Smith, Nova Robinson, 2022-02-21 Based on the scholarship of a global team of diverse authors this wide ranging handbook surveys the history and current status of pro women thought and activism over millennia The book traces the complex history of feminism across the globe presenting its many identities its heated debates its racism discussion of religious belief and values commitment to social change and the struggles of women around the world for gender justice Authors approach past understandings and today s evolving sense of what feminism or womanism or gender justice are from multiple viewpoints These perspectives are geographical to highlight commonalities and differences from region to region or nation to nation they are also chronological suggesting change or continuity from the ancient world to our digital age Across five parts authors delve into topics such as colonialism empire the arts labor activism family and displacement as the means to take the pulse of feminism from specific vantage points highlighting that there is no single feminist story but rather multiple portraits of a broad cast of activists and thinkers Comprehensive and properly global this is the ideal volume for students and scholars of women s and gender history women s studies social history political movements and feminism Translation and Travelling Theory Dongchao Min,2016-07-15 Research has shown that feminist theory has flowed far more easily from North to South and from West to East whereas travel in other directions has proved almost non-existent While the hegemony of US feminist theory has been challenged in Europe for example there remain many invisible discursive trajectories that link the development of feminist theories and movements across the world This book brings together and engages with theories of globalisation transnational feminism travelling theory and cultural translation exploring the travelling routes of feminist theory and practice to China over recent decades With attention to the crucial questions of why and how knowledge travels or fails to travel the forms that it takes and by whom it is sent received understood translated or even refused the author examines the development and activities of different groups of women and women s organisations in China thus developing an alternative form of travelling theory A study of the cross-cultural translation of knowledge and practices that occur or fail to occur when different cultures interact and their impact this book will appeal to scholars of gender studies sociology and cultural studies with interests in feminist thought and the travel and production of knowledge Rethinking Global Sisterhood Nima Naghibi, Annotation Nineteenth-century neoclassical sculpture was a highly politicized international movement Based in Rome many expatriate American sculptors created works that represented black female subjects in compelling and problematic ways Rejecting pigment as dangerous and sensual adherence to white marble abandoned the racialization of the black body by skin color In The Color of Stone Charmaine A Nelson brilliantly analyzes a key but often neglected aspect of neoclassical sculpture color Considering three major works Hiram Powers s Greek Slave William Wetmore Story s Cleopatra and Edmonia Lewis s Death of Cleopatra she explores the intersection of race sex and class to reveal the meanings each work holds in terms of colonial histories of visual representation as well as issues of artistic production identity and subjectivity She also juxtaposes these sculptures with other types of art to scrutinize prevalent racial discourses and to examine how the black female subject was made visible in high art By establishing the centrality of race within the discussion of neoclassical sculpture Nelson provides a model for a black feminist art history that at once questions and destabilizes canonical texts Charmaine A Nelson is assistant professor of art history at McGill University How to Belong Belinda A. Stillion Southard,2018-10-05 In How to Belong Belinda Stillion Southard examines how women leaders throughout the world have asserted their rhetorical agency in troubling economic social and political conditions Rather than utilizing the concept of citizenship to bolster political influence the women in the case studies presented here rely on the power of relationships to create a more habitable world With the rise of global capitalism many nation states that have profited from invigorated flows of capital have also responded to the threat of increased human mobility by heightening national citizenship's exclusionary power Through a series of case studies that include women grassroots protesters a woman president and a woman United Nations director Stillion Southard analyzes several examples of women all as embodied subjects in a particular transnational context pushing back against this often violent rise in nationalist rhetoric While scholars have typically used the concept of citizenship to explain what it means to belong Stillion Southard instead shows how these women have reimaged belonging in ways that have enabled them to create national regional and global communities As part of a broader conversation centered on exposing the violence of national citizenship and proposing ways of rejecting that violence this book seeks to provide answers through the powerful rhetorical practices of resilient and inspiring women who have successfully negotiated what it means to belong to be included and to enact change beyond the boundaries of citizenship Citizenship and Immigrant Incorporation G.

Bullock, Pauline Henry-Tierney, 2023-05-19 This collection offers insights into the transnational and translingual implications of Simone de Beauvoir's Le Deuxième Sexe The Second Sex a text that has served as foundational for feminism worldwide since its publication in 1949 Little scholarly attention has been devoted to how the original French language source text made its way into languages other than English This is a shocking omission given that many but by no means all other translations were based on the 1953 English translation by Howard M Parshley which has been widely criticized by Beauvoir scholars for its omissions and careless attention to its philosophical implications This volume seeks to fill this gap in scholarship with an innovative collection of essays that interrogate the ways that Beauvoir's essay has shifted in meaning and significance as it has travelled across the globe This volume brings together for the first time scholars from Translation Studies Literary Studies and Philosophical Studies and over half of it is dedicated to non Western European engagements with Le Deuxième Sexe including chapters on the Chinese Japanese Arabic Hungarian and Polish translations As such this collection will be essential to any scholar of Beauvoir's philosophy and its contributions to feminist discourses A
