Eliminating Human Poverty Santosh Mehrotra, Enrique Delamonica, 2008-02-29 This book focuses on the provision of basic social services in particular access to education health and water supplies as the central building blocks of any human development strategy The authors concentrate on how these basic social services can be financed and delivered more effectively to achieve the internationally agreed Millennium Development Goals Their analysis which departs from the dominant macro economic paradigm deploys the results of broad ranging research they led at UNICEF and UNDP investigating the record on basic social services of some 30 developing countries In seeking to learn from these new data they develop an analytical argument around two potential synergies at the macro level between poverty reduction human development and economic growth and at the micro level between interventions to provide basic social services Policymakers they argue can integrate macro economic and social policy Fiscal monetary and other macro economic policies can be compatible with social sector requirements They make the case that policymakers have more flexibility than is usually presented by orthodox writers and international financial institutions and that if policymakers engaged in alternative macro economic and growth oriented policies this could lead to the expansion of human capabilities and the fulfillment of human rights This book explores some of these policy options The book also argues that more than just additional aid is needed Specific strategic shifts in the areas of aid policy decentralized governance health and education policy and the private public mix in service provision are a prerequisite to achieve the goals of human development The combination of governance reforms and fiscal and macro economic policies outlined in this book can eliminate human poverty in the span of a generation

Ecology in Education Monica Hale, 1995-09-28 Ecological and environmental education in schools and institutes of further and higher education has gained increasing importance in recent years both as an area of study in its own right and as a component of other disciplines There is now a requirement in many countries to include the environment in both formal and informal curricula This volume presents a long overdue account of the status progress and underlying concepts of ecological education It explores areas of recent development and debate in ecological and environmental education describes the evolution and development of environmental education in different countries and examines the importance and provision for fieldwork Case studies illustrate how ecological studies are undertaken in several culturally different settings This book will interest teachers and research workers in ecology environmental science and education

Interculturalism, Society and Education , 2010-01-01 In no part of the world today is the concept of intercultural exchange a novelty and in many parts of the world it has even been a long tradition Nevertheless recent globalization forces have combined to accelerate many aspects of migration and intercultural confrontation As a result we see an emerging world society in which intercultural mixing and conflict are salient characteristics rather than being exceptional situations or embryonic phases of societal development The need for intercultural education and for intercultural dialogue in various forms has become universal All people have an obligation to participate in and take responsibility for world peace balanced sustainable development and democratic dialogue to create the capacity to live together Persistent and increasingly complex patterns of population movement with all of the societal ramifications that accompany them demand consideration of ways in which different societies respond to issues of intercultural education and dialogue both historically and currently Interculturalism Society and Education contains contributions that explore comparative and international case studies ranging from accounts of educational problems impacting specific immigrant groups in Europe socio educational programs and projects in Africa and Asia comparative analyses of citizenship education issues in selected countries and a global overview of different patterns of the interculturalism society education nexus This volume offers a sampling of the multiplicity of intercultural forms around the world useful for policy makers and educators across the spectrum of institutions and organizations that strive to open paths for positive intercultural exchange through education The Technological Knowledge Base for Industrializing Countries Raymond C.
