Rethinking Medical Humanities Rinaldo F. Canalis, Massimo Ciavolella, Valeria Finucci, 2022-12-19. Medical Humanities may be broadly conceptualized as a discipline wherein medicine and its specialties intersect with those of the humanities and social sciences. As such, it is a hybrid area of study where the impact of disease and healing science on culture is assessed and expressed in the particular language of the disciplines concerned with the human experience. However, as much as at first sight this definition appears to be clear, it does not reflect how the interaction of medicine with the humanities has evolved to become a separate field of study. In this publication, we have explored through the analysis of a group of selected multidisciplinary essays the dynamics of this process. The essays predominantly address the interaction of literature, philosophy, art, art history, ethics, and education with medicine and its specialties from the classical period to the present. Particular attention has been given to the Medieval, Early Modern, and Enlightenment periods. To avoid a rigid compartmentalization of the book based on individual fields of study, we opted for a fluid division into multidisciplinary sections reflective of the complex interactions of the included works with medicine.

Exhibiting Italian Art in the United States from Futurism to Arte Povera Raffaele Bedarida, 2022-06-28. This volume explores how Italian institutions, dealers, critics, and artists constructed a modern national identity for Italy by exporting literally and figuratively contemporary art to the United States in key moments between 1929 and 1969. From artist Fortunato Depero opening his Futurist House in New York City to critic Germano Celant launching Arte Povera in the United States, Raffaele Bedarida examines the thick web of individuals and cultural environments beyond the two more canonical movements that shaped this project. By interrogating standard narratives of Italian Fascist propaganda on the one hand and American Cold War imperialism on the other, this book establishes a more nuanced transnational approach. The central thesis is that beyond the immediate aims of political propaganda and conquering a new market for Italian art, these art exhibitions, publications, and the critical discourse aimed at American audiences all reflected back on their makers; they forced and helped Italians define their own modernity in relation to the world's new dominant cultural and economic power. The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history, social history, exhibition history, and Italian studies.

Heinz Tesar, Sammlung Essl, Klosterneuburg Heinz Tesar, Gottfried Knapp, 2000. Text in English and German. Heinz Tesar's buildings occupy a very particular place on the Austrian architectural scene, which is anyway populated by a lot of individualists. There is a great deal of creative imagination at work here, which always operates outside the scope of modern routine. The town of Klosterneuburg, north of Vienna, has become something like an artistic home.

for Tessa The Schömerhaus an office building whose huge oval central hall leaves convention far behind and the Protestant church which has a rounded floor plan like a tear drop were now followed by the impressive museum he has built here to house 4000 objects from the private ESSL collection which includes the most important collection of Austrian art after 1945 The floor plan is based on a triangle Above a storage floor that runs the whole length of the building three individually shaped architectural entities are grouped around a green courtyard The elaborately orchestrated section of the building on the short leg of the triangle accommodates the entrance foyer staircase library offices and a flat The long side of the triangle contains the hall for temporary exhibitions extending over two storeys on the lower floor it is glazed on the courtyard side and in the upper storey it is lit partly from the side and partly from the skylights in the slightly undulating roof The hypotenuse is made up of a sequence of parallel galleries they are topped by lanterns which admit a great deal of daylight Finally Tessa gives the cubic building an organic touch with a curved flourish at the tip of the triangle Following Gehry and Zumthor who have recently made important contributions to the theme of art museums Tessa is now offering a variant that responds very physically to its surroundings creating individual spaces with a variety of light
