Ammerman, Michel Hersen, 2013-03-09 During the past decade a dramatic increase in research and clinical interest has risen in child abuse and neglect This recent growth in awareness is due at least partly to the alarming statistics documenting the incidence of child maltreatment Almost one million children are reported to be abused and neglected each year and many experts believe that this figure underestimates the true incidence Indeed recent surveys suggest that almost 1.5 million children are the targets of domestic violence every year A significant proportion of these children die as a function of this maltreatment whereas the remainder suffer a variety of short and long term deleterious medical and psychosocial consequences Child maltreatment is a universal problem that has precipitated a mobilization of effort from a variety of disciplines including psychology medicine psychiatry social work sociology and criminology Particular attention has been directed toward the prevention and treatment of child abuse and neglect Such endeavors require the screening of large groups in order to identify families that are at high risk for engaging in such behavior Delineating those characteristics that differentiate high from low risk families and children is one of the obvious priorities for researchers and clinicians in the future This book therefore carefully considers the status of research on risk factors of abuse and neglect in children Added data undoubtedly will have practical value for subsequent intervention efforts
