Poverty Orientated Agricultural and Rural Development Hartmut Brandt,Uwe Otzen,2006-12-20 Over the last twenty years the proportion of development cooperation resources earmarked for agricultural development has dwindled to between six and seven per cent of total bi and multilateral Official Development Assistance This is despite the fact that eighty per cent of the world's poor live in rural agricultural areas and that the poor are disproportionately affected when political military and natural events lead to regional or global food shortages Brandt and Otzen's key book fills a gap in current literature undertaking a wide ranging conceptual reorientation of development cooperation criticizing the current orthodoxy and its bias towards urban areas and arguing that in order to effectively alleviate poverty across the world agricultural and rural development measures need to be implemented both by central and subnational governments aid agencies and the private sector The authors investigate the world food question the current pressures it is under and its link to rural poverty and set out the policies that need to be undertaken to reduce global poverty

Labor Transfer in Emerging Economies Xiaochun Li,2017-02-28 Based on new phenomena appearing in many emerging economies this book presents a theoretical study on the economic influences of labor transfer from several aspects In recent years thanks to the continuous progress of social forms as well as science and technology there are a large number of new developing trends in emerging nations Taking China as an example several economic issues have sprung up with the huge scale of labor transfer such as development of modern agriculture environmental protection privatization of mixed enterprises training of human capital and migrant workers remittances to their hometowns However the existing researches on labor transfer pay little attention to them In order to bridge the gap this book combines new economic data with basic theories of labor migration and discusses economic influences of labor transfer in four angles human capital migrants remittances environmental protection and development of modern agriculture Each part is composed of two or three analytical elements Our conclusions not only enrich existing theoretical researches but also provide theoretical support for related national economic policies

Research on Characteristic Issues in Current Developing Economies Xiaochun Li, Yunyun Wu, 2024-12-24 This is the first book that uses the Harris Todaro H T model to study contemporary economic issues in developing countries with a particular focus on China The zenith of research utilizing this model occurred in the 1990s primarily addressing the impact of economic policies during labor migration on wages and employment across various sectors international trade urban unemployment rates and social welfare After nearly four decades research in this area gradually faded from the spotlight Post 2010 however there has been a resurgence in H T model studies Scholars have begun using this model to explore contemporary issues revealing unprecedented insights and showcasing its robust applicability and vitality The book features 13 papers authored by contributors since 2018 each utilizing the H T model and published in various academic journals It delves into pivotal issues of contemporary economic development in developing countries like China including dual agricultural economy producer services foreign direct investment agricultural pollution migrant workers remittances and agricultural human capital investment The book constructs general equilibrium models by integrating these topics with the H T model providing a framework to assess the impact of economic policies Methodologically it goes beyond conventional approaches by introducing constant elasticity of substitution functions and other methods to precisely express contemporary economic problems Numerical simulations to examine the impact of economic policies are also used Beyond presenting solutions to the current economic problems in developing countries this book provides academic references for economic theory researchers

Green-revolution and Its Impacts Mahesh V. Joshi,1999 Trade, Food Security, and Human Rights Ying Chen,2016-02-24 Most scholars attribute systemic causes of food insecurity to poverty human overpopulation lack of farmland and expansion of biofuel programs However as Chen argues here another significant factor has been overlooked The current food insecurity is not absolute food shortage since global food production still exceeds the need of the entire world population but a problem of how to secure access to resources Distorted agricultural trade undermines world food distribution and uneven distribution impedes people s access to food particularly in poor developing countries Examining EU and US agricultural policies and World Trade Organization negotiations in agriculture the author argues how they affect the international agricultural trade claiming that current food insecurity is the result of inequitable food distribution and trade practices The international trade regime is advised to reconcile trade rules with the consideration of food security issues Several other enforceable solutions to reduce world hunger and malnutrition are also advanced including national capacity building the improvement of governance and strategic development of biofuel programs This book will be of great interest to agricultural trade professionals and consultant policy makers in the EU US and developing countries Students and researchers with a concentration on international trade agriculture economics global governance and international law will benefit greatly from this study
