering change to benefit institutions environments and people Encyclopedia of Violence, Peace, and Conflict ,2008-09-05 The 2nd edition of Encyclopedia of Violence Peace and Conflict provides timely and useful information about antagonism and reconciliation in all contexts of public and personal life Building on the highly regarded 1st edition 1999 and publishing at a time of seemingly inexorably increasing conflict and violent behaviour the world over the Encyclopedia is an essential reference for students and scholars working in the field of peace and conflict resolution studies and for those seeking to explore alternatives to violence and share visions and strategies for social justice and social change Covering topics as diverse as Arms Control Peace Movements Child Abuse Folklore Terrorism and Political Assassinations the Encyclopedia comprehensively addresses an extensive information area in 225 multi disciplinary cross referenced and authoritatively authored articles In his Preface to the 1st edition Editor in Chief Lester Kurtz wrote The problem of violence poses such a monumental challenge at the end of the 20th century that it is surprising we have addressed it so inadequately We have not made much progress in learning how to cooperate with one another more effectively or how to conduct our conflicts more peacefully Instead we have increased the lethality of our combat through revolutions in weapons technology and military training The Encyclopedia of Violence Peace and Conflict is designed to help us to take stock of our knowledge concerning these crucial phenomena Ten years on the need for an authoritative and cross disciplinary approach to the great issues of violence and peace seems greater than ever More than 200 authoritative multidisciplinary articles in a 3 volume set Many brand new articles alongside revised and updated content from the First Edition Article outline and glossary of key terms at the beginning of each article Entries arranged alphabetically for easy access Articles written by more than 200 eminent contributors from around the world

Interreligious Curriculum for Peace Education in Nigeria Isaiah Ekundayo Dada, 2019-04-18 Nigeria a country under a military regime for several years transitioned to a civilian regime in May 1999 Since this change violent conflicts between Christians and Muslims have continued to erupt They constitute one of the gravest dangers facing Nigeria a country with a population of 189 million people What have Nigerian religious leaders done about this situation especially in educational circles Have they received formal educational training to understand the causes of this violence and especially how to provide alternatives for more peaceful relations within Nigeria Does the current educational system in Nigeria provide the main ingredients for the promotion of a culture of peace The absence and neglect of interreligious peace education as part of a peace education core program and the lack of an interreligious curriculum for peace education in the training of religious leaders are the two problems contributing towards the lack of effectiveness of religious leaders in promoting less violent and more peaceful living The solution to the problem is proposed in this book entitled Interreligious Curriculum for Peace Education in Nigeria The book develops a one year curriculum building on Yoruba Islamic Christian conceptions of peace and teaches how to create safe caring spiritual peaceful and successful interfaith relationships between all Nigerian religious communities In the long term the book helps to educate religious leaders to contribute in themselves and with the help of their respective religious communities to reducing the growing religious violence in Nigeria

Teaching And Learning Science Hodson, Derek, 1998-12-01 This book extends and unifies recent debate and research about science education in several disparate fields including philosophy of science cognitive psychology and motivation theory Through an approach based on the personalization of learning and the politicization of the curriculum and classroom it shows how the complex goal of critical scientific literacy can be achieved by all students including those who traditionally underachieve in science or opt out of science education at the earliest opportunity Current thinking in situated cognition and learning through apprenticeship are employed to build a sociocultural learning model based on a vigorous learning community in which the teacher acts as facilitator co learner and anthropologist Later chapters describe how these theoretical arguments can be translated into effective classroom practice through a coherent inquiry oriented pedagogy involving a much more critical and wide ranging use of hands on and language based learning than is usual in science education

Politics, Education and Citizenship Mal Leicester, Sohan Modgil, 2005-08-10 Volume VI is concerned with political education and citizenship Papers from several countries lend an international perspective to currently significant concerns and developments including democracy and democratic education human rights national identity and education for citizenship Humanities in the Primary School R. J. Campbell, Vivienne Little, 1989 This work examines the principles on which a curriculum in primary school humanities might be based The political and cultural context of curriculum development in the humanities is not avoided and many of the contributions to this book deal with children's encounters with controversial issues Myths and Mythical Spaces Claudia Lichnofsky, Enriketa Pandejmoni, Darko Stojanov, 2017-12-04 This volume addresses textbooks written in the Albanian language and in use in Albania Kosovo Macedonia and Serbia Political myths and mythical spaces play a key role in shaping processes of identity building concepts of self and other and ideas pertaining to the location of the self and nation within a post conflict context The Albanian case is particularly interesting because the majority of Albanians live outside the borders of Albania despite the existence of the nation state which gives rise to fascinating complexities regarding the shaping of national identities and myths surrounding concepts of self and other What textbooks teach is always of political interest as they represent society's intentions for its next generation This renders identity building processes via textbooks in this context a particularly fascinating topic for research here examined through the lens of myths and mythical spaces

Thinking Skills and Early Childhood Education Patrick J. M. Costello, 2013-11-26 This text offers a rationale for the popular idea among teachers and researchers that young children should be taught critical thinking and argument in the early years of their education Curriculum and Environmental Education Alan Reid, 2019-11-14 This collection traces the development and findings of curriculum studies of environmental education since the mid 1970s Based on a virtual special issue of the Journal of Curriculum Studies the volume identifies a series of curriculum challenges for and from environmental education These include key questions in curriculum politics planning and implementation including which educative experiences should a curriculum foster and why what the scope of a worthwhile curriculum should be and how it should be decided organised and reworked why distinctive curricula are provided to different groups of students and how curriculum should best be enacted and evaluated The editor and contributors call for renewed attention to the possibilities for future directions in research in light of previously published work and innovations in scholarship They also offer critical commentary on curriculum critique and crisis in environmental education through new material and previous studies from the journal by addressing three key themes perspectives on curriculum and environment education accounting for curriculum in environmental education and changes in curriculum for environmental education International

Good Citizenship and Educational Provision Ian Davies, Ian Gregory, Shirley Riley, 2002-11-01 Citizenship has been taught in school around the world for many years now and is due to be introduced to the UK curriculum over the next few years Teachers Headteachers administrators and policy makers have the opportunity to develop citizenship education programs for all their students This book takes a pragmatic approach to the issue and answers many of the crucial questions that will be emerging what definitions of citizenship are to be followed and how is citizenship taught What approaches will be taken by teachers and what is the likely shape of best practice for citizenship education How will the issue impact on schools and teacher training and how should they rise to the challenge What are the key factors influencing or threatening the development of good citizens Based on the analysis of data collected from over 700 teachers the book provides real solutions to questions raised by citizenship education and makes recommendations for practice in schools and in the training and development of teachers

Geography in British Schools, 1850-2000 Rex Walford, 2001 No book has yet been published that has attempted to cover the history of geography as a school subject Yet the story of the growth of this subject a major player in the league table of student preferences and examination entries is woven deep into the social history of the nation as well as being studded with colourful personalities

Looking to the Future Derek Hodson, 2011-10-25 In advocating an action oriented and issues based curriculum this book takes the position that a major but shamefully neglected goal of science and technology education is to equip students with the knowledge skills attitudes and values to confront the complex and often ill defined socioscientific issues they encounter in daily life as citizens in an increasingly technology dominated world carefully critically confidently and responsibly In outlining proposals for addressing socioscientific issues through a curriculum organized in terms of four increasingly sophisticated levels of consideration the author adopts a highly critical and politicized stance towards the norms and values that underpin both scientific and technological development and contemporary scientific engineering and medical practice criticizes mainstream STS and STSE education for adopting a superficial politically naïve and hence educationally ineffective approach to consideration of socioscientific issues takes the view that environmental problems are social problems occasioned by the values that underpin the ways in which we choose to live and urges teachers to encourage students to reach their own views through debate and argument about where they stand on major socioscientific issues including the moral ethical issues they often raise More controversially the author argues that if students are to become responsible and politically active citizens the curriculum needs to provide opportunities for them to experience and learn from sociopolitical action The relative merits of direct and indirect action are addressed notions of learning about action learning through action and learning from action are developed and a case is made for compiling a user friendly database reflecting on both successful and less successful action oriented curriculum initiatives Finally the book considers some of the important teacher education issues raised by this radically new approach to teaching and learning science and technology The book is intended primarily for teachers and student teachers of science technology and environmental education graduate students and researchers in education teacher educators curriculum developers and those responsible for educational policy The author is Emeritus Professor of Science Education at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto Adjunct Professor of Science Education at the University of Auckland and Visiting Professor of Science Education at the University of Hong Kong His research interests include considerations in the history philosophy and sociology of science and their implications for science and technology education STSE education and the politicization of both students and teachers science curriculum history multicultural and antiracist education and teacher education via action research
