Hearst's International Combined with Cosmopolitan, 1927      Continent, 1916      Popular Mechanics Magazine, 1928      Pro Seduction Training Daryl James, 2015-09-03 This is a detailed book that guides the reader through 12 chapters of seduction for every situation Whether you are single or taken get your spouse or a stranger to want you in bed Enjoy what life has to offer sexually This guide starts from the bottom up Starts from approaching someone conversation asking for the number and it leads you to the bed room in every situation If you already have a spouse then the job is a little easier It will show you how to arouse your wife and tickle her fancy till she has to drop what she's doing and head your way      Weeping Britannia Thomas Dixon, 2015-09-10 There is a persistent myth about the British that we are a nation of stoics with stiff upper lips repressed emotions and inactive lachrymal glands Weeping Britannia the first history of crying in Britain comprehensively debunks this myth Far from being a persistent element in the national character the notion of the British stiff upper lip was in fact the product of a relatively brief and militaristic period of our past from about 1870 to 1945 In earlier times we were a nation of proficient sometimes virtuosic moral weepers To illustrate this perhaps surprising fact Thomas Dixon charts six centuries of weeping Britons and theories about them from the medieval mystic Margery Kempe in the early fifteenth century to Paul Gascoigne's famous tears in the semi finals of the 1990 World Cup In between the book includes the tears of some of the most influential figures in British history from Oliver Cromwell to Margaret Thatcher not forgetting George III Queen Victoria Charles Darwin and Winston Churchill along the way But the history of weeping in Britain is not simply one of famous tear stained individuals These tearful micro histories all contribute to a bigger picture of changing emotional ideas and styles over the centuries touching on many other fascinating areas of our history For instance the book also investigates the histories of painting literature theatre music and the cinema to discover how and why people have been moved to tears by the arts from the sentimental paintings and novels of the eighteenth century and the romantic music of the nineteenth to Hollywood weepies expressionist art and pop music in the twentieth century Weeping Britannia is simultaneously a museum of tears and a philosophical handbook using history to shed new light on the changing nature of

Britishness over time as well as the ever shifting ways in which we express and understand our emotional lives The story that emerges is one in which a previously rich religious and cultural history of producing and interpreting tears was almost completely erased by the rise of a stoical and repressed British empire in the late nineteenth century Those forgotten philosophies of tears and feeling can now be rediscovered In the process readers might perhaps come to view their own tears in a different light as something more than mere emotional incontinence

Suharto and His Generals David Jenkins, 2010

In writing this monograph I have been guided by two separate but interrelated goals The first has been to provide an historical descriptive record of the challenge posed to President Suharto within the Armed Forces of the Republic of Indonesia ABRI during the period 1975-82 and the debate that developed over ABRI's role in society Although this debate sprawled across the whole canvas of military involvement in society it can be said to have focused essentially on two key issues The first which was debated with considerable vigor during the period 1977-80 involved ABRI's relations with other social political groups in society and in particular the political parties The center of this debate was the contradiction between ABRI's claim to be above all groups in society and the reality of its continuing support for Golkar the political grouping which held a majority of the seats in the DPR Parliament Due largely to the intervention of the president this debate was resolved in favor of the status quo and by 1980 it appeared unlikely that there would be any substantial changes during the remainder of the Suharto presidency The second issue which became of increasing importance after 1980 centered on the appointment of military officers to nonmilitary functions There were in the mid 1970s more than 20 000 military men serving in a kekaryaan nonmilitary or functional capacity as ministers ambassadors parliamentarians senior executives in government corporations bankers senior civil servants university rectors provincial governors subdistrict heads and even village headmen Answerable to the chief of staff for functional affairs Kaskar they acted as reinforcing rods to ensure that the bureaucracy was responsive to the commands of those at the top a role that was not unlike that of the Communist Party in many Communist states In the view of the critics ABRI's heavy involvement in kekaryaan activities although understandable in terms of recent Indonesian history was excessive and needed to be scaled back On this front some government concessions seemed possible if only because the armed forces were short of manpower Even so any cutback in the kekaryaan ABRI was likely to be both slow and from the bottom up with the commanding heights of the system remaining firmly in the hands of the military leaders
