Monetary and Capital Markets Department, 2024-10-17 Launched in 2018 the Astana International Financial Center AIFC aims to establish a leading international financial center for financial services in Astana as well as to attract foreign investment and support the growth and development of Kazakhstan and the region Drawing from a model adopted in the Gulf region the AIFC is established as a distinct and separate jurisdiction operating under its own legal structure governance arrangements and regulatory framework the Astana Financial Services Authority AFSA is the designated regulatory authority Nonetheless there are multiple interconnections between the AIFC and the domestic financial system that may impact financial stability in Kazakhstan Policy challenges arise when financial services may be provided under distinct legal and regulatory arrangements from both a domestic jurisdiction and a jurisdictionally separated international financial center Financial activity in the Center remains small limiting the immediate risks to Kazakhstan financial stability but given the strategy of the Center service provision is expected to increase and interlinkages with the Kazakhstan financial system to grow raising the systemic importance of the AIFC as well as the associated risks While some positive steps have been taken to address these risks additional enhancements are advisable to further reinforce regulatory arrangements and lower the risks of spillover arbitrage and gaps arising from the co existence of separate regulatory frameworks for the domestic financial system and the AIFC Development of a Financial Stability Protocol would codify objectives responsibilities and working procedures and help ensure effective cooperation and collaboration between the Kazakhstan domestic regulatory agency ARDFM the central bank NBK and AFSA in support of the common goal of financial stability in Kazakhstan

Quarterly Economic Review of Kenya ,1983 The Emerging Middle East Financial Markets Henry T. Azzam,2015-08-28 The book aims to unravel the potentials of Middle East financial markets which are spread over a large and wealthy part of the world These markets are gradually being opened for international investors seeking diversification and rewarding risk adjusted returns However opening up to international investors is a necessary but not a sufficient condition to attract institutional money needed to provide depth and professionalism to these markets Without a cultural shift towards more transparency better regulations and governance and the availability of custody clearance and equity research up to international best practice not much institutional money will be forthcoming to the region Funding sources in the Middle East and North Africa Region are still predominantly channeled through the banking system with equity and fixed income markets playing a marginal role While the worlds financial markets show on average a balanced structure of bank assets stock market capitalization and debt securities the capital mix in the region is heavily skewed towards bank assets with a share of 58 8% equities around 34% and debt securities bonds and Sukuk 7 2% Stock markets of the UAE and Qatar have recently been upgraded to emerging market status which together with Egypt are the only three Arab countries that have selected listed companies featuring in the Morgan Stanley Capital Index for Emerging Markets MSCI EM Saudi Arabia has opened its stock market to direct investment by foreign financial institutions in the second half of 2015 The opening of the Saudi stock market is a major positive development for the regions capital markets The path ahead for MENA finance has become now clearer The relative weight of commercial banks in the financial system will diminish gradually and a wider range of financial services will be provided by deeper and increasingly more sophisticated debt and equity capital markets in line with worldwide trends Sharia compliant products such as Sukuk are expected to continue to grow at double digit rate to meet the strong demand generated regionally and internationally
