The Family Emotional System Robert J. Noone,, Daniel V. Papero,2015-10-30 The Family Emotional System An Integrative Concept for Theory Science and Practice presents an ongoing dialogue among scientists family investigators and clinicians related to a natural systems view of the family and human behavior that has been occurring over several decades The concept of the family as an emotional system as defined in Bowen theory is presented as the principal integrative concept underlying this dialogue and an effort to move toward a science of human behavior As a natural system the family forms the immediate and most important context for individual development and may be the most central and important environment shaping brain development across the lifetime of the individual This book explains how the family system can serve as an integrative framework within which specific factual discoveries and hypotheses from many areas of science can be brought together and understood as various manifestations of a coherent whole The Family Emotional System provides understanding of what is entailed in conceptualizing the family as an emotional system a sense of the breadth and depth of knowledge the sciences are contributing to this effort and examples of how this theoretical framework contributes to family research and practice The richness and excitement occurring in the ongoing dialogue between scientists and Bowen family systems practitioners and researchers is captured along with the promise it holds for the study of human behavior The Trinity of Trauma: Ignorance, Fragility, and Control Ellert Nijenhuis, 2015-04-22 The Trinity of Trauma Ignorance Fragility and Control is structured as a trilogy This book includes the first two parts Volume I The Evolving Concept of Trauma and Volume II The Concept and Facts of Dissociation in Trauma which are predominantly conceptual theoretical and empirical in nature Volume I aims to overcome conceptual flaws that have plagued the trauma field to date It proposes new definitions of trauma and derivative concepts as well as a dimension of trauma related disorders It suggests that individuals and their environment constitute depend on and are relative to each other Volume I unites two groups of trauma related disorders that were previously contrasted in psychiatric history under various names such as melancholia versus hysteria traumatic neurosis versus traumatic hysteria and posttraumatic stress disorder versus dissociative disorders It also mends the dissociation of dissociative and conversion disorders Volume II analyzes and defines the concepts of personality self dissociation in trauma and dissociative parts It explores and documents the biopsychosocial features of different prototypical dissociative parts in traumatized individuals Important features of these parts also characterize other players in traumatization stretching from perpetrators to society at large The Oxford Handbook of Evolution and the Emotions Laith Al-Shawaf, Todd K.
