Empty Place Poetry Space And Being Among The Foi Of Papua New Guinea:

The Empty Place James F. Weiner,1991      Monuments and Landscape in Atlantic Europe Chris Scarre,2005-07-08

These essays examine for the first time the relationship between landscape and prehistoric monuments across Europe placing the issue in a regional and intellectual context      Lines Tim Ingold,2016-04-14 What do walking weaving observing storytelling singing drawing and writing have in common The answer is that they all proceed along lines In this extraordinary book Tim Ingold imagines a world in which everyone and everything consists of interwoven or interconnected lines and lays the foundations for a completely new discipline the anthropological archaeology of the line Ingold s argument leads us through the music of Ancient Greece and contemporary Japan Siberian labyrinths and Roman roads Chinese calligraphy and the printed alphabet weaving a path between antiquity and the present Drawing on a multitude of disciplines including archaeology classical studies art history linguistics psychology musicology philosophy and many others and including more than seventy illustrations this book takes us on an exhilarating intellectual journey that will change the way we look at the world and how we go about in it This Routledge Classics edition includes a new preface by the author      Creating Diversities Anna-Leena Siikala,Barbro Klein,Stein R. Mathisen,2007-07-07 The effects of globalization and the momentous changes to the political map of Europe have led to a world in which multiculturalism and ethnic differences have become issues of increasing importance In Nordic countries relationships between new immigrants local ethnic groups and majorities are created in ongoing and sometimes heated discussions In transforming multicultural societies folklore has taken on new manifestations and meanings How can folklore studies illuminate the present cultural political and historical changes Creating Diversities Folklore Religion and the Politics of Heritage edited by Anna Leena Siikala Barbro Klein and Stein R Mathisen seeks answers to this question It emphasizes two important factors in the cultural and political exchanges among historical minorities recent immigrants and the majority groups dictating the conditions of these exchanges The first factor is religion which is a powerful tool in the construction of ethnic selves and in the establishment of boundaries between groups The second factor is the role of national and regional folklore archives and ethnographic and cultural historical museums which create ideas and images of minorities These representations created in different political climates affect the general understanding of the people depicted Fifteen well known folklorists and ethnographers from Norway Sweden Finland Estonia and the United States offer insights and background material on these problems In addition to immigrants and ethnic minorities in the Nordic countries especially the S mi examples are sought from among the Finno Ugrian minorities in Russia and the Nordic population in North America      Cross-Cultural Perspectives on Personhood and the Life Course Cathrine Degnen,2018-04-24 Exploring notions of the person through a wide range of anthropological literature Cathrine Degnen analyses how personhood is built affirmed and maintained during various life stages and via multiple cultural forms and practices In discussing the life course she investigates personhood as a concept at the beginning of life throughout life as lived at the edges of being and ultimately at life's end Cross Cultural Perspectives on Personhood and the Life Course moves beyond the human person in isolation to consider how personhood is fashioned with regard to place and how non humans can also be recognised as persons Through multiple ethnographic accounts Degnen shows that personhood emerges as a relational and processual entity brought into being via reciprocal fields of social relations Reimagining Political Ecology Aletta Biersack, James B. Greenberg, 2006-11-22 A collection of ethnographies grounded in second generation political ecology which focuses on the interchanges between nature and culture and the local and the global Spirits in Culture, History and Mind Jeannette Mageo, Alan Howard, 2012-12-06 Spirits in Culture History and Mind reintegrates spirits into comparative theories of religion which have tended to focus on institutionalized forms of belief associated with gods It brings an historical perspective to culturally patterned experiences with spirits and examines spirits as a locus of tension between traditional and foreign values Taking as a point of departure shifting local views of self nine case studies drawn from Pacific societies analyze religious phenomena at the intersection of social psychological and historical processes The varied approaches taken in these case studies provide a richness of perspective with each lens illuminating different aspects of spirit related experience All however bring a sense of historical process to bear on psychological and symbolic approaches to religion shedding new light on the ways spirits relate to other cultural phenomena Cord of Blood Nadia Lovell, 2002-11-20 The relationship between human beings and their gods lies at the centre of all questions of identity individual and collective Nadia Lovell examines how religious feelings reflect notions of personhood and belonging and how religious involvement can transform gender relations by focusing on cults of Vodhun voodoo possession among the Watchi in Southern Togo Using this detailed ethnographic study as a point of departure she offers a fascinating insight into the complex interplay between religion gender ethnography and globalisation Lovell argues that the relationship of men and women to the Vodhun is one of mutual dependency on the one hand human beings will gods to exist on the other hand gods embody themselves in human beings especially women through possession Possession according to Lovell implies not only affliction but the manifestation of creative potential through which women can express multiple identities a process through which concepts of gender are both confirmed and dismantled Looking in particular at the role of the devotees Lovell presents an enticing account which offers an important contribution to the study of religion gender and society The Making and Unmaking of the Haya Lived World Brad Weiss, 1996 At the center of this subtle ethnographic account of the Haya communities of Northwest Tanzania is the idea of a lived world as both the product and the producer of everyday practices Drawing on his experience living with the Haya Brad Weiss explores Haya ways of constructing and inhabiting their community and examines the forces that shape and transform these practices over time In particular he shows how the Haya a group at the fringe of the global economy have responded to the processes and material aspects of money markets and commodities as they make and remake their place in a changing world Grounded in a richly detailed ethnography of Haya practice Weiss's analysis considers the symbolic qualities and values embedded in goods and transactions across a wide range of cultural activity agricultural practice and food preparation the body's experience of epidemic disease from AIDS to the infant affliction of plastic teeth and long standing forms of social movement and migration Weiss emphasizes how Haya images of consumption describe the relationship between their local community and the global economy Throughout he demonstrates that particular commodities and more general market processes are always material and meaningful forces with the potential for creativity as well as disruption in Haya social life By calling attention to the productive dimensions of this spatial and temporal world his work highlights the importance of human agency in not only the Haya but any sociocultural order Offering a significant contribution to the anthropological theories of practice embodiment and agency and enriching our understanding of the lives of a rural African people The Making and Unmaking of the Haya Lived World will interest historians anthropologists ethnographers and scholars of cultural studies

Things As They Are Michael Jackson, 1996-08-22 The real beauty of this book is that the thinking does not stop deep in the thickets of philosophic references Instead true to the spirit of phenomenology we are provided with provocative accounts of how such thinking flows in contemporary anthropological practice XCP Cross Cultural Poetics In this timely collection thirteen contemporary ethnographers demonstrate the importance of phenomenological and existential ideas for anthropology In emphasizing the link between the empirical and the experiential these ethnographers also explore the relationship between phenomenology and other theories of the lifeworld such as existentialism radical empiricism and critical theory

Names are Thicker than Blood Andrew Moutu, 2013-04-11 This is an ethnographic study of kinship and the nature and behaviour of ownership amongst the much studied Sepik River Iatmul people Written from the viewpoint of a Melanesian scholar this book seeks to re think anthropology's central assumptions about social relations

The Art of Anthropology Alfred Gell, 2020-08-20 The Art of Anthropology collects together the most influential of Gell's writings which span the past two decades with a new introductory chapter written by Gell The essays vividly demonstrate Gell's theoretical and empirical interests and his distinctive contribution to several key areas of current anthropological enquiry A central theme of the essays is Gell's highly original exploration of diagrammatic imagery as the site where social relations and cognitive processes converge and crystallise Gell tracks this imagery across studies of tribal market transactions dance forms the iconicity of language and his most recent and groundbreaking analyses of artworks Written with Gell's characteristic fluidity and grace and generously illustrated with Gell's original drawings and diagrams the book will interest art historians sociologists and geographers no less than anthropologists challenging as it does established ideas about exchange representation aesthetics cognition and spatial and temporal processes

The Politics of Storytelling Michael Jackson, 2013-09-12 Hannah Arendt argued that the political is best understood as a power relation between private and public realms and that storytelling is a vital bridge between these realms a site where individualized passions and shared perspectives are contested and interwoven Jackson explores and expands Arendt's ideas through a cross cultural analysis of storytelling that includes Kuranko stories from Sierra Leone Aboriginal stories of the stolen generation stories recounted before the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission and stories of refugees renegades and war veterans Focusing on the violent and volatile conditions under which stories are and are not told and exploring the various ways in which narrative reworkings of reality enable people to symbolically alter subject object relations Jackson shows how storytelling may restore existential viability to the intersubjective fields of self and other self and state self and situation

Companion Encyclopedia of Anthropology Tim Ingold, 2002 New in paperback this Companion provides a unique survey of contemporary thinking in biological social and cultural anthropology A prestigious editor leads an international team of acknowledged experts in each field

Companion Encyclopaedia of Anthropology Tim Ingold, 2021-12-24 This comprehensive survey of contemporary thought in biological social and cultural anthropology sets the foundation for their future development and integration The principal rationale behind the Encyclopedia is to overcome the division and fragmentation within the approaches of the humanities and natural sciences to anthropology It emphasizes interconnections between perspectives and sub disciplines producing a complete perspective on what it means to be human The work consists of three parts Humanity Culture and Social Life and 40 major contributions Part One emphasizes human beings as members of a species how that species differs from others how it has evolved and how human populations have adapted to and in turn transformed their environments Part Two deals with the origin and structure of human culture and on the role of culture in action perception and cognition Part Three examines the various aspects of the relationships and processes that are carried on by persons and groups in the course of social life Useful features such as cross references within the text full biographical references suggestions for further reading and carefully illustrated line drawings make this an indispensable resource for all students of anthropology or sociology

Places that Count Thomas F. King, 2003 Places That Count offers professionals within the field of cultural resource management CRM valuable practical advice on dealing with traditional cultural properties TCPs Responsible for coining the term to describe places of community based cultural importance Thomas King now revisits this subject to instruct readers in TCP site identification documentation and management With more than 30 years of experience at working with communities on such sites he identifies common issues of contention and methods of resolving them through consultation and other means Through the extensive use of examples from urban ghettos to Polynesian ponds to Mount Shasta TCPs are shown not to be limited simply to American Indian burial and religious sites but include a wide array of valued locations and landscapes the United States and worldwide This is a must read for anyone involved in historical preservation cultural resource management or community development

Kinship, Law and the Unexpected Marilyn Strathern, 2005-10-24 How can we hold in the same view both cultural or historical constructs and generalities about social existence Kinship Law and the Unexpected takes up an issue at the heart of studies of society the way we use relationships to uncover relationships Relationality is a phenomenon at once contingent on certain ways of knowing and ubiquitous to social life The role of relations in western Euro American knowledge practices from the scientific revolution onwards raises a question about the extent to which Euro American kinship is the kinship of a knowledge based society The argument takes the reader through current issues in biotechnology new family formations and legal interventions and intellectual property debates to matters of personhood and ownership afforded by material from Melanesia and elsewhere If we are often surprised by what our relatives do we may also be surprised by what relations tells us about the world we live in The Routledge Companion to the Study of Local

Musicking Suzel A. Reily, Katherine Brucher, 2018-03-14 WINNER OF THE 2019 SOCIETY OF ETHNOMUSICOLOGY ELLEN KOSKOFF PRIZE FOR EDITED COLLECTIONS The Routledge Companion to the Study of Local Musicking provides a reference to how cross culturally musicking constructs locality and how locality is constructed by the musicking that takes place within it that is how people engage with ideas of community and place through music The term musicking has gained currency in music studies and refers to the diverse ways in which people engage with music regardless of the nature of this engagement By linking musicking to the local this book highlights the ways in which musical practices and discourses interact with people s everyday experiences and understandings of their immediate environment their connections and commitment to that locality and the people who exist within it It explores what makes local musicking local By viewing musicking from the perspective of where it takes place the contributions in this collection engage with debates on the processes of musicking identity construction community building and network formation competitions and rivalries place and space making and local global dynamics The Sorrow of the Lonely and the Burning of the Dancers E.

Schieffelin, 2005-01-14 This classic ethnography now in its second edition describes the traditional way of life of the Kaluli a tropical forest people of Papua New Guinea The book takes as its focus the nostalgic and violent Gisalo ceremony one of the most remarkable performances in the anthropological literature Tracking the major symbolic and emotional themes of the ceremony to their sources in everyday Kaluli life Schieffelin shows how the central values and passions of Kaluli experience are governed by the basic forms of social reciprocity However Gisalo reveals that social reciprocity is not limited to the dynamics of transaction obligation and alliance It emerges rather as a mode of symbolic action and performative form embodying a cultural scenario which shapes Kaluli emotional experience and moral sensibility and permeates their understanding of the human condition Locality and Belonging Nadia Lovell, 2003-12-16 Locality and Belonging provides an international overview of the close relationship between territory and cultural identity The issue of belonging has long been recognized as crucial to the study of identity within anthropology Here contributors from Sweden Norway the Netherlands France and the UK present rigorous case studies of belonging from the UK South Africa Argentina Zanzibar Amazonia Indonesia and West Africa Among the themes explored are space memory and ethnicity the mnemonic use of objects mythologies of football and history use of natural features of the environment nationhood and post colonial identity
