Empowering Readers Ten Approaches To Narrative:

Empowering Readers Garry Gillard, 2003 This useful guide to incorporating prominent literary theories into the reading process provides students with a substantial introduction to a wide range of ideas and practices Each chapter covers a text from the international canon and suggests how that text can also be interpreted by employing a particular literary theory Links are made between A Passage to India and postcolonialism Heart of Darkness and Marxism and The Turn of the Screw and psychoanalysis among others Digital Games Catherine Beavis, Joanne O'Mara, Lisa McNeice, 2012 Digital Games Literacy in action is the result of a wide ranging investigation into the educational possibilities involved in young people's games From their creation in the classroom to analysing games and the world of games as text academics and teachers are now taking seriously the serious play of young people The contributors use the interaction between the theoretical frameworks of games as text and games as action to explore a wide range of issues relevant to the teaching of English and literacy These include understanding games as media texts the place of digital culture in young people's lives the narrative and visual design components of games exploring concepts of role play and identity in games the potential for games to engage disengaged students and issues of gender and social interaction in game playing Teenagers and Reading Jacqueline Manuel, Sue Brindley, 2012 Teenagers and Reading Literary heritages cultural contexts and contemporary reading practices brings together international research and practical perspectives on the current state of teenagers reading The contributions by teachers researchers and other educators explore the what how when where and why of adolescents reading advancing our understanding of the relationships between and among teenage readers texts and contexts English Teachers at Work Brenton Doecke, David Homer, Helen Nixon, 2003 By taking a global perspective on teaching English this work takes into account a wide variety of challenges English teachers face and stresses the importance of networking and communicating with colleagues around the world as a means of overcoming those challenges A richly differentiated view on what it means to be an English teacher is offered as are fascinating narratives about the diverse efforts of teachers in different communities Points of view from contributors in North America Australia Chile New Zealand New Guinea South Africa and the United Kingdom are expressed and placed in an illuminating context with practical and theoretical considerations about teaching English Teaching Australian Literature Brenton Doecke, Larissa McLean Davies, Philip Mead, 2011 What role should Australian literature play in the school curriculum What principles should guide our selection of Australian texts To what extent should concepts of the nation and a national identity frame the study of Australian writing What do we imagine Australian literature to be How do English teachers go about engaging their students in reading Australian texts This volume brings together teachers teacher educators creative writers and literary scholars in a joint inquiry that takes a fresh look at what it means to teach Australian literature The immediate occasion for the publication of these essays is the implementation of The Australian Curriculum English which several contributors subject to critical scrutiny In doing so they question the way that literature teaching is currently being constructed by standards based reforms not only in Australia but elsewhere The essays assembled in this volume transcend the divisions that have sometimes marred debates about the place of Australian literature in the school curriculum They all recognise the complexity of what secondary English teachers do in their efforts to engage young people in a rich and meaningful curriculum They also highlight the need for both secondary and tertiary educators to cultivate an awareness of the cultural and intellectual traditions that mediate their professional practice and to encourage a critically responsive pedagogy English in Australia ,2007 The Publishers Weekly ,2004 Movement, embodiment, kineseimiotics: Interdisciplinary approaches to movement-based communication Arianna Maiorani,John A.
