Thompson, 2007 In Unsettling Absences Eric Thompson argues that urbanism is a cultural force unbound from the city and is a pervasive presence in the Malaysian countryside Transported to rural communities urbanism has motivated migration transformed the social lives of rural inhabitants and created a deep ambivalence about personal identity This has left rural Malays feeling out of place in both the city and the village Kuala Lumpur epitomises modernity but rural Malays who move there are often marginalised in squatter settlements on its periphery The kampung symbolises home and the locus of Malay identity but schoolbooks and television have projected urbanism that marks rural life as backwards and marginal in a forward looking nation into the kampung The book challenges city bound urban studies by locating urbanism in a wider world that extends outside of the city and shows the conflicted realities of rural dwellers in an overwhelmingly urban world As others have challenged the meaning of modernity Thompson challenges the meaning of urban while still recognising the powerful effects of an ideology of urbanism Unsettling Absences is a call to take seriously place based identities and cultural geographies in a world where the urban rural divide is dissolving in practice but in cultural terms remains as powerful as ever The Multilingual Citizen Lisa Lim, Christopher Stroud, Lionel Wee, 2018-02-27 In this ground breaking collection of essays the editors and authors develop the idea of Linguistic Citizenship This notion highlights the importance of practices whereby vulnerable speakers themselves exercise control over their languages and draws attention to the ways in which alternative voices can be inserted into processes and structures that otherwise alienate those they were designed to support The chapters discuss issues of decoloniality and multilingualism in the global South and together retheorize how to accommodate diversity in complexly multilingual multicultural societies Offering a framework anchored in transformative notions of democratic and reflexive citizenship it prompts readers to critically rethink how existing contemporary frameworks such as Linguistic Human Rights rest on disempowering forms of multilingualism that channel discourses of diversity into specific predetermined cultural and linguistic identities The Sarawak Government Gazette Sarawak,1923 Environment and Development in the Straits of Malacca Goh Kim Chuan,Mark Cleary,2005-08-04 This unique study is the first in depth examination of the environment and development of the Straits Taking an integrative approach the book argues that the region has an underlying unity which political divisions between Malaysia Indonesia and Singapore disguise Its emphasis is on three major elements first a study of the historical geography of the region illustrates its role as a sea corridor which connected the markets of India and China Secondly that contemporary patterns of economic development and trade have continued to increase the strategic importance of the region Finally the text highlights the major environmental problems such as pollution traffic and tourism that now threaten the sea and coastline Parliamentary Papers Great Britain.
