Towards a Twenty-First-Century Feminist Politics of Music Sally Macarthur, 2016-02-24 Towards a Twenty First Century Feminist Politics of Music opens up a new way of thinking about the absence of women's music It does not aim to find a solution in a liberal feminist sense but to discover new potentialities new possibilities for thought and action Sally Macarthur encourages us with the assistance of Deleuze and feminist Deleuzian work to begin the important work of imagining what else might be possible not in order to provide answers but to open up the as yet unknown The power of thought or what Deleuze calls the virtual opens up new possibilities Macarthur suggests that the future for women's new music is not tied to the predictable and known but to futures beyond the already known Previous research concludes that women's music is virtually absent from the concert hall and yet fails to find a way of changing this situation Macarthur finds that the flaw in the recommendations flowing from past research is that it envisages the future from the standpoint of the present and it relies on a set of pre determined goals It thus replicates the present reality so reinforcing rather than changing the status quo Macarthur challenges this thinking and argues that this repetitive way of thinking is stuck in the present unable to move forward Macarthur situates her argument in the context of current dominant neoliberal thought and practice She argues that women have generally not thrived in the neoliberal model of the composer which envisages the composer as an individual autonomous creator and entrepreneur Successful female composers must work with this dominant modernist aesthetic and exploit the image of the neo romantic entrepreneurial creator This book sets out in contrast to develop a new conception of subjectivity that sows the seeds of a twenty first century

Morgan-Ellis, Kay Norton, 2024 The Oxford Handbook of Community Singing shows in abundant detail that singing with others is thriving Using an array of interdisciplinary methods chapter authors prioritize participation rather than performance and provide finely grained accounts of group singing in community music therapy religious and music education settings Themes associated with protest incarceration nation hymnody group bonding identity and inclusivity infuse the 47 chapters Written almost wholly during the 2020 21 COVID 19 pandemic the Handbook features a section dedicated to collective singing facilitated by audiovisual or communications media mediated singing some of it quarantine mandated The last of eight substantial sections is a repository of new theories about how group singing practices work Throughout the authors problematize the limitations inherited from the western European choral music tradition and report on workable new remedies to counter those constraints Schenker's Argument and the

Claims of Music Theory Leslie David Blasius, 1996-10-03 Heinrich Schenker's theoretical and analytical works claim to resubstantiate the unique artistic presence of the canonic work and thus reject those musical disciplines such as psychoacoustics and systematic musicology which derive from the natural sciences In this respect his writing reflects the counter positivism endemic to the German academic discourse of the first decades of the twentieth century The rhetoric of this stance however conceals a sophisticated programme wherein Schenker situates his project in relation to these sciences arguing his reading of the musical text as a synthesis of a descriptive psychology and an explanatory historiography which itself embeds both paleographic and philological assumptions This book rereads Schenker's project as an attempt to reconstruct music theory as a discipline against the background of the empirical musical sciences of the later nineteenth century The SAGE Handbook of Digital Dissertations and Theses Richard Andrews, Erik Borg, Stephen Boyd
