Economics Concept And Design Of Information Intermediaries:

The Economics, Concept, and Design of Information Intermediaries Frank Rose, 2012-12-06 The Internet provides an infrastructure that makes the steadily increasing amount of information accessible efficiently quickly and inexpensively Closely connected with this opportunity is the danger that the available information will overcharge the individual information seeker's capability to process the information and to judge its quality In this situation information intermediaries can take upon the role of an expert and a guarantor of quality similar to intermediaries in markets for physical goods or finances Thus information intermediaries can be a trustworthy information processing third party mediating between information seekers and information sources The current technological development has created information technologies that are capable to efficiently process large amounts of information However the provision of intermediation services necessitates a thorough examination of the basic principles underlying the economics of information intermediaries as well as a sound foundation on information technologies The present work by Frank Rose addresses the fundamental question concerning the economics of information intermediaries by means of an abstract model The model focuses on services that concentrate on the search and mediation of information and identifies the essential influencing factors of the intermediary's environment The model is then employed to investigate the impact of environmental conditions on the information intermediary on the one hand and the optimal strategy of the information intermediary as a reaction to environmental conditions on the other hand

Economics of Standards in Information Networks Tim Weitzel, 2012-12-06 Standards play a prominent role in systems characterized by interaction In information systems standards provide for compatibility and are a prerequisite for collaboration benefits More generally speaking standards constitute networks In this work a standardization framework based on an analysis of deficiencies of network effect theory and a game theoretic network equilibrium analysis is developed Fundamental determinants of diffusion processes in networks e.g. network topology agent size installed base are identified and incorporated into a computer based simulation model As a result typical network behaviour specific diffusion patterns can be explained and many findings from traditional network effect theory can be described as special cases of the model at particular parameter constellations e.g. low price high density On this basis solution strategies for standardization problems are developed and a methodological path towards a unified theory of networks is proposed

Information Services Design Fons Wijnhoven, 2011-12-21 Information services are economic and organizational activities for informing people Because informing is changing rapidly under the influence of internet technologies this book presents in Chapter 1 fundamental notions of information and knowledge based on philosopher C.W. Churchman's inquiring systems This results in the identification of three product oriented design theory aspects content use value and revenue Chapter 2 describes how one can cope with these aspects by presenting process oriented design theory Both design theory insights are applied in chapters on information services challenges their business concepts and processes their architectures and exploitation The final chapter discusses three case studies that integrate the insights from previous chapters and it discusses some ideas for future research This book gives students a coherent start to the topic of information services from a design science perspective with a balance between technical and managerial aspects Therefore this book is useful for modern curricula of management communication science and information systems Because of its design science approach it also explains design science principles The book also serves professionals and academics in search of a foundational understanding of informing as a science and management practice Methods and Tools for Effective Knowledge Life-Cycle-Management Alain Bernard, Serge Tichkiewitch, 2008-04-01 Knowledge Management is a wide critical and strategic issue for all the companies from the SMEs to the most complex organizations The key of competitiveness is knowledge because of the necessity of reactivity flexibility agility and innovation capacities Knowledge is difficult to measure itself but what is visible this is the way of improving products technologies and enterprise organizations During the last four years based on the experience of most of the best experts around the World CIRP The International Academy for Production Engineering has decided to prepare and structure a Network of Excellence NoE proposal The European Community accepted to found the VRL KCiP Virtual Research Laboratory Knowledge Community in Production As its name indicates it the aim of this NoE was really to build a Knowledge Community in Production This was possible and realistic because the partners were representative of the most important universities in Europe and also because of strong partnerships with laboratories far from Europe Japan Australia South Africa USA etc Based on such powerful partnership the main issue was to help European manufacturing industry to define and structure the strategic knowledge in order to face the strategic worldwide challenges Manufacturing in Europe currently has two essential aspects 1 It has to be knowledge intensive given the European demands for high tech products and services e.g. electronics medicines The SAGE Encyclopedia of Business Ethics and Society Robert W. Convincing Political Stakeholders Klemens Joos, 2023-10-23 In the new edition of his standard work the founder of one of the most successful lobbying companies in the European Union EU Prof Klemens Joos bundles experience acquired over more than three decades to form a scientific theory on governmental relations It focusses on the insight that in view of the increasingly complex decision making structures of the EU the most precise possible knowledge of decision makers and decision making processes is at least equally as important to success as the content aspects of interest representation In a new chapter the author sets out the formula for science based interest representation developed by him from his practical experience With the Treaty of Lisbon which entered into force on 1 December 2009 the EU de facto became a state territory stretching from Portugal to Finland and from Ireland to Cyprus The European Parliament became an equal status decision maker alongside the Council of the European Union Council The previous co decision procedure was elevated to become the standard procedure ordinary legislative procedure The so called qualified majority 55 percent of the EU member states which simultaneously represent at least 65 percent of the EU population was introduced for all important areas in the Council As a result the outcome of decision making processes has become largely incalculable for the actors on the European Union stage the EU member states EU regions companies associations and organisations The second edition includes a new chapter in which Prof Klemens Joos makes the variables of successful interest representation even more tangible on the basis of his scientific formula at the latest since the Treaty of Lisbon the basic prerequisite for successful interest representation in the EU involves the continuous and close intermeshing of the affected party's content competence of the four classic instruments of interest representation corporate representative offices associations public affairs agencies law firms with process structure competence i.e. the EU wide maintenance of the required spatial personnel and organisational capacities as well as strong networks across institutions political groups and member states on the part of an independent intermediary The likelihood of success can be increased exponentially if success is achieved firstly in committing to the concern of an affected party through a change of perspective such that the positive effects on the common good are shifted into the foreground for the decision makers in the EU perspective change competence and secondly in successfully integrating the concern into the crucial decision making processes at the political level and continuously supporting it process support competence Guest authors This work includes guest contributions from Prof Christian Blumhuber Berlin University of the Arts Prof Anton Meyer formerly LMU Munich Prof Armin Nassehi LMU Munich and Prof Franz Waldenberger Director of the German Institute of Japanese Studies Tokyo as well as a foreword by Prof Gunther Friedl Dean of the TUM School of Management and a preface by Prof Thomas F Hofmann President of TU Munich

Kundisch,2012-12-06 The theme of this book New strategies for financial services providers is an equally relevant and important topic in science and practice In the post information age economy the German financial services market and many big financial services providers are in a deep crisis Increasing competition due to deregulation and improved transparency through new means of communication on the one hand and empowered customers demanding individualized solutions for their financial problems e.g. because of new working circumstances increase the pressure on the market participants to alter their strategies according to these new challenges Many firms have reacted defensively either by merging in the hopes of realizing scale effects a high risk venture considering the last few years or by adopting me too strategies also known as lemming banking that do not provide for a sustainable competitive advantage Based on a profound analysis of developing mega trends in the years ahead especially in information and IT intense market Dr Kundisch develops a new anti cyclical strategy that aims at using IT as an enabler to strengthen customer relationships and focus on individualized solutions wherever it seems economically sound to do so However he does not stop after the development of the strategy but provides two important concepts that may help turn this vision and strategy into reality Thus he favorably and refreshingly differentiates against many contributions that stop at the fairly abstract strategic level Stakeholder Engagement and

Innovation in Japan Megumi Suto,Hitoshi Takehara,2025-03-21 This book focuses on the linkage between corporate social responsibility CSR engagement and innovation strategies in the context of Japanese firms beginning in the late 2000s Since that time the firms have faced transformations in their business models and CSR activities in the face of global technological competition The novelty of this book is that it carefully identifies the channels linking CSR and innovation through employee motivation for creativity and investor awareness of environmental social and governance ESG issues As well the book sheds light on the role of independent sustainability rating agencies as information intermediaries in this linkage It empirically examines whether and how internal and external stakeholder engagement influences organizational innovation capability and the impact of ESG ratings on that relationship This present work helps to provide a comprehensive understanding of the integration of multi stakeholder engagement in corporate innovation strategies to survive in changing social and environmental circumstances with insight into the role of information intermediaries in the integration process The book has practical implications for strategic CSR to achieve social and environmental sustainability which are particularly important in Japan Formation and Early Growth of Business Webs Florian Steiner,2006-03-30 Networks of firms have been in the focus of management research for several years. Recently, special attention has been paid to so-called business webs. Business webs are networks of firms which provide complements to a common product architecture. In the past, research focused on management issues of such webs but neglected the important question of how they actually came into being. The present book explicitly examines the formation and early growth of business webs. The author illustrates the early growth phases with two in-depth cases of the formation of the wireless internet ecosystem: i mode and the leading person-to-person online auction platform eBay. The book uncovers the contingencies under which the establishment of business webs is likely to succeed. Business researchers will benefit from the theoretical framework, while interested business managers will find explanations and advice for establishing a business web.
