Educational Supervision In Social Work A Task Centered Model For Field Instruction And Staff Development:

Educational Supervision in Social Work Jonathan Caspi, William J. Reid, 2002-11-21 This book provides a comprehensive examination of instructional supervision and introduces the Task Centered Model for Educational Supervision TCS It begins by reviewing the history of educational supervision in social work and principles of effective teaching practices in the field While theories about the principles and purposes of educational supervision abound it has proven difficult to translate these ideas into a coherent model of supervisory practice Educational Supervision in Social Work answers that need presenting in detail TCS an ordered series of discrete activities that supervisors and supervisees follow during and between supervision meetings Designed to promote the continuous attainment of learning and practice objectives TCS accommodates new models of field instruction addresses common accountability concerns in social work supervision and teaches practitioners how to be self initiating and evaluative Focusing on the practical implementation of TCS Caspi and Reed have included detailed case vignettes throughout the book that provide concrete examples of putting theory into practice Both supervisors of interns and staff as well as supervisees will find TCS a helpful tool in the supervisory process Strategies for Work with Involuntary

Clients Ronald H. Rooney, Rebecca G. Mirick, 2018-05-01 Often in their careers social workers will encounter clients who are either legally required to attend treatment services or are otherwise coerced or pressured into those services Practitioners in settings from prisons to emergency rooms to nursing homes to child protection agencies will find themselves with involuntary clients In an update to this classic text social workers Ronald H Rooney and Rebecca G Mirick explore the best ways to work with unwilling clients While work with involuntary clients is common it can be challenging frustrating and unproductive unless practitioners are well trained for it This book provides a theoretical framework for understanding the legal ethical and practical concerns when working with involuntary clients offering theory treatment models and specific practice strategies influenced by the best available knowledge Animated by case studies across diverse settings these resources can be used by practitioners to facilitate collaborative effective working relationships with involuntary clients Social Work Placements

Mark Doel, 2009-12-04 Placements can be one of the most exciting parts of your social work training but also one of the most daunting This Guide will help you to make the most of your practice learning opportunities The guide highlights how you can make the most of your placement as well as anticipating some of the problem areas and pitfalls to avoid It covers preparing for your placement getting to grips with placement documentation understanding how and what you might learn on placement integrating theory with practice non traditional placements anticipating difficulties and dealing with them getting the best from assessment and evaluation Using a cast of fellow travellers students work based supervisors practice educators and college tutors to illustrate issues raised the Guide is accessible and contains plenty of case studies It is the ideal book for anyone wanting to make sure their placement goes as well as possible whether they are a student or a supervisor The Task-Centred Book Peter Marsh, 2005 Task centred social work is one of the best known and most strongly supported approaches to social work practice The model fits well with the long standing emphasis in social work on empowerment as well as with more recent pressure for evidence based practice This text is a radical departure from traditional literature on social work methods The main reference point is the voice of practitioners service users and carers as researched and developed by the authors over twenty years Case studies are used throughout the book to build on the experiences of practitioners and the people with whom they have worked and to demonstrate practical skills The Task Centred Book is a core text for both undergraduate social work courses and continuing professional development training as well as being a practical book for the active professional which will support the development and implementation of task centred practice

Key features: Discusses critical issues and new directions in the theory and practice of social work field education; challenges in field work education; decolonising field work training; developing competent social work graduates; aligning fieldwork with cultural practices in indigenous communities; the idea of clinical social work; and a comparative analysis of social work field supervision. Integrates theory and practice of social work field education for students and teachers from diverse geographical and cultural contexts across the global south, including countries from South Asia and Asia, Africa and Latin America, and the Caribbean, covering India, Bangladesh, Pakistan, Nepal, Sri Lanka, China, Georgia, Philippines, Turkey, Papua New Guinea, Eswatini, Republic of Trinidad and Tobago, Kenya, Nigeria, South Africa, Botswana, Chile, and Barbados. Brings together international comparative perspectives on field work education in social work from leading experts, social work educators, and social work professionals. This handbook will be an essential resource for scholars and researchers of social work, development studies, social anthropology, sociology, education, South Asian studies, and Global South studies. It will also be useful to educators and practitioners of social work in global institutions of higher studies as well as civil society organisations.

The Andragogic Learning Center Moshe Sonnenheim, Shlomit Lehman, 2010 This publication was made possible by the Rector's Fund in support of publications and books, Bar Ilan University, Israel. The Andragogic Learning Center examines an eight-year study at the Bar Ilan School of Social Work, Israel, 1989-1997. The study tested the efficacy of an innovative, community-based teaching approach combining field and class instruction. The efficacy of interaction between teaching and learning style in learning process and context was also examined. More than 400 BSW students participated, divided each year into an experimental group of twelve students learning all three social work methods and two control groups learning two social work methods. A number of hypotheses were tested, utilizing a detailed before-after questionnaire which included a learning style questionnaire. TABS and Middleman's Study Guide for ACSW Certification Exam Role Learning and Andragogy Theories provided a framework for interpreting and understanding the process and results.
